Personnel Order No. 787.

Patrolmen Joseph F. Gallagher, Leo C. Parker, and Attilio P. Lombardi, District 8, Emergency Service Unit, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted two days' additional vacation.

At 2:20 A.M., Sunday, August 15, 1965, the Emergency Service Unit, with Patrolmen Lombardi, Corbett, Gallagher, and Parker, responded to a call for a man threatening to jump from the roof of the Dowling Building at Boston City Hospital.

Upon arrival at the scene, Patrolmen Parker, Gallagher, and Lombardi went to the roof of the 10-story building where they observed a man hanging by one hand and one leg over the outside of the roof parapet. Patrolmen Parker and Gallagher put on life belts with lines attached and anchored to Patrolman Lombardi, and while Acting Fire Chief Vincent Miller, B.F.D., attracted the man's attention by talking to him, the officers worked their way behind him and when close enough seized and pulled him from the parapet to a place of safety and delivered him to officers of District 4.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the courage and efficiency displayed by these officers in effecting this rescue, who, without regard for their own safety, were directly responsible for saving the life of this man.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

DEPARTMENT OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS.
METAL LOCKERS

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On August 9, 1965, your Honor approved an award for metal lockers to the Interior Steel Equipment Corporation, for the Boston Vocational Technical Institute, in the amount of $3,662.

It has now come to our attention that the aforementioned firm changed the contract performances period from that which we had prescribed to one which was more convenient to the bidder. As a result the bid is unresponsive and must be rejected.

However, the price submitted by Interior Steel Equipment Corporation was the lowest of the three submitted for the metal lockers. Therefore in the interest of effecting a financial saving to the city and since this firm will supply the specified commodity and in fact within a period of time agreeable to this department, I propose, subject to your Honor's authorization, therefore to reject all bids and to award the contract for the metal lockers to Interior Steel Equipment Corporation, without public advertisement, in the amount not to exceed 3,662 (three thousand six hundred and sixty-two) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM A. MCPHERSON,
Superintendent of Construction.

Fast Travellers

When President Truman returned to Independence, Mo., to vote in the 1948 elections, a group of newspapermen were assigned to stay close to him at all times. They landed at the Kansas City airport and found that the President had arrived before them and was already on his way home. With a noisy police escort scattering traffic out of the way they raced after him in a press car, but when they reached the house he was not there. He turned up some time later and a worried reporter asked him what had happened.

"Oh," said Truman, "we were stopped by a police car and had to pull over. Seems there were some very important people going through town."

Volunteer Citizens' Group Compile Valuable Boston Historical Calendar

Mayor John F. Collins acknowledged a welcome addition to city records and archives recently upon receipt of a calendar of "Anniversaries of Boston's Historic Events Marked by Monuments and Commemorative Plaques."

"I am pleased to have this document," said Mayor Collins, "it will help us to remain familiar with all our plaques and monuments, particularly at the times of their anniversaries."

Miss Aletta Spence of Swampscott compiled the calendar from information gathered by Miss Elizabeth Barry of Charlesgate East, Mrs. Clarence Brine of Emerson place, Miss Mabel Gorman of Glenville avenue, Brighton; Miss Florence Morse of South Russell street, Mrs. Louise Rapp of Pinckney street, and Dwight Scott of Channing street, Newton.

All the foregoing are members of the Boston Volunteer Citizens' Group which as an adjunct of the Civic Center and Clearing House has an intense interest in Boston's historic and cultural heritage.

Among those closely cooperating with the Boston Volunteer Citizens' Group in an advisory capacity are Mrs. Harriet Cabot and Mrs. Davis Maraspin of the Bostonian Society; Dr. Richard Hale, State Archivist; William J. Gurney of the history section of the Boston Redevelopment Authority; Benjamin Nason of the Massachusetts Forest and Park Association, and Abbott Cummings of the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities.

Executive Director John W. Putnam of the Center cited the calendar as an example of the many ways in which volunteer service can be useful to the city and the participants. Anyone interested in performing service of this nature is invited to telephone the Center at CA 7-1762, or call in person at 14 Beacon street.

Here is the calendar:

Mrs. Marie McGuire, PHA Head To Speak

Chairman Jacob I. Brier of the Boston Housing Authority announced on September 24 that Mrs. Marie McGuire, Commissioner of the Public Housing Administration, will be the principal speaker at the Public Housing Week luncheon to be held in the main ballroom of the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel on Wednesday, October 13, at 12.30 P.M.

Commissioner McGuire, the first woman to be appointed to this top echelon post, heads an agency which works with more than 2,100 communities and has a total program investment of several billion dollars.

She is widely known as an expert on the subject of public housing. At the Public Housing Week luncheon, Commissioner McGuire will present the new program possibilities available to Boston as the result of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965, recently signed by the President.

Prior to her appointment by President John F. Kennedy, in March, 1961, Commissioner McGuire was Executive Director of the San Antonio Housing Authority for 12 years. Previously, she had served with the Houston Housing Authority for seven years, starting as a project manager and rising to the position of Assistant Executive Director.

Commissioner McGuire is especially noted for her work in the area of housing for the elderly. Her studies and research in design criteria and in community and social service facilities for the elderly are demonstrated in Victoria Plaza, in San Antonio.

This nine-story building with 185 apartments frequently is singled out as an outstanding example of excellence in housing design for the elderly.

Commissioner McGuire has won national and international recognition for her efforts in her field. She was the first woman in federal service to receive a citation of honor from the American Institute of Architects in recognition of her work in fostering "excellence of design in shelter for low-income American families and elderly citizens."

She was the keynote speaker of the Housing Section at the 1960 White House Conference on Aging and represented the United States at the European Economic Council's Conference for the Elderly in Geneva, Switzerland.

Commissioner McGuire is a member and a board member of many organizations pertaining to housing and related fields. She also is the author of a number of publications and studies in the general field of housing.

He also announced the new numbers for the hospital's most frequently called departments and urged "they be taken note of immediately."

They are:

Emergency Service	424-4075
Ambulance Dispatcher	424-4073
Patient Condition	424-4211
Out-Patient Welfare	424-4847
Social Service	424-5338
Blood Bank	424-5300
Volunteer Services	424-5348
Day Care Center	424-4024
East Boston Relief Station	424-4955

These and other numbers, Deputy Walsh said, will be published in the new directory of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company due for home and business delivery late in November. He added that a call to information, 411, will give assistance in securing numbers not included in the above listing.

The entire hospital will be serviced by three "Centrex" consoles, each about the size of a standard business office adding machine. Each console weighs only 20 pounds. Replaced will be the hospital's 25-year-old switchboard.

The installation of the new Centrex telephone communications system serves as a pilot project for similar installations to be provided for Boston's new City Hall and Suffolk County Courthouse, both rapidly nearing completion.

Ultimately, Deputy Walsh revealed, Boston City Hospital will be tied in through "Centrex" with the Mattapan Sanatorium and Long Island Hospital in Boston Harbor.

Prescott Crafts Named Festival Treasurer

Vice-President Prescott C. Crafts, Jr., of the First National Bank of Boston, in charge of the bank's activities in Asia, Africa, Australia, and the Middle East, has been named treasurer of the City of Boston, 1965 Christmas Festival. He succeeds the late Ralph M. Binney, both as treasurer, and as an international bank representative at the First.

In making the announcement of his appointment as festival treasurer, Mayor Collins said that he hopes and expects that the festival this year will surpass those of the past not only in size, but in beauty, artistry, and interest. He expects more than 1,000,000 persons from all sections of New England to visit Boston during the festival season. It opens Friday, November 26, and will run through Little Christmas, January 6.

For ten years Mr. Crafts lectured on International Business at Boston University. His thesis while attending the graduate School of Banking at Rutgers was "on the overseas expansion of U. S. Banks." It was given special recognition by the American Bankers Association.

Among his interests are the World Affairs Council, of which he is a director, and the Japan Society. He is also President of the B. U. General Alumni association and a member of the Advisory Council to the Simmons College School of Business. He was a member of the U. S. Government Trade Mission to India in 1960.

Joe Keblinsky was hailed at a meeting of 225 top boating dealers from throughout New England gathered at the Hotel Somerset. They were representatives of Johnson Outboard Motors Company.

The session, attended by city and state officials, was highlighted by the salute to Joe Keblinsky and Boston which, according to Bill Prentiss, public relations director for Johnson "has done a better job for boating than any other city in the world."

Put That Glove To Work!

Want to help some poor Boston youngster become a Tony Conigliaro or even a Willie Mays a few years hence? Want to help some lad roar down the ice as a member of one of the future great college hockey teams in this area? Want to help in the incubation of a future great pro quarterback?

If there's any athletic equipment around the house you no longer need—a forgotten fielder's glove, a pair of skates, or shoulder pads—any item of athletic equipment that's got a few more months or years of life—Officer Bernard Callahan of the Milk Street Division could put it to work for you.

The officer is interested in kids—good American kids, the kind that could use sports equipment. He's giving plenty of his off-time to helping poor youngsters to become interested in sports activities.

He won't and can't guarantee some star of the future but he does a great job in getting boys involved in sports.

If you've got something around that some poor kid could use you can help him in this fine cause. Leave it in the office of Election Commission Chairman George H. Greene, Room 111, at City Hall Annex, any time between 9 A.M. and 5 P.M., Monday through Friday.

George will see that Officer Callahan and the kids get your gifts and put them to good use.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

Personnel Order No. 794.

Patrolmen William E. Doran, John Canavan, William J. Cannon, and Juvenile Officer Francis E. Cusick, District 5, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted two days' additional vacation.

About 11:30 A.M., Thursday, July 29, 1965, Patrolmen Doran and Canavan, while on Cummins Highway, Roslindale, observed a Buick sedan, the occupants of which were wanted for questioning relative to passing counterfeit $20 bills in the shopping area of Roslindale square. Upon observing the officers the Buick increased its speed and headed in an easterly direction with the police car in pursuit.

Other cars in the District 5 area were alerted and the spare car with Juvenile Officer Francis E. Cusick and Patrolman William J. Cannon, observed the Buick sedan and they joined in the pursuit, and when at Cummins Highway and Brown avenue, they drew alongside the Buick sedan, and with revolver drawn ordered the three occupants to pull to the side of the road. The driver ignored the command and attempted to force the cruiser off the road and continued on down Cummins Highway. When the Buick sedan turned into Pinedale road, Roslindale, they were forced to bring the car to a stop. Before bringing the automobile to a stop the three culprits threw a quantity of bills and a .38 caliber Smith and Wesson five-shot revolver from the automobile. The three suspects were apprehended at the scene by the above officers and the money, which proved to be counterfeit, and the revolver were recovered and brought to the station.

When booked at the station they were identified as Francis J. Tagen, 40 years, married, of 42 O'Meara court, Charlestown; Francis N. Ahearn, 40 years, single, of 25 Corey street, Charlestown, and Edward F. Lynch, 36 years, married, of 60 Bellingham street, Chelsea. They were arraigned in the West Roxbury District Court and their cases continued. Investigation revealed that all had lengthy criminal records.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty displayed by these officers, who by their alertness and attention to duty brought about the arrest of three dangerous felons.

September 23.

Personnel Order No. 795.

First Grade Detective Charles W. Miller, Jr., and Third Grade Detective John J. Donnelly, Criminal Investigation Division, Robbery Squad, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

About 10:47 A.M., August 10, 1965, the above-mentioned detectives, responded to a holdup alarm at the Grand Cleansing Shop, 490 Shawmut avenue, Boston. At the time the description of two white females was given as responsible for committing this robbery and were armed with a revolver, and they fled on foot. While making a search of the area, Detectives Miller and Donnelly saw two females as described. Detective Miller left the car so as to be in the rear of the females and Detective Donnelly drove the car so as to position himself in front of the girls. As Donnelly left the car he was recognized as a police officer and one of the females, later identified as Evelyn Loisel, took a .38 caliber revolver from her handbag and pointed it at him. At this time they observed Detective Miller in the rear and the girl kept waving the gun in the direction of each officer, cocking the gun she yelled, "Stay away or I'll shoot you." Detective Donnelly kept approaching the girl, keeping her attention from Detective Miller, this allowed Detective Miller to get close enough so that he was able to grab the girl from behind and in so doing he grabbed for the gun and injured his right hand when the flesh got caught in the firing mechanism. The girls at once began to struggle with the officers and were subdued and placed under arrest for armed robbery.

They were identified as Evelyn Loisel and Elizabeth McLaughlin, and both were identified as the ones that had used the gun in the robbery of the cleansing shop. Further investigation by these detectives revealed that the gun had been stolen, that both girls were escapees from the Boston State Hospital. The investigation led to the arrest of Melvin Bozeman on moral charges and the seizure of a .38 caliber revolver; .45 caliber revolver, and a Winchester repeating rifle with a large amount of ammunition.

During the arraignment, Evelyn Loisel, in an outburst of emotion, attempted to reach a window with intent to jump from the fourth floor courtroom, but she was restrained by Detectives Miller and Donnelly and placed in a detention room. These officers were commended in court by Judge Francis X. Morrissey for the manner in which they had apprehended the girls, without injury to themselves, the girls and the public.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty displayed by these officers, who although being menaced with a gun were able to bring about the arrest without bodily harm to themselves or the felons.

The $12 million cost of the great Boston War Memorial Auditorium represents the largest expenditure for a city facility since the building of the Sumner Tunnel in 1933.

1975 World's Fair for Hub Undergoing "In Depth" Study Says Chamber Head

(Following is a special article written by President Abram T. Collier of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce. It is addressed to members of the Chamber but because of its interest for all Bostonians it is reproduced in this issue of the "City Record"):

The most far-reaching new project in Boston, or indeed in New England, this coming year will unquestionably be Boston's bid for a World's Fair in 1975. Increasingly in the next few months, people will ask, "But is it feasible? After New York, isn't the public fed up? What do you get for all the time and money you must spend?"

Boston, unlike its principal competitor Philadelphia, has no tradition of putting on a major national exposition in commemoration of the events of 1775 and 1776. Nevertheless, until the tragedy of Dallas, it had good reason to suppose that this time its bid would be received sympathetically in Washington.

Now it appears the question of which city will play the major role in celebrating the country's bicentennial will be determined by a yet-to-be appointed Presidential Commission. On what basis is that Commission likely to reach its decision? We do not know, but, of course, we would like to hazard a few guesses:

First, we guess it will wish to know if the city has a going organization, capable of performing the task. For over two years, we have had in Boston an active 1975 Freedom Fair Corporation, formed by the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce and headed by Gilbert H. Hood, Jr., who also serves as Chairman of the Chamber Board. Its capability will be seen in activities during the months ahead.

Second, the Commission probably will ask if the city has an adequate site. An adequate site presumably would be one of several hundred acres, near to and easily accessible from the metropolis and preferably one that has also natural beauty such as extensive water frontage that will have future civic value. BRA officials and others are confident such a site can be made readily available in Boston.

Third, the question will arise: Does the Fair have a theme or an idea that is sound and marketable? Almost inevitably it seems to us the theme of a Boston Fair will relate to the concept of freedom, and perhaps the notion that political, social, and economic freedom springs from the imagination and development of the human mind. Whatever aspect of freedom is stressed it will be a sound concept both for us and for the other nations of the world.

But is it marketable? And in a day when television and movies leave youngsters yawning at the most incredible feats of science and space, can any exposition be made attractive to bring enough people? Some will say that great fairs have suffered, or will soon suffer, the fate of the tent shows, the circuses and chautauquas. Others find a better analogy in the Public Housing Week

Mayor John F. Collins on September 30 signed a declaration designating the week of October 10-16 as Public Housing Week in Boston.

In the declaration, Mayor Collins noted that public housing in the City of Boston has been a community resource and a community asset of inestimable value during the three decades of its existence.

The declaration pointed out that the public housing program in Boston has provided low-rent housing for more than one quarter of a million families of all races and creeds in the past 30 years and has contributed substantially to the long-range goals of the New Boston by the elimination of much substandard housing and the construction of new housing for low-income families.

Congressional Reception

The Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a reception for the Massachusetts Congressional delegation on December 13, from 4.30 P.M. to 6.30 P.M., at Anthony's Pier 4 Restaurant.

The annual Congressional reception provides an opportunity for businessmen to meet informally with their congressmen and their administrative assistants.

$3.5 Billion Face-Lift for Downtown Boston Under Way by End of 1966, Mayor Predicts

Mayor John F. Collins recently predicted that all commercial districts of downtown Boston, from Massachusetts avenue to the waterfront, will be undergoing renewal by the end of 1966.

"We estimate that by 1975 over $3½ billion in capital investment, public and private, will have been put into the city," he told the 300 members of the Community Builders Council attending a three-day seminar at the Sheraton Boston Hotel.

"Venture capital has rediscovered Boston," Mayor Collins said. "In the past four years we have recorded $151 million in building permits for commercial and industrial space." He added that 22 major office buildings and 15 luxury apartments involving 3,600 units have been built since 1960.

The Mayor said that Boston's commitment to urban renewal is shown by the more than $150 million in projects under way, and $125 million in projects nearing execution.

"We are committed to adequate residential housing for moderate-income people," Mayor Collins said, pointing to the Washington Park housing units and the rehabilitation program planned for 30,000 units of existing housing. "These private investments are being supported by the city through a 12-year $287 million capital improvements program.

Mayor Collins noted the architectural excellence in all new construction and the "strong social component in our redevelopment effort." He predicted that the annual anti-poverty budget in Boston would be $6 million.

He urged the assembly to apply its "know-how" to the process of building and rebuilding the city.

Downtown Garage

An application to build a five-story, 500-car parking garage on the site of the Loew's Orpheum building on Washington street has been submitted to the City of Boston.

Plans show that the $1,900,000 facility would be bounded by Washington, Bromfield, Tremont, and Winter streets.

Cars would enter the steel and concrete ramp-type garage from Bromfield street.

The plans were filed in behalf of Evelyn Richmond of 126 Sumner street, Somerville, with Building Commissioner Robert E. York.

Pedestrians using the 500-car garage will be able to leave and enter from Bromfield, Washington, and Winter streets, and also from Hamilton place, off Tremont street, formerly the Orpheum rear entrance.

The application stipulates that the fireproof garage is to be built at 415 Washington street, and also at 20-38 Bromfield street.

The structure has been designed by New York architect Henry George Greene.

It will be 50 feet high, 132 feet in front, 320 feet long on one side, 318 feet long on the other, and 112 feet in the rear.

The lower two levels will be given over to stores and shop use.

legitimate stage. If a show is good and well staged, they say it will succeed; but it must be good. We go with the latter group for our country is highly mobile, and we are satisfied people will travel great distances to see something that is good.

Lastly, and perhaps most importantly of all, the Presidential Commission will want to know if the Fair has the wholehearted enthusiasm and support of the community and region. Is business ready to come up with the seed money? Is the Legislature ready to appropriate substantial sums? The details of the Arthur D. Little study which will soon be completed will show that a Fair is feasible if we make a moderate investment. And we will make that investment if we want the Fair enough.

Why should we want it? We should want it, I submit, because the site to be developed will speed the revitalization of the city, because it will add permanently to the city's wealth, because the business generated will give an enormous boost to our economy, and because the project as a whole will bring together in a burst of creative energy the thousands of citizens who will display their faith in the progress of this city.

Housing . . .

The Boston Housing Authority's constant expansion of its programs of social and community services and its continuing efforts to serve every segment of the community by employing new approaches to provide housing for low-income families and elderly people also were cited in the declaration.

Chairman Jacob I. Brier of the Boston Housing Authority and the members of the Authority were present at the ceremony.

Dante Anniversary

President George Hussey Gifford of the Dante Society of America will speak at the North End Branch Library on Monday, October 11, at 8 P.M., during a special program commemorating the 700th anniversary of the birth of Dante Alighieri. On behalf of the Society, Dr. Gifford will rededicate, in its new setting, the plaque of Dante originally donated by the Dante Alighieri Society in 1913. Professor Gifford will comment on the meaning of Dante to the modern world. His remarks will be followed by a reception arranged by the Ladies Committee of the North End Branch Library.

The public is invited.

New Edison Plant

Boston Edison President Charles F. Avila recently dedicated the company's New Boston Station No. 1, a 380,000-kilowatt steam-generating unit, largest in New England.

After conducting 150 business, civic, and industrial leaders on a tour of the huge plant at Summer and East First streets, South Boston, Mr. Avila addressed a dedication dinner at the Sheraton Boston Hotel at which he said that, together with a similar unit to be completed alongside the present one in 1967, the installation will be the largest privately financed business investment, except the Prudential complex, ever undertaken in Boston.

Mr. Avila stressed that the new plant, which has been operating since August 25, and the company as a whole are "very much a part of the New Boston, very much a part of the Prudential Center, and the emerging new Government Center."

"We are still the city's largest taxpayer," Mr. Avila said. He emphasized his company's position within the city by stating that the new plant creates "some 500 jobs for citizens of our community."

Mr. Avila stated the single generator dedicated recently would have supplied the peak demand of the entire Boston Edison system in 1941. Nevertheless, it is only one step in the program now under way at Edison to more than double, within six years, the power output that existed just last year.

Included are plans for the company's own 600,000-kilowatt nuclear station, to be completed by 1971.

Seminars to Feature Public Housing Conclave

Two major seminars, sponsored by the Boston Housing Authority, will be held in conjunction with the observance of Public Housing Week, October 11-15.

Regional Director Herman Hillman of the New York region of the Public Housing Administration and Dr. Count Gibson, chairman of the Department of Preventive Medicine of Tufts University, will be principal speakers at the morning session of the seminar to be held on Wednesday, October 13, at 9.45 A.M., in the Oval Room of the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel.

Director Hillman will discuss the new opportunities available in the 1965 federal housing legislation. Dr. Count Gibson's subject will be the role of health care of low-income families in breaking the poverty, unemployment, and ill-health cycle.

Director Hillman also will moderate the afternoon session of the seminar, beginning at 2.30 P.M., which will be given over to open discussion of the material presented in the morning session and to a question and answer period.

Tenant organization in public housing will be the subject of the seminar and workshop sessions to be held at Bromley Hall, in the Bromley Park housing development in Jamaica Plain, on Thursday, October 14, starting at 9.30 A.M.

Dr. H. Jack Geiger, assistant professor of Preventive Medicine of Tufts University, will deliver the keynote speech on the role of citizen participation in community decisions and the degree of involvement of any client group in the management of the community organization providing the services.

A panel discussion moderated by Director Richard S. Scobie of the Department of Tenant and Community Relations of the Boston Housing Authority, will offer reactions to the keynote address from four viewpoints.

The panelists will be Director Albert J. Palmer of Management of the Boston Housing Authority;

WELFARE COSTS FOR AUGUST

Following is a summary of the Welfare Department for August:

An expenditure of $4,837,952, and a caseload of 34,373, reflected a cost rise of $52,185 above last month, and an increase of 303 cases. During the month, 1,812 applications were received of which 68.4 percent (1,240) were new, and 31.6 percent (572) reapplications. Of the 1,725 cases serviced within the month, 1,479 (85.7 percent) were approved, and 14.3 percent (246) were rejected or withdrawn. An additional 1,176 cases were closed.

Old Age Assistance: For the first time this year the Old Age Assistance caseload reversed what appeared to be an irreversible trend. The 150 closings were offset by 179 approvals — the resulting 29-case increase raising the count to 11,068, 32.1 percent of the total caseload. Due chiefly to reduced medical payments however, the $1,047,313 cost of the program was a 3.9 percent reduction below last month.

Medical Assistance for Aged: The present medical assistance caseload of 7,558 clients, represents an increase of 49 above last month and a 13.1 percent gain of 875 over the same period one year ago. To provide necessary care for these elderly persons, an outlay of $1,174,565 was required, over 90 percent ($1,065,409) allocated to hospital and nursing home care, with the latter absorbing $676,591, 57.6 percent of the total Medical Assistance for Aged budget.

Aid to Families with Dependent Children: Of the 484 applications received during the month 56.4 percent were new. Of the 435 applications approved, the chief causes were broken marriages (37.5 percent), unemployment (18.2 percent), and illness (15.4 percent). Offsetting the 435 approvals were 350 closings (nearly one third due to reemployment), for a net gain of 85 cases, and a new caseload total of 9,090. The Aid to Families with Dependent Children budget for the month amounted to $1,777,200, a 2.5 percent increase of $42,555 above last month.

Disability Assistance: Of the $634,682 appropriated for the Disability Assistance program, $329,221 was for medical care. The three major items were nursing home care $105,007 (31.9 percent), acute hospital admissions $95,791 (29.1 percent), and chronic hospital confinements $74,614 (22.7 percent). The approval of 149 cases was offset by 110 closings, a gain for the month of 39 cases, and a new total of 4,001, a 10.2 percent increase since August 1964.

General Relief: During the month 452 cases were approved, and 351 closed, for a net addition to the General Relief caseload of 101 cases, which was a major factor in the total net caseload increase of 303 cases. Loss of employment due to illness or discharge accounted for 378 (83.6 percent) of the approvals. Nearly 30 percent of the closings were based on client reemployment. To underwrite the program for the month, an appropriation of $204,192 was required.

L. H. Martin Again Heads Festival Finances

President Lawrence H. Martin of the National Shawmut Bank, has been appointed chairman of the Finance Committee of Boston's 16th Annual Christmas Festival for the second consecutive year.

Mayor Collins in making the announcement stated that the festival this year will need a minimum of $30,000 to meet its expenses. Last year under the leadership of Mr. Martin $24,837 was raised, the largest amount contributed to the festival since its first year in 1950.

"We are most fortunate in getting the acceptance of Mr. Martin's appointment as chairman of the Festival Finance Committee," the Mayor said. "His leadership assures success in obtaining the amount of money needed to finance this most worthy and valuable venture. I shall name a committee of leading business and civic leaders to assist him in the immediate future."

"The cooperation of the Boston bank leaders in making the festival an annual success is most encouraging and gratifying, particularly as they derive no direct benefit from the enterprise. Every year since the festival was founded in 1950 a distinguished Boston bank president has served as chairman of its finance committee.

"I am proud of the Boston Christmas Festival. Annually since its inception it has been a steadily increasing spiritual and economic boon to the city. Last year alone the city's retail trade showed a 5 percent gain in dollar sales over the preceding Christmas season and every year of its existence has shown an economic gain to the city over the former year.

"Pleasing to me also is the no fuss and feathers attitude of the Festival Committee each year in staging the production. I congratulate its leaders on their smooth and efficient operation. Through their practice of adding each year to the festival's permanent equipment, the replacement value of its religious and festive figures and electrical equipment is set at upwards of $50,000. Quite an accomplishment when one realizes that the wear and tear on the properties is severe due to their exposure to the wintery weather at the Common.

"It is heartening also to see how the cities and towns of New England, as well as elsewhere, are emulating Boston in the presentation of Annual Christmas Festivals. A statute that grew out of the Boston festival now permits Massachusetts cities and towns to expend public funds for such events. All of the leading and progressive municipalities are enjoying its benefits."

Serving with Mr. Martin this year as treasurer of the festival, is Prescott C. Crafts, vice-president of the First National Bank of Boston. Colonel Paul Hines, creator of the festival and who has been its guiding spirit since its beginning, will serve as Festival Director for the 16th consecutive year.

CONTRACTS AWARDED

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.
REMOVING SNOW

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This department publicly advertised in the City Record for proposals for removing snow and furnishing labor and equipment for the purpose of supplementing the department forces and equipment in connection with the work of keeping highways and streets open following snowstorms, in all districts of the city, on July 31 and August 7, 1965. Bids were publicly opened on August 19, 1965.

In District 6, West Roxbury, the following three bids were received.

Northeastern Realty Trust, $45,440; Sylvester Ray, $49,860; Roslindale Contracting Company, $51,200.

Northeastern Realty Trust was also low bidder in two other districts (District 2 and 3) of the city, and is being recommended for the award of the contract for the same services in District 3, Dorchester North.

The Northeastern Realty Trust has had previous experience on Boston snow work and although our investigation indicates that it is a capable organization, I do not feel that it would be in the city's interest to award more than one district to this concern.

The second low bidder Sylvester A. Ray has demonstrated that he can satisfactorily perform this work since he has had previous snow removal contracts in District 6. In past years, Mr. Ray has had both Districts 2 and 6 and his services have been excellent.

Accordingly, your permission is requested to award the contract to the second low bidder, Sylvester A. Ray, 8 Lorette street, West Roxbury, Mass., in the amount of $49,860, to perform this work set forth above, in District 6, West Roxbury, Mass.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN F. FLAHERTY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

New Water Mains

The Public Works Department's Water Division is undertaking a rehabilitation program of water mains in the West Roxbury district. The vicinity that will be particularly affected is bounded by Forest Hills, the Brookline line to the Newton line to the Dedham line, and that area west of Washington street. This work will consist of cleaning and cement lining the two trunk water mains feeding this area, by Raymond International, Inc., of New York City, under contract with the city. The cost for the rehabilitation of these water mains is approximately $200,000.

While this work is in progress, alternate methods of supplying this area with water will, at times, be utilized. It is the department's intention to cause the least degree of inconvenience possible to the public but, in work of this nature, it is necessary to change the flow direction of water within the mains, with brownish colored water occasionally resulting because of such flow direction changes.

Should anyone experience the inconvenience of drawing brownish colored water over a prolonged period of time, we would appreciate such water takers notifying the Water Division of the situation, by calling its Forest Hills Street yard at JA 4-3603. While such water may not appear to be palatable, it is potable and contains no impurities, the department points out.

"We anticipate that this work will be completed before December 15, 1965," Commissioner Flaherty announced. "This work is being done to provide an increase in water pressure throughout the area, and to have a larger volume of water available for fire fighting purposes."

Campaign Aid

Boston Gas has altered its latest billboard design to support the Boston Pedestrian Lifesaving Campaign, a promotion directed by Mayor Collins' Citizens Traffic Advisory Committee.

The purpose of the campaign is to educate citizens about pedestrian safety, and prepare them for the new Pedestrian Control Law which will go into effect November 1.

Symbol of the campaign, a cross-like composite which represents the traffic signal tower, crosswalk and safety crossing, appears on the billboards with the message, "Obey Your Pedestrian Safety Rules!"

When the legislation goes into effect, jaywalkers will be fined $1 or $2 depending upon the frequency of the violation.

Boston Gas, believing that pedestrians must be taught, not caught, is donating billboard space at two heavily trafficked places—Park square and the Roxbury Crossing. It is estimated that within a given 18-hour period each day, 45,000 people will view the two signs.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the award of contracts, without advertising, based on the following communications:

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

STREET CONSTRUCTION AND RECONSTRUCTION

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Contracts for street construction and reconstruction in this department include a maintenance guarantee by the contractor to keep the pavement in good repair for a period of five (5) years.

One of the provisions of this guarantee stipulates that all openings made in the road way or sidewalk by the city or private permittees shall be repaired by the contractor holding the guarantee. This guarantee also stipulates that payment for these repairs shall be made on the basis of rates established by the Commissioner of Public Works in accordance with the provisions of section 9, chapter 21, of the Revised Ordinances of 1961.

The cost of this work in some instances will be more than $2,000, necessitating, under the provisions of the City Charter, written contracts with the firms that hold these guarantees.

In accordance with outstanding contracts, the following firms are now obliged to repair openings in streets under their guarantee at an estimated cost as listed below.

I respectfully request the authority of your Honor to dispense with advertising, and award contracts to these firms for the amounts as listed.

John J. Amara & Sons, Inc., $4,000; Joseph Amara & Sons, Inc., $3,997; Baker & Co., Inc., $4,000; John J. Botti Company, $2,005; Carriere Construction Company, $2,005; John McCourt Company, $4,000; Walter Reed Corporation, $5,002; James A. Susi & Sons, $3,007; Mario Susi & Son, $2,500; Charles Todesca, $3,502; S. J. Tomasello Corporation, $9,502.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN F. FLAHERTY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

REMOVING SNOW AND FURNISHING LABOR

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This department publicly advertised in the City Record for proposals for removing snow and furnishing labor and equipment for the purpose of supplementing the department forces and equipment in connection with the work of keeping highways and streets open following snowstorms, in all districts of the city, on July 31 and August 7, 1965. Bids were publicly opened on August 19, 1965.

In District 2, Jamaica Plain, the following three bids were received:

Northeastern Realty Trust $33,360; Sylvester Ray, $36,780; Roslindale Contracting Company, $38,280.

Northeastern Realty Trust was also low bidder in two other districts (Districts 3 and 6) of the city, and is being recommended for the award of the contract for the same services in District 3, Dorchester North.

The Northeastern Realty Trust has had no previous experience on Boston snow work and although our investigation indicates that it is a capable organization, I do not feel that it would be in the city's best interest to award more than one district to this concern.

The second low bidder Sylvester A. Ray has demonstrated that he can satisfactorily perform this work since he has had previous snow removal contracts in District 2. In past years, Mr. Ray has had both Districts 2 and 6 and his services have been excellent.

Accordingly, your permission is requested to award the contract to the second low bidder, Sylvester A. Ray, 3 Lorette street, West Roxbury, Mass., in the amount of $36,780, to perform the work set forth above, in District 2, Jamaica Plain, Mass.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN F. FLAHERTY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

This department publicly advertised in the City Record for proposals for removing snow and furnishing labor and equipment for the purpose of supplementing the department forces and equipment in connection with the work of keeping highways and streets open following snowstorms, in all districts of the city, on July 31 and August 7, 1965. Bids were publicly opened on August 19, 1965.

In District 1A, Charlestown, only one bid was received as follows:

W. J. Banfield Corporation, $35,820.

Although the W. J. Banfield Corporation has the experience, equipment, and personnel necessary to fulfill their contractual obligations, in my opinion the prices bid were too high. Accordingly, I negotiated with Mr. Banfield and arrived at unit prices resulting in a total contract price of $36,460 which is $19,360 less than the bid price and, in view of the difficulty in conducting snow plowing and removal operations due to the topography of this district, represents a fair price for doing the work.

I therefore request your approval to reject all bids and to dispense with further public advertising and to award the contract to W. J. Banfield Corporation, 263 Rutherford avenue, Charlestown, Mass., in an amount not to exceed $36,460, to perform the work set forth above, in District 1A, Charlestown.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN F. FLAHERTY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

September 23.

Personnel Order No. 796.

Patrolman Joseph C. McCarthy, Jr., District 11, is hereby commended for meritorious police duty and is granted three days' additional vacation.

About 6.15 P.M., July 22, 1965, Patrolman McCarthy, while in uniform and enroute via MBTA for a tour of duty, and while in the lower level of the MBTA Park Street Station, heard some unknown woman scream. He observed a man later identified as John Diggins, 51 years, married, of 67 Hawthorne road, Braintree, lying in the center of the train pit with an approaching train about 200 feet distance. Patrolman McCarthy immediately jumped into the train pit and assisted Diggins to the platform. Diggins stated that he suddenly became dizzy, lost his balance, and fell into the pit. He was uninjured and continued on to his home.

Patrolman McCarthy continued on to District 11 and it wasn't until July 30, 1965, that the attention of this department was brought about by a letter received from a citizen who observed the heroic act of Patrolman McCarthy.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty displayed by Patrolman McCarthy, who, by his prompt and courageous action in this incident, reflects credit to himself and to the department as a whole.

Personnel Order No. 797.

Third Grade Detective Arthur Linsky and Patrolman Dennis F. Casey, Criminal Investigation Division, Vice Control Unit, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted one day additional vacation.

As the result of information received that a white male known as "Coca" was delivering to known sellers, marihuana that he was obtaining in New York, the above-named officers conducted an investigation and made observations that extended over a five-week period. They kept "Coca" (Joel H. Cohen) under surveillance and knew he operated a 1963 Chevrolet sedan, Mass. Reg. USS-838, that later he changed this car for a 1965 Plymouth convertible, keeping the same registration plates. It was learned by the officers that Cohen would go to New York City and return with as much as ten pounds of marihuana, that he was presently living at 57 Belvidere street, and that he kept a large quantity of marihuana in his apartment and auto.

On the basis of the above knowledge the officers applied for and were granted search warrants for Cohen's apartment and automobile. About 11:45 p.m., Tuesday, July 13, 1965, Sergt. Stanley Karol, Detective Linsky, and Patrolman Casey, with officers of the Vice Control Unit, by virtue of the search warrants, made a search of the apartment where they found 3½ pounds of marihuana and other paraphernalia and on the person of Cohen they found two marihuana cigarettes. At the time of the arrest the following three persons were arrested for being present where marihuana was unlawfully kept: Therese Nildon, 22 years, 57 Belvidere street, Boston; Mitchell N. Zukoff, 25 years, 1078 Boylston street, Boston, and Jordan Rattet, 24 years, 143 Kilsyth road, Brighton.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty displayed by these officers, who spend many of their off duty hours in surveillance of suspected narcotic users, which eventually leads to the supplier, whose arrest removes from society a nefarious felon.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

Hon. John F. Collins,
Mayor of Boston.

Sir:

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS J. GRIFFIN,
Fire Commissioner.

ENCLOSURE — 1

Council order of June 28, 1965, quoted in part.
"Ordered, That the Boston City Council request his Honor the Mayor to order the Boston Fire Department to send a report to the City Council on the number and physical condition of all its fire-fighting equipment.

"Further, That said Fire Department make a report on the adequacy of this equipment in combating a major fire such as occurred in Bellflower street, Dorchester; Ward street, South Boston; and Heath and Dudley streets."

REPORT OF BOSTON FIRE DEPARTMENT

I. Number and physical condition of Fire Fighting Equipment:

Status	Pumpers	Hose Wagons	Ladder Trucks	Miscellaneous Units
In service	50	17	29	1 (Rescue)
In Reserve	12	3	12	2 (Lighting Plant)
Civil Defense	17	—	—	3 (Water Towers)
Totals	79	20	41	6

The current physical condition of all equipment is good. A program of preventative maintenance is practiced to maintain this status. Repairs as required are as expeditious as procurement permits, since fire apparatus is specialized equipment and in many instances, parts procurement may cause what might be considered an unreasonable delay in returning a first line unit to service, however, in most cases there is no alternate source of procurement, such as might be found in the automotive industry where a replacement part (but not original equipment) may be utilized.

It should be borne in mind that operational requirements of fire service in the City of Boston in comparison to suburban areas is not feasible since usage in this city is severe which leads to an inequitable degree of attrition.

II. Adequacy of Equipment — The locations of fire stations in the City of Boston and the complement of fire apparatus at these stations is based on considerations developed by the requirements of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the National Fire Protection Association, and the professional experience of the chief officers of the department. The grading of a city or town by the first-named organization is reflected by the fire insurance rates of a community, which depends for approving the adequacy of fire protection, on that component of the grading schedule that appraises the ability of a fire department to handle efficiently and successfully any work load that may be reasonably anticipated. This is measured by a community's ability to concentrate its forces at multiple-alarm fires and still maintain adequate fire protection for the entire city. Notwithstanding, there is always the contingency that fire-fighting demands can overtax the capacity of a city's fire-fighting forces engaged in a polymultiple-alarm fire effort which realistically may draw down the over-all fire protection in all areas of the city, however, this thinning down of fire protection is momentary for under the Mutual Aid arrangement existing between the City of Boston and contiguous cities and towns, procedure is automatically initiated for the assisting communities to automatically commence movement into the city to restore all areas to adequate strength and to supplement the actual fire-fighting operations ensuing, as the need develops.

(a) The Bellflower Street Fire — This fire which occurred on May 22, 1964, can be classified as a conflagration. Any community faced with a fire demand of this magnitude would require assistance to handle it and still furnish fire protection for all other areas within its bounds while the situation was in progress. The fire equipment purchased and in use by the Boston Fire Department was more than adequate for combating this major fire and did yeoman service in first-line service and defense in depth complemented by the working reciprocal arrangements with abutting cities and towns. The experienced and capable fire forces of the city, at this fire contained and extinguished one of the most dangerous and sweeping fires in its history, yet, if at anytime, before or after this fire, there was on the market a piece of fire equipment which could more expeditiously have handled such a fire, this department would have initiated procurement action long before and not because of it. The Bellflower Street fire was a combination of factors, combustible construction, close spacing of buildings, long hot periods of dry weather, high temperature, low humidity and a wind gusting in excess of 30 miles per hour, building materials heated by the prolonged sunny spell, location of originating fire, delay in discovery, and a myriad of circumstances. Under such conditions an outside fire can assume magnitude with unbelievable rapidity even before the arrival of the first piece of apparatus, even though less than one mile away, and overwhelm its operational capacity.

(b) Ward Street Fire — This fire occurred in South Boston on June 28, 1965, at the same time a two-alarm fire and a five-alarm fire were in progress in the Roxbury section. The proximity of the locations would indicate that a minimum of Boston companies would be available for response to this fire, however, sufficient Boston fire companies were available to contain and extinguish a fire involving three three-family dwellings and a wooden shed with some complementing by Mutual Aid companies just as the fire was contained. These companies joined in the final extinguishment of this fire and were relieved as promptly as possible when their services were no longer required. Here again was a similar combination to the disastrous Bellflower Street fire.

(c) Heath and Cedar Street Fires — The pattern of these fires closely resemble the previously-described fires with fundamentally the same factors combining, except that evidence indicates that the five-alarm fire was of incendiary origin. A total of seven alarms were struck for the two fires and apparatus response adequately coped with the situation in a reasonable space of time. Mutual Aid companies covering Boston companies responding on the first, second, and third alarms, became the fourth- and fifth-alarm response as the need for assistance became apparent. Subsequent covering Mutual Aid companies moved in to maintain the covering strength.

Public Works Department,

Albert Kramer, Administrative Assistant,
Mayor's Office

Subject: City Council Order of June 28, 1965.

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to your memo of June 29, 1965, concerning your attached copy of the following City Council order, dated June 28, 1965:

Ordered, That the Boston City Council request his Honor the Mayor to order the Boston Fire Department to send a report to the City Council on the number and physical condition of all its fire-fighting equipment.

Further, That said Fire Department make a report on the adequacy of this equipment in combating a major fire such as occurred in Bellflower street, Dorchester; Ward street, South Boston, and Heath and Dudley streets.

Further, That the Public Works Commission report on the adequacy of our water system and the pressure of said system in the event of a major conflagration, be it further Ordered, That the chairman and members of the Metropolitan District Commission direct a survey forthwith as to steps to be taken by the Metropolitan District Commission to insure an adequate water supply for the City of Boston; and further, to advise the City Council as to what limitations will be placed on other communities in Massachusetts joining the Metropolitan District Commission water system.

The question of adequacy, i.e., the volume of water available, and water available at a given site with sufficient pressure to quench an incipient conflagration, involves a dual responsibility between the Metropolitan District Commission and the Boston Public Works Department. The line of demarcation between the two agencies is clear.

The commission is charged with the responsibility, as follows: "The Commission shall furnish water to the member town or such company, by delivering it into a main water pipe, reservoir or tank of the town or company under sufficient pressure for use without local pumping, unless delivered in some other manner by mutual agreement between the parties interested." (G. L., Chapter 92, Section 10 (1).) A check on water pressure is maintained by the Boston Public Works Department Water Division on the MDC mains entering the city's distribution system.

The source of supply is surface water entrapped in the supply reservoirs, the principal being Quabbin Reservoir with a capacity at full height of 412.3 billion gallons of water. The supply is augmented by Wachusett Reservoir with a maximum capacity of 67 billion gallons, and the old Sudbury Reservoir acting as a standby for emergency use. The amount of water available in the several reservoirs is ample and adequate for even emergency use throughout the metropolitan area.

Distribution of the water from the city line to the user is the responsibility of the Public Works Department. The problem of water distribution presents complexities unique from water supply. One is the variance of pressures. A column of water standing at a height of 2,309 feet produces one pound pressure per square inch. Obviously, if you were to supply a high point such as Park and Robin streets, West Roxbury (elevation 264), with a pressure of 48 pounds per square inch from a single source, the pressure in the South End (elevation 16), would be an impossible 162 pounds per square inch. As a result, it becomes necessary to maintain several distinct services throughout the city as follows: the "low service" supplying water at an elevation of 133 feet above city base; the "high service" supplying water at an elevation of 275 feet above city base, and the "extra high service" supplying water at an elevation of 375 feet above city base. In addition, fire service for the area of high value congestion is provided by the High Pressure Fire Service system. This is a system of cast-iron pipes supplying only hydrants. The system is normally under pressure from the low service, elevation 133 feet. Higher pressures are obtained by pumping from either of two pumping stations taking suction from the low service, with availability from the high service. Design, construction, and maintenance of this system is under the jurisdiction of the Public Works Department, and its operation is by the Fire Department.

The concern of the City Council is whether the existing water system has adequate pressure-volume, at any point in the city, in the event of a major conflagration. The answer is that although the major areas of the city are amply protected, there are areas in which the supply of water would be inadequate to handle a major conflagration. These areas are in the outer limits of Hyde Park and West Roxbury and in some small areas in East Boston and South Boston. This is more specifically detailed in the May, 1951, report of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Action to correct this situation has already been taken by the Public Works Department. Construction has been completed on a high service water supply main from the Bellevue Hill Tower into Hyde Park at a cost of $100,000 which will increase the water pressure in the Stony Brook area. Pids were opened July 1, 1965, to clean and cement line 30,710 linear feet of water mains in Area 2, West Roxbury, at a low bid of $135,559.50; another contract opened the same day, for the same type of work, involved 17,550 linear feet, with a low bid of $86,200.50, in District 10, Roxbury.

These measures, while palliative, are inadequate to solve the whole problem. Approximately 11 miles of water main, laid prior to 1853, are still in service. Corrosion and pitting has been building up in the interior of the mains since their installation. Due to these factors, differences in capacities and pressures vary to such an extent in degrees and locations that no simplified pinpointing of possible trouble spots is feasible. The entire system requires a complete study and evaluation, followed by a comprehensive, long-range program of rehabilitation.

To accomplish this purpose, an application to the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, for an interest free loan, has been prepared and submitted to the City Council for consideration and authorization. With such a study and rehabilitation program in operation, the needs of Boston for potable water for domestic use and for the extinguishing of fires will be assured.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FLAHERTY, Commissioner.

EXCHANGE OF LAND WITH HOLYHOOD CEMETERY ASSOCIATION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, July 23, 1965.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith communication received from John F. Flaherty, Commissioner of Public Works, recommending an exchange of lands between the City of Boston and Holyhood Cemetery Association at Gardner street, West Roxbury.

I submit herewith an order whereby this exchange of lands may be accomplished and recommend its adoption by your Honorable Body.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department,
July 23, 1965.

To the Mayor and City Council.

Gentlemen:

The Holyhood Cemetery Association is the owner of a large tract of land in the West Roxbury district of the City of Boston adjacent to land of the City of Boston known as the Gardner Street Dump. The boundary line between the two properties is extremely irregular, and it is to the advantage of both parties that the line be straightened. To accomplish this, it is necessary that mutual conveyances be made between the City of Boston and Holyhood Cemetery Association.

In addition to straightening out the boundary line, the proposed conveyances will confine the operations of the City of Boston to a smaller geographical area. It is my determination that approximately 200,097 square feet of City of Boston land (shown as Lot A) is not required for public purposes, and I recommend that this parcel be conveyed to the Holyhood Cemetery Association. It is further proposed that the Cemetery Association in turn convey to the City of Boston three parcels of land containing 200,097 square feet and that a 50-foot right of way for the benefit of both parties be established between their respective properties.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FLAHERTY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Whereas, The City of Boston is the owner in fee of a certain parcel of land hereinafter described and designated and held for Public Works Department purposes; and

Whereas, Holyhood Cemetery Association, a charitable corporation in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, is the owner in fee of certain parcels of land hereinafter described and designated; and

Whereas, The Commissioner of Public Works has determined that a parcel designated Lot A, hereinafter described, is no longer required for public purposes; and

Whereas, It is deemed to be to the mutual interests and advantages of both the City of Boston and the Holyhood Cemetery Association to convey to each other said parcels of land, hereinafter described and designated; and

Whereas, The lands proposed to be conveyed by the City of Boston are of equal value to the lands proposed to be conveyed to the City of Boston; now therefore it is hereby Ordered, That the Mayor of the City of Boston be, and he hereby is, authorized to execute and deliver an instrument in writing to Holyhood Cemetery Association, a charitable corporation in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, its successors and assigns, conveying all the City of Boston's right, title and interest in and to the hereinafter designated parcel of property (Lot A), hereinafter described, in consideration of the said Holyhood Cemetery Association conveying all its right, title and interest in and to the hereinafter designated parcels of registered land.

LOT A

A certain parcel of land containing two hundred thousand ninety-seven (200,097) square feet of land situated two hundred seventy-one and 70/100 (271.70) feet from the northeasterly line of High street, West Roxbury district of the City of Boston, bounded and described as follows:

Westerly by a 50-foot right of way, two dimensions, one hundred ninety-nine and 97/100 (199.97) feet and seven hundred seventy and 46/100 (770.46) feet; northeasterly by land of Holyhood Cemetery Association, seven hundred fifty-one and 35/100 (751.35) feet; southeasterly by land of same, four dimensions, fifteen and 90/100 (15.90) feet, ninety-four and 45/100 (94.45) feet, one hundred eighty-six and 10/100 (186.10) feet, and two hundred thirty-five and 39/100 (235.39) feet; together with rights of passage over the 50-foot right of way running to and from Gardner street, as shown on plan hereinafter referred to, to be used in common with others entitled thereto.

A certain parcel of registered land containing 170,614 square feet, being part of the land described in Certificate of Title No. 55159 issued by the Suffolk County District of the Land Court being shown as Lot 2 on Land Court Plan No. 20033A, together with rights of passage over the 50-foot right of way running to and from Gardner street, as shown on plan hereinafter referred to, to be used in common with others entitled thereto.

FIRST PART OF LOT 1

A certain parcel of registered land containing 18,690 square feet, being a part of the land described in Certificate of Title No. 55159 issued by the Suffolk County District of the Land Court being shown as Lot 4 on Land Court Plan No. 20033B, together with rights of passage over the 50-foot right of way running to and from Gardner street, as shown on plan hereinafter referred to, to be used in common with others entitled thereto.

SECOND PART OF LOT 1

A certain parcel of registered land containing 10,793 square feet, being a part of the land described in Certificate of Title No. 55159 issued by the Suffolk County District of the Land Court being shown as Lot 3 on Land Court Plan No. 20033B, together with rights of passage over the 50-foot right of way running to and from Gardner street, as shown on plan hereinafter referred to, to be used in common with others entitled thereto.

The foregoing parcels of land are shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Public Works Department, Engineering Division, Subdivision Plan, Gardner Street Dump, West Roxbury, dated June 10, 1965, Frederick L. Garvin, Division Engineer," and on file in the Engineering Division of the Public Works Department.

USE OF GROUP INSURANCE DIVIDENDS TO REDUCE PREMIUMS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 9, 1965.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

Since Boston's acceptance on May 1, 1962, of Section 10 of Chapter 32B of the General Laws, all dividends or other refunds on group insurance carried under Chapter 32B have, pursuant to the provisions of Section 8 thereof, inured solely to the benefit of the City of Boston although at least 50 percent of all premiums have been paid by the employees. A recent report on the subject by the State's Group Insurance Commission (1965 House Document No. 3310) has led to the enactment of Chapter 374 of the Acts of 1965 inserting in Chapter 32B of the General Laws a new Section 8A, which, upon acceptance on behalf of the City of Boston and County of Suffolk, will permit the employees to share in such dividends or refunds.

More specifically, the acceptance of this new Section 8A would mean that all dividends or other refunds on insurance carried under Chapter 32B would be deposited in a separate fund to be disbursed in the following manner:

First, to reimburse the city for the total administrative cost of all insurance carried under Chapter 32B for the calendar year preceding the date of receipt of the dividend or other refund.

Then, if, but only if, a balance remains, to pay the city the portion of such balance which represents the city's proportionate share of the premium cost of the policy year to which the dividend or refund is attributable, and to expend the remainder of such balance to reduce the employees' share of future premiums, using the ratio of dividends received to the employees' share of total premiums that yielded the dividend.

From this brief analysis of the provisions of the new Section 8A, it is obvious that the acceptance thereof would provide for a more equitable allocation of dividends and other refunds on employee contributory group insurance than is now possible under Section 8. I recommend therefore adoption of the orders transmitted herewith for the acceptance thereof on behalf of the City and County, respectively.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

Ordered, That Section 8A of Chapter 32B of the General Laws, as inserted by Section 1 of Chapter 374 of the Acts of 1965 entitled "An Act Providing for the Use of Local Governmental Employees' Group Insurance Dividends, or Refunds To Reduce the Employees' Share of Premium Costs," be, and the same hereby is, accepted on behalf of the City of Boston.

Ordered, That Section 8A of Chapter 32B of the General Laws, as inserted by Section 1 of Chapter 374 of the Acts of 1965 entitled "An Act Providing for the Use of Local Governmental Employees' Group Insurance Dividends, or Refunds To Reduce the Employees' Share of Premium Costs," be, and the same hereby is, accepted on behalf of the County of Suffolk.

Severally referred to the Executive Committee.

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMISSION RE CHARLES STREET JAIL.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Finance Commission.

August 6, 1965.

To the Honorable the City Council.

On June 23, 1963, Rocco Balliro escaped from the Charles Street Jail.

On September 11, 1964, Richard Carignan, Richard J. Powers, and William E. Russell escaped from the Charles Street Jail.

As the result of these escapes from the Charles Street Jail, the Boston Finance Commission, on September 15, 1964, Voted "That the Commission conduct an investigation into the past three breaks in the Charles Street jail, with a view to issuing a report governing the causes of these breaks and proposing corrections in the jail's operations if such are found to be needed."

Pursuant to the vote of September 15, 1964, the Boston Finance Commission scheduled hearings on September 21, 1964, at their offices, Room 714, 24 School street, Boston, Mass. and issued and served subpoenas on Suffolk County Sheriff Frederick R. Sullivan and several of the guards employed at the Charles Street Jail at the time of the escapes. All of the persons subpoenaed contested the jurisdiction and authority of the Boston Finance Commission to investigate into jail escapes and agreed in an exact prepared statement read by each to the Finance Commission that: "the Commission lacks both de jure and de facto legal authority." Mr. Sullivan in his prepared statement went further and said, "Duly constituted and legal authorities in the exercise of due process, who may desire my presence, will find me, the Sheriff, responding as a responsible public official."

The Boston Finance Commission retained counsel and sought and was granted, a court order in the Suffolk Superior Court compelling Sheriff Sullivan and the other guards to testify; from this order Sheriff Sullivan and the guards appealed to the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court.

In their briefs contesting the jurisdiction of the Boston Finance Commission to conduct investigations, the attorneys for Sheriff Sullivan and the guards cited G. L., chapter 126, sections 1 and 2, which they contended placed jurisdiction to investigate jail breaks not in the Boston Finance Commission but in the County Commissioners and concluded that: "In view of these express statutory provisions (G. L., chapter 126, sections 1 and 2) we submit that the general grant of power to the Finance Commission ought not to be construed to include the matter of prison discipline and prison breaks."

Recently the findings of the Supreme Judicial Court was rendered reversing the order of the Superior Court judge ordering the Sheriff and guards to testify and holding that "the vote of the Boston Finance Commission is limited to matters of discipline which matters are not within the scope of the Commission's statutory function."

In view of this decision it was resolved by the Boston Finance Commission to prepare a report of the procedures to date together with a report of the investigation to the present time and submit these to the Boston City Council as they are County commissioners in Suffolk County and by inference from the Sheriff's brief and the Supreme Judicial Court's decision, the body with jurisdiction to investigate jail breaks at the Charles Street Jail.

REPORT

The information in this report was gathered and compiled by the members of the Boston Finance Commission and staff from personnel presently or formerly connected with the jail, inmates presently or formerly at the jail and from penal experts and letters and phone calls which came in shortly after the probe was announced. Neither the Sheriff nor any of the guards summoned have ever volunteered any information to the Boston Finance Commission nor have they answered any of the charges or facts contained in this report. However, from the sources previously cited, we have information indicating that the following conditions exist:

In violation of all acceptable penal practice, inmates are allowed to keep money on their person and money changes hands frequently between inmates and guards.

Instances have been related to the Commission of looting and stealing of personal effects and clothing from and among the inmates especially the better dressed inmates who are present at the jail for a short time.

Inmates are allowed to wander through the cell blocks even during the inspections conducted by the Commission when supposedly "the lid was clamped on and the jail was showing its Sunday best to the visitors."

Locks are broken and remain broken for long periods of time and keys and master keys are lost, misplaced, or stolen, some remaining lost for long periods of time, others are never found.

Contrary to accepted penal practice, there is no escape plan in effect at the Charles Street Jail. At least, there is none with which any of the interviewed guards were familiar.

There are no qualifications or examinations for hiring at the Charles Street Jail, nor are there any qualifications or examinations for promotions. None of the guards at the Charles Street Jail have had any certifiable in-service training, despite the fact that there are several training schools that they might be sent to at no cost to the jail.

As a consequence of the last three escapes, no firing, no suspensions, and no disciplinary action has been taken. The closest that anyone has come to being disciplined was to be given time off with pay and many guards involved in the escapes were even promoted or given better hours and duties. There is no adequate security check made of a guard at the time of hiring nor is there any check of a guard's background, qualifications, habits or finances made at any time while he is employed at the jail.

There is an instance reported to the Commission in which one of the officers employed at the jail at the time of the escapes was employed in an after-hours job by a man with such a long and involved criminal record that he might be classified as a notorious criminal. This man was at certain times in his life in the custody of the guard who is now his employee. This is not intended as criticism of after-hours jobs as such but merely put forward as an illustration of the lack of control and supervision of the jail personnel.

Duty assignments are given not on the basis of qualifications but on the basis of friendship or closeness to supervisors and Sheriff. This gives rise to all kinds of extraordinary situations where a job, calling for a specialist, mechanic, or some skill, is given to a man possessing none of the required ability or skill but given the job because of his proximity to the Sheriff or one of his supervisors.

There is still no adequate search made of prisoners at the time they enter the jail and one inmate reported that he served his time with a roll of money and a knife which he kept rolled in his sleeve at the time he was searched entering the jail.

According to information received from several sources, absenteeism is directly connected to the escapes. The informants insist that they could tell a break was coming from the number of guards absent at the time.

There is a veil of secrecy imposed on the personnel of the jail by the Sheriff. Whenever a scandal occurs they are issued code of ethics, bulletins, and warned to keep quiet and under no circumstances should this silence be broken. There have been instances, unreported to keep down scandal and notoriety, of inmates assaulting and striking guards. These instances were hushed up; all parties sworn to secrecy and little or no punishment was meted out to the inmates who perpetrated the assault.

The jail records show purchases of tobacco and cigarettes from a private firm in an amount of approximately $300 monthly for distribution to the prisoners. However, the jail is required by statute to purchase such articles from the Walpole State Prison or get a waiver. There is no record of such a waiver. Furthermore, with the exception of a few women inmates who work in the laundry and are given two packages each a week, no other present or former inmate has admitted to receiving or knowing anyone who ever received free cigarettes.

On one of the tours made of the jail it was found that a ceiling in the laundry section had been partly repaired and the remainder of the ceiling had been left unrepaired. This work had been done by an outside contractor. Contrary to city procedure there was no solicitation of bids. The job was signed for as completed by the jail officials. The sum of $975 was paid by the City of Boston but the work was never completed.

Medical supervision is lax and dietary supervision almost nonexistent. Guards, and even inmates, are allowed, and sometimes compelled, to administer drugs in violation of chapter 94, section 187B of the Food and Drug Law. Prisoners, including teen-age prisoners, are never given fresh milk and almost never are supplied with fresh vegetables.

On June 23, 1963, Rocco Balliro was being held on a murder charge in Cell 25. Although known to be a high escape risk, he was placed in one of the most remote cell blocks in the jail, completely out of sight of the guards' station in the rotunda. Sometime during the night, Balliro made good his escape. He was able to saw through two 1-inch bars, leave his cell (in the most secluded part of the block) make his way down a corridor exposed to the view of any guards on the catwalk, pick a lock to a dormitory room with a key fashioned from the plastic cover of his radio, cut and bend a 1-inch bar, fashion a rope of five blankets and adhesive tape, drop 15 feet to a roof and use three additional blankets to place over the barbed wire and drop onto Fruit street.

The personnel at the jail indicate that all this was done between 1.15 a.m., the last time Balliro was actually seen, and 1.35 a.m., when Balliro was discovered as missing.

Balliro used in his escape, or left behind, the following articles: a brown paper bag, four hack-saw blades, a small hand-made gun, two paper cups of petroleum jelly, a knife, a key made from his radio cover, eight blankets and a roll of adhesive tape.

In connection with the Balliro escape, we wish to call attention to the following:

1. The cells of the jail are so constructed as to make it virtually impossible to conceal eight blankets from view.

2. Jails, because of the openness of the cells, etc., are places where usually the least sounds are easily heard. This is particularly true at night.

3. The opening in Cell 25 created by sawing the two 1-inch bars was a strikingly small space for a man of Balliro's size to get through.

On October 18, 1963, Joseph Gleason and Daniel Herd awaiting trial at the Charles Street Jail, while on their way to the exercise yard, pulled guns and forced the officers to unlock a door leading to the main passageway.

All the other doors between the rotunda door and the main door were open. The corridor was being painted and jail authorities cite this as the reason why all the doors were fixed in an open position.

On September 11, 1964, Richard Carignan, Richard J. Powers, and William E. Russell, awaiting trial at the Charles Street Jail, made good their escape through the front door while armed with guns.

In a period of 15 months, from June 23, 1963, to September 11, 1964, there have been three escapes involving six prisoners, all of them armed prior to making their escape, and since then there has been no comprehensive investigation or inquiry made into these escapes.

In view of the recent decision rendered by the courts in Boston Finance Commission v. Sheriff Frederick Sullivan, and in view of chapter 126, sections 1 and 2, it seems that responsibility of this investigation is imposed upon the Boston City Council.

In the course of this inquiry, the Finance Commission has had occasion to consult with penologists and penal experts of national reputation concerning these three escapes. In all cases the experts have been unanimous in stating that these could not have been effected without collusion.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE E. BERKLEY, Chairman,
ROGER J. ABIZAID, M.D.,
JOSEPH P. McNAMARA,
RUSSELL S. CODMAN, JR.,
ABRAHAM MONSEIN, Esq.,

The Finance Commission.

CHARLES J. ELMORE, Counsel.

THOMAS J. MURPHY,
Executive Secretary.

"Proceed Aggressively" to Improve Housing, Mayor Collins tells B.H.A.

Remarks by Mayor John F. Collins at Public Housing Week Luncheon, Sheraton Plaza Hotel, Main Ballroom, October 13, 1965:

Public Housing is not a new program to Boston. The Housing Authority has now been in existence for almost thirty years and the scope of its program and its experience span many city administrations and varieties of general community conditions.

By comparison with other major cities in this nation, Boston's public housing program is not only one of the oldest but is one of the largest and most comprehensive to be found anywhere. I suspect, nevertheless, that its existence is essentially taken for granted and, as individual citizens, we become sensitive to its existence only as we have a particular housing problem for a needy family presented to us for a solution.

The history of our public housing program has never been written, to my knowledge. More than 50,000 households have received the benefits of decent shelter, at rentals within their means, in the course of the program's existence. More numbers, however, significant as they may be, do not tell the entire story, and probably not the most important part of the story. More important, I am sure, is the value to the individual families served of a solution to their housing plight which otherwise was not available. I am confident that thousands of families literally have been saved from potential disintegration or acute misery through the availability of public housing.

At the same time, we must respectfully acknowledge that the public housing program has been the target of criticism, some of it perhaps merited. In retrospect, at least, many of us can and should say affirmatively that it shouldn't have been built in certain locations, or with the design that we see, or operated according to whatever style was popular during a particular era.

I think the time has come, however, when criticism serves a point only as it is a part of a process for recasting the program to serve most effectively the needs of today and tomorrow. In this process we must start with the fact that existing public housing is a significant inventory of decent shelter that is vastly superior to anything else available at similar rents. For this housing, our challenge is to improve it, and then to demonstrate that it can serve the present needs of our low-income population.

The future can and must be more than the utilization of our existing public housing supply. I trust that everyone is aware of the New Boston, not merely as a concept but as a demonstrated reality. The New Boston is not complete, however, unless it provides for the encouragement of the most satisfying expression of individual and family development that our ingenuity and resources can provide.

As part of our pursuit of this goal, I have directed the Housing Authority to proceed aggressively

Apartment Buildings

Plans for a 30-story apartment building for married students and faculty members at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology were announced recently by President Julius A. Stratton.

The project, to cost more than $4 million, will be financed through a self-liquidating loan from the Community Facilities Administration of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency and an anonymous gift to the Institute.

The new residence tower will be architecturally integrated with M. I. T.'s present Alfred P. Sloan Building at 50 Memorial Drive and the soon-to-be-completed Grover M. Herman Building adjacent to the Sloan Building, and together the three buildings will form a complex designated as the Sloan Campus.

Construction of the tower is expected to begin late this summer, with completion planned for mid-1967.

Trucks Needed

Bids are being accepted by the Post Office for trucks to deliver and relay Christmas mail from December 10 to 26.

The specifications call for trucks of one, one and a half, and two-ton capacity. All bids must be received by noon, October 29. They should be addressed to Christmas Contract Vehicle Unit, Post Office Garage, 135 A street, Boston. Bids should be on an hourly rate for the vehicle alone, as the driver will be paid at the rate of $2.29 per hour.

to take advantage of the many new and exciting program possibilities in the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965, as they relate to public housing. I wish to make specific mention of certain of these programs wherein I am anxious to see new program development take place with the greatest possible speed.

The first is a new program popularly termed "instant public housing." The approach here involves leasing private houses, to be made available to low-income families at rentals they can afford. The owner of the house would be guaranteed his proper economic rent.

I intend to send a message shortly to the City Council requesting its action on a resolution indicating the desire of the City of Boston to have the Housing Authority engage in this program.

Next, I want to see a stepped-up program of rehabilitation in order to make maximum use of our basic housing inventory and to further stem the tide of blight that threatens constantly to overwhelm our older neighborhoods.

Next, I encourage positively the formation of joint and cooperative efforts between the Housing Authority and the private housing industry to sponsor creative new housing developments directed to the provision of housing for a true cross-section of income among our city's households.

The Housing Authority already has made an impressive beginning in providing housing for the elderly. Any of you who has been able to visit one of these developments has seen at firsthand the aura of happiness and satisfaction radiated by the occupants. I want this program to be expanded substantially. And I encourage also the collaboration between the Housing Authority, our medical institutions, and all of our tremendous resources of experts on the needs of the elderly, to develop specific facilities which will enable the handicapped and the sick to maintain a dignified existence in a homelike atmosphere.

And, finally, because there are other special needs for families, of low income, especially large families, I want to see the imaginative development of additional homes to meet this need as it exists.

The fulfillment of our ambitions successfully is very dependent on the assistance, cooperation, and encouragement by the federal agencies administering the provisions of federal legislation. Without their cooperation our ambitions are mere words. Their help is absolutely essential. In noting this fact, I don't wish to suggest that cooperation has been lacking in the past. We have had our full share of assistance when we requested it, given unstintingly by the personnel in the federal agencies.

The presence here today of Public Housing Administration Commissioner McGuire, and of Regional Director Hillman makes obvious their interest in Boston. I welcome the opportunity to tell them firsthand what we want to do in Boston, and to request their cooperation and encouragement.

Man discussing vacation with friends: "We stayed home this year. We took a pay-later vacation last year!"

Boston Was First

Congress gave final approval to the showing in the United States of the government produced documentary film "John F. Kennedy—Years of Lightning, Days of Drums."

By special permission the picture was first shown to the public in this country during the week when Boston's War Memorial Auditorium was dedicated last February.

A voice vote in the House sent to the White House a bill now giving the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts the exclusive distribution rights to the film, which was produced by the U. S. Information Agency.

Showings would be authorized in commercial theaters, with all proceeds going to the U. S. Treasury.

The highly praised documentary has been shown to selected audiences in this country. However, the only public showing of the film was last February in Boston in conjunction with the War Memorial Auditorium dedication.

Ordinarily, U.S.I.A. films are exhibited only overseas. The intent of the restriction is to prevent governmental agencies from propagandizing the American people with films produced with public money.

Brink's in Israel

A famous American name will soon be familiar to residents of Israel.

Brink's, Inc., which provides armored car delivery for payrolls and operates electronic signal equipment for banks will open a business there.

The Brink's operation will have a total capitalization of $1 million to $1.5 million. The United States firm will finance 70 percent of the operations, with the remainder being backed by Israeli investors.

Nearly 90 percent of the materials and services will be purchased in the United States.

This investment resulted from a survey, financed by the Agency for International Development which studied the feasibility of the Israeli operation.

Roxbury Tutorial Program Popular; Classes Aid Nearly 2,000 School Children

One of the most popular Community Action Programs sponsored by Action for Boston Community Development, Inc., is the Roxbury Tutorial Program conducted by Mrs. Judith Rollins, under ABCD's Community Action Program Director Robert Coard.

Judith Rollins, a graduate of Bennington College, majoring in cultural anthropology, is the holder of a William Whitney Fellowship for graduate study at Bank Street College of Education. She is working for her M.S. degree. She was assigned to Boston where she first taught in the Boardman School in Roxbury and later in Lincoln.

This summer Mrs. Rollins worked in a Head Start class in the Champlain School in Dorchester.

Through this program, she hopes to gain progressive contact with children thus enhancing them intellectually. "In essence, this tutorial program is doing what a well-run school system should be doing.

"Our textbooks are books children can identify themselves with and are devoted to a multiracial text. Basic concentration will be in reading and mathematics."

Woven into the program will be Educational Services, Inc., particularly in mathematics and science. Further attempts are now being made to involve the Science Division of Educational Services, Inc., with the tutorial program. Also Science Research Associates, a program which is being tried at the Job Corps Camp in New Bedford, will be incorporated into the curriculum.

Mrs. Rollins has had meetings with various parent groups and has hopes of developing Parent Councils, using the child as a liaison with parents. This way parents are involved in the actual teaching process while they learn new educational methods.

The Roxbury tutorial program, subcontracted by the Roxbury Community Council, services 1,500 to 2,000 students from the first grade to seniors in high school. The largest concentration seems to be in the elementary school level. Officially the program began October 4.

Each tutorial program director has been recruiting tutors and then orientating them. This orientation process deals, not only with academic programs, but also with the problems of the community. In this way tutors are acquainted with the strengths to be found in the community and how these strengths can be incorporated into the tutoring program.

Mrs. Rollins believes that the first approach in teaching a class is to use what children "give you." A good way to begin would be to ask them to write about something they like. When children see what they say can be put into words, greater reading interest is developed.

One of the Roxbury tutorial groups is being conducted in St. Ann's Church, Leyland street, Dorchester, an extension of the summer tutoring classes.

In her first briefing session with tutors in St. Ann's, Mrs. Rollins explained the Spalding phonetic approach to reading. The Spalding method of reading is composed of about 70 phonograms and letters learned by sound. For example: A—3 sounds; a—at; a—late; a—father.

Tutors have had a three-week orientation period twice a week before being assigned to classes. Daily classes are held in St. Ann's from 3 to 5 P.M. for young children and evening classes for the older student.

Representatives of Science Research Associates have come to Boston to meet with some of the tutorial program directors. A math workshop under the guidance of Educational Services, Inc., was conducted in Wellesley recently in an attempt to incorporate the new approach to math into the tutorial program.

Beginning October 11, Educational Services, Inc., will have representatives of their Math Institute come into Roxbury to conduct a 15-session math workshop at Eliot Congregational Church from 4 to 6 P.M. daily. They will be utilizing children from the Roxbury community and tutors from the tutorial program.

Susan Phelps, an E.S.I. representative, will be tutoring art classes every Tuesday afternoon at St. Ann's Church.

An offer has been received from Dr. Peter Nathan, psychiatrist with Boston City Hospital, to involve a group of young psychiatrists, working in the Greater Boston area in the tutorial program in some meaningful manner.

Other tutoring groups operating in Roxbury include Cooper Community Center, Norfolk House, Eliot Congregational Church, Blue Hill Christian Center, Roxbury YMCA, Roxbury Boy's Club, St. James Episcopal Church, St. John's Episcopal Church, and the Northern Student Movement.

John F. Tobin

A Solemn Requiem Mass was sung October 9 at St. Mark's Church, Dorchester, for the man trusted with the lives of some of the biggest celebrities to visit Boston.

Detective Lieutenant John F. Tobin, 67, died October 7, after a short illness. His home was at 30 King street, Dorchester.

Detective Tobin, assigned to Police Headquarters for 24 of his 34 years on the Force, was regularly assigned to duty as 24-hour bodyguard to such celebrities as President Eisenhower, Frank Sinatra, Gloria Swanson, and Kate Smith.

He broke in as a rookie in 1925 with the Dudley Street Division. In 10 years there, Patrolman Tobin was frequently commended in General Orders.

He retired in 1959, a first grade detective on day duty with the pickpocket squad.

He was born in East Cambridge.

He leaves a wife, Mary (Mitchell) Tobin; a son, John F., Jr., of the Boston Police Department; two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Lee of Medford and Ann Tobin of Somerville; a brother, James of Somerville, and three grandchildren.

Registry Aiding Police in Back Bay Crackdown

Registrar Richard E. McLaughlin dispatched a squad of Registry inspectors to the Back Bay area on Saturday evening, October 2, in response to complaints by residents of the neighborhood that motor vehicles were being used in a malicious and improper manner by students.

"The Back Bay situation has developed alarmingly during the past year, especially," said the Registrar. "Many long-time residents are planning to move out. Weekend nights are particularly violent in the area with automobiles and motorcycles being driven recklessly and maliciously."

Registrar McLaughlin praised the efforts of the Boston Police Department which, he said, was exerting every effort to contain the situation. The Registry is cooperating very closely with the Boston Police and the Metropolitan Police to enforce the law, he said.

"The Back Bay has become our Number One Priority area for selective enforcement and I want to assure the residents there that we will stay with this thing until it is licked. We will not tolerate the use of motor vehicles as instruments of aggression and those who are so doing will lose their licenses and rights to operate in Massachusetts. Registrations will also be suspended or revoked where necessary and offenders will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

The Registrar said that he was asking the active cooperation of faculty authorities in the many schools and colleges in the Back Bay section where approximately 10,000 students are housed. The student dormitories, apartments, and fraternity houses are reported to be focal points in the continuing disorders and semi-riots of the past year.

Blood Donation

Members of the newly formed Boston Police Patrolmen's Association gathered at the Red Cross Blood Center in the Back Bay to donate blood for three-year-old Michael Stewart, son of Everett patrolman and Mrs. George Stewart, who will enter St. Elizabeth's Hospital for open-heart surgery November 1.

Material Handlers

Focus for the nation's material handling industry will be on Massachusetts in October, with the opening of the New England Show and Technical Conference of The Material Handling Institute, Inc.

The show and conference, to be held in War Memorial Auditorium, Boston, October 19, 20, and 21, will attract up to 8,000 material handling executives from throughout New England, upper New York State, and Eastern Canada.

More than 125 manufacturers of material handling equipment and accessories will display new products at the show. In most cases, the equipment will be shown "live" to demonstrate product features in action.

The Technical Conference, to be held from 9 A.M. to 12 noon each day of the show, will highlight the theme: "Profit Improvement Through Material Handling Systems." All speakers and subjects will consider the special problems and needs of large and small firms located in this area.

Co-chairmen for the technical conference are: Stephen C. Traudt, Bird & Son, Inc., East Walpole, and Miles J. Rowan, Editor and Assistant Publisher, Modern Materials Handling magazine, Boston. The technical conference is sponsored by the American Material Handling Society.

Announcement of the New England Show came on the heels of a finding that dollar volume of incoming orders booked by manufacturers of industrial material handling equipment set an all-time high for the industry in June, 1965. The record volume of new orders for the month totaled $109,266,016, shattering the previous high of $106,464,090, registered in March of this year.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

September 29.

General Order No. 38.

Fire Prevention Week will be observed in the City of Boston from October 3 to October 9, 1965, inclusive. Mayor John F. Collins has issued the following statement in connection with the observance of this week.

"Fire Prevention is the joint effort of the citizens of a city and its fire department. The results of this mutual endeavor are reflected by the lessening of the fire losses and by the abating of loss of life and injury from fire.

"This does not just happen as a matter of course. It is with unconcealed pride that I look to the efforts of the Boston Fire Department in the field of fire prevention. The activity of this department in our municipal structure is directed to the day-by-day education of the public in fire safety starting with the school children and continuing through adulthood to the control and regulation of those materials and substances which, by their very nature, present a hazard to the public and to the research program in which they participate. All these make very sound basis of fire prevention as evident by the action of the Massachusetts Legislature in outlawing, effective July 1, 1965, the use of space heaters, vented and unvented, in the Commonwealth. This was a direct result of the research activity of the Boston Fire Department. It has been conservatively estimated that the Fire Department's support in this matter has resulted in the saving of better than fifteen lives a year in this city—project this to the Commonwealth, and the good effect it has had on other cities in the New England complex, and you can see that the savings in lives stemming from this fire prevention fundamentals of the Boston Fire Department is responsible for saving hundreds of lives each year in the New England area alone.

"We cannot rely on this success for our future fire safety. We must keep pace with industry, and we must understand the psychology of men and emphasize the need for fire safety. Only in this way can we cope with the unanticipated, undreamed of, and unconsidered hazards associated with fire, for it is only with this awareness that we assure the safety of ourselves and others."

The Boston Fire Department will again emphasize the Fire Prevention Week with a series of activities as follows:

(a) Fire stations shall be open to the public between the hours of 12 noon and 8 P.M. for inspection of the premises and for the conveyance of information concerning the Fire Department functions and fire prevention matters. When citizens come to a station during Fire Prevention Week, the man on house patrol shall summon the commanding officer who should be available and ready to either show the visitors around the station and to answer questions regarding the department, or to have a suitable person assigned to this duty.

(b) Canvas signs giving notice that Fire Prevention Week is in progress should be displayed from fire stations. Most stations have these signs in their possession from exhibitions of previous years, and it is the responsibility of company officers to see to it that these signs are kept in good condition from year to year. Signs should be displayed from Sunday to Saturday. Signs shall be checked daily by the officer in charge of quarters to assure that they are firmly affixed to the building in a proper manner.

District fire chiefs are directed to take an active interest in fire prevention programs in the following manner:

(a) By making arrangements with the various plants and industrial enterprises within the district to hold fire drills during the week; by grading these drills as "Good," "Fair," or "Poor," and making a report of same to the Fire Prevention Division, indicating the name of the enterprise, the date of the drill and the grade. Same should be forwarded promptly. Each concern should be requested to acknowledge participation in Fire Prevention Week activities via written correspondence. These drills should be conducted by a company officer after arrangements are made. At plants where there are special or company fire brigades, particular attention should be given to assignments and/or response procedures. It is requested that the name of the company officer conducting the drill be furnished. It is anticipated that not less than three drills be conducted in each district.

(b) All public and private schools within each district shall be visited by a district chief or duly delegated company officer. School fire drills shall be held during Fire Prevention Week in all schools, both public and private. Permission should be obtained for the presentation of a five-minute talk on the subject of fire prevention—such addresses should not be read from a printed manuscript. Every effort should be made to speak effectively and emphatically.

The School Department in cooperation with the Fire Department is going to distribute "Home Inspection Blanks." Distribution of these blanks shall be by company officers within whose subdistricts the schools are located, and they shall be distributed during Fire Prevention Week. The teachers shall collect the completed blanks from the pupils, and in turn the company officers will collect from the various schools and return these blanks to the Fire Prevention Division with a summary of schools and total numbers collected on or before November 1. Posters for bulletin boards, two for each school, will also be distributed.

An essay contest is being conducted in all parochial and public schools in the city for the sixth grade of the grammar schools. Topic is "How I Practice Fire Prevention." The essay is to be of 150 words or less. All officers and members are requested to show an interest in this essay contest and to answer questions concerning it to any student who may request information relative to fire prevention in order to complete the essay.

The district fire chief should compile a list of fraternal, social, civic, and professional organizations within the district and advertise to them the willingness of the Fire Department to provide company officers for the purpose of lecturing on fire prevention at any time. District fire chiefs should make a concerted effort to bring the activities of the department before these organizations and arrange for lectures to be given. The name of any organization so participating should be reported to Fire Prevention Division, specifically if the organization can be urged to forward on their own stationery a notation of the event, it would be to the greater advantage of the Fire Department.

Throughout the week, all fire fighters are to wear the department uniform going to and from the fire stations, even though they may be driving their cars. The uniforms shall be neat and clean and regulation blue shirts and black ties shall be worn in conjunction therewith. Fire Fighters are to pay special attention to the observance of fire hazards and to the duty of observing and locating fire hazards along the route followed by them in their coming to and going from daily work. Dilapidated buildings, rubbish accumulations, and other hazards should be reported to the Fire Prevention Division. The public expects uniformed members of the Fire Department to know something about fire prevention work and to have an interest in this subject since they are public employees engaged in this field. Fire fighters, therefore, during Fire Prevention Week should have this subject uppermost in their minds, and they should not pass by a fire hazard at any time without making a note of it for reference to the Fire Prevention Division. In short, every uniformed man in the Fire Department is a fire prevention inspector at all times.

Company commanders, upon receipt of the Governor's Proclamation on Fire Prevention and Fire Prevention posters, will post these items in a suitable location at the front of each fire station where they will be visible to the public. They will remain posted until October 10, 1965.

The new Boston War Memorial Auditorium is steam heated throughout. Best guess on monthly fuel bill about $4,000.

Boston Has Answers to Four Key '75 World's Fair Questions

(The following article appeared in a recent edition of the "Hotel and Restaurant News.")

A strong declaration of support for a 1975-76 World's Fair in Boston has been issued by Abram T. Collier, the newly elected president of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

A research study to be released shortly, he told Chamber members, will present evidence that a '75 Fair in the Hub "is feasible if we make a moderate investment. And we will make that investment if we want the Fair enough. . . . We should want it, I submit, because the site to be developed will speed the revitalization of the city, because it will add permanently to the city's wealth, because the business generated will give an enormous boost to our economy, and because the project as a whole will bring together in a burst of creative energy the thousands of citizens who will display their faith in the progress of the city."

Mr. Collier, vice-chairman of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company, also announced the appointment of John K. Benson, senior vice-president of National Shawmut Bank of Boston, and a Chamber director, as 1965-66 chairman of the Chamber's Convention and Visitors Bureau Committee.

A Presidential Commission, although not yet appointed, will apparently choose the city which will play the major role in the nation's celebration of its bicentennial in 1975-76, Mr. Collier declared.

Boston's principal competitor for federal backing on the proposed Fair is Philadelphia, he noted.

The Commission is expected to base its choice on four key factors, and Mr. Collier pointed out the Hub's position in each case:

Does the city have a going organization? The 1975 Freedom Fair Corporation set up over two years ago by the Greater Boston Chamber is headed by Gilbert H. Hood, Jr., who also serves as chairman of the Chamber's board of directors;

Does the city have an adequate site, one of several hundred acres near to and easily accessible from the metropolis and preferably one that has natural beauty? Boston officials have expressed confidence that such a site can be made readily available;

Does the Fair have a theme or an idea that is sound and marketable? The theme of a Boston Fair would "relate to the concept of freedom, and perhaps the notion that political, social and economic freedom springs from the imagination and development of the human mind";

Is it marketable? Can any exposition today attract enough people? "If a (Fair) is good and well staged, it will succeed—but it must be good. . . . Our country is highly mobile, and we are satisfied people will travel great distances to see something that is good";

Does the Fair have the wholehearted enthusiasm and support of the community and region? Is business ready to come up with the seed money? Is the Legislature ready to appropriate substantial sums? (Mr. Collier's answer to this point is contained in this story's lead paragraphs.)

The research study on the feasibility of a '75 Fair in the Hub, referred to by Mr. Collier, is being prepared by Arthur D. Little, Inc., of Cambridge, Mass.

Mass. Bay United Fund Goal $11,850,000

This amount is a minimum goal and represents a five percent increase over the total raised in the area now covered by the M.B.U.F. The minimum goal will only offset the increased costs of the same prior services provided by United Fund agencies. New services, or expansion of existing services for the benefit of the people in the Mass. Bay area, will not be possible unless the minimum campaign goal is substantially exceeded.

Police Speaker

Lieut. Lawrence A. Quinlan of the Boston Police Department Juvenile Aid Bureau, will be the featured speaker at the annual convention of the New England Association of Police Women, October 23-24.

Lieut. Quinlan will speak on obscene books and literature at the meeting at the Sheraton Boston.

Area Residents Must Have Important Voice in Plans and Execution of Community Action Programs

The Economic Opportunity Act requires that a community action program be developed, conducted and administered by residents of areas of neighborhoods where such programs will be carried out.

The Community Action Program Committee of Action for Boston Community Development, Inc., the agency designated by Mayor Collins to carry out Boston's poverty program, has been organized.

Robert Coard is the Community Action Program Director.

The Community Action Program Committee has representatives from all areas of Boston and all walks of life. Areas represented are: Charlestown, Columbia Point, East Boston, Jamaica Plain, North End, Parker Hill-Fenway, and Roxbury-North Dorchester.

Its membership consists of senior citizens, housewives, an electrician, educators, a physician, a laborer and a musician.

School Committeeman Arthur Gartland is chairman with Mrs. Melnea A. Cass, a charter member of the ABCD Board as vice chairman.

Greater Boston Church Choirs To Bring Choral Offerings to Boston's 16th Christmas Festival

Invitations have been tendered by Mayor John F. Collins to all church choirs of Greater Boston area to participate in the musical program of the City of Boston 16th Annual Christmas Festival. Similar invitations will also be sent to the various Greater Boston school musical organizations.

It is the hope of the Mayor that this year an even larger number of vocal and instrumental groups will take part in the Festival than in the past. More than 100 groups, comprised of more than 3,000 musicians, took part last year.

The Festival will open Friday, November 26 and will run through Little Christmas on January 6.

Leaders cooperating with the Mayor in staging this year's Festival are: President Lawrence H. Martin of the National Shawmut Bank, chairman of the Festival finance committee, Vice President Prescott C. Crafts, of the First National Bank, treasurer, and Colonel Paul Hines, festival director.

The musical programs will be held at the Christmas Chapel at Boston Common, overlooking the city's heroic-sized crèche, said to be the largest in the nation. Concerts will be held daily from 12.30 to 1.30; 4.30 to 5.30. In the evening they will be held from 7.30 to 8.30. The Sunday programs will be from 2 to 4 and in the evening from 7 to 9.

bureau committee and senior vice president of the National Shawmut Bank of Boston, said the bureau booked 67 new conventions during the summer with an expected attendance of 62,750 delegates. The new bookings, he said, represent more than $7,843,000 which will be spent by delegates.

Among the bookings is the June, 1966, Centennial Celebration of the Christian Science Church with an attendance estimated at 13,000 persons.

A number of large conventions will come to Boston for the first time. Included are the Association for Asian Studies, booked for March, 1968, which will attract 2,000 delegates; American Association for the Advancement of Science, December, 1969, 7,000 delegates; Federation of Society for Paint Technology, October, 1970, 4,500 delegates; American Chemical Society, April, 1971, 9,000 delegates; Insurance Accounting & Statistical Association, May, 1971, 2,000 delegates; National Electrical Contractors Association, October, 1972, 4,000 delegates; American Library Association, 1972, 5,500 delegates.

Benson said the convention bureau is currently booking as far ahead as 1975, one of which is the Atomic Fair sponsored by the American Nuclear Society and the American Industrial Forum.

Equal Job Opportunity Parley Here Oct. 29

Federal, state and local civil rights and anti-discrimination law experts will be panelists for the all-day New England Conference on Equal Employment Opportunity at the Statler-Filton on October 29.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., chairman of one of the sponsoring agencies, the Commission on Equal Employment Opportunity, will bring eight members of his Washington staff including Mrs. Aileen C. Hernandez, also a commissioner and former assistant chief of the California Fair Employment Commission.

"Top" Opens in Dec.

Stouffer Foods Corporation will open its first New England restaurant, the "Top of the Hub" by December 15, Vernon Stouffer, president, announced this week.

Located on the 52d floor of the Prudential Tower building, the "Top of the Hub" will seat 350 with a capacity of 225 for the dining room and 125 for the cocktail lounge.

Mr. Stouffer added that construction is proceeding on schedule and a staff of 225 is being recruited for the opening.

The menu will be similar to the corporation's "Top of the Six's" in New York with additional features of oriental specialties and fresh seafood, according to Manager Marvin Krein.

No function space will be available, Mr. Krein noted.

Stouffer has seven such restaurants in operation and two under construction atop new office buildings in principal U. S. cities.

"Top of the Hub" will be open Monday through Saturday from 11 A.M. to midnight with a limited number of reservations available each evening.

The restaurant will combine a clipper ship and oriental marine decor with a view of Boston Harbor, the Charles River, the Harvard and M.I.T. campuses and Fenway Park.

Peace Corps Trainees

Twenty-two members of the Peace Corps, bound for two years of service in India as rural public health workers, will conclude a five-day medical orientation course at Boston City Hospital October 22, designed to familiarize them with health problems in that section of the world.

The Peace Corps members, following completion of the program, will return to the School for International Training of the Experiment in International Living in Brattleboro, Vt., for final training. They are scheduled to leave for India some time in December.

Sears Lab Studies Before Big Conclave

A series of studies in animals related to the clinical manifestations of liver disease observed in man, was presented at the 51st annual Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons at Atlantic City this week by teams of investigators from the Harvard Medical School's Department of Surgery, Surgical Service and Sears Laboratory for Surgical Research at the Boston City Hospital.

The Harvard unit, in mid-1965, achieved limited success in prolonging the life of a young Boston woman whose diseased liver had ceased to function, by periodically shunting her blood through that of a series of isolated pigs' livers.

Under scrutiny in the research presented at the Atlantic City meeting were: (1) the causes for the abnormal accumulation of fluid (ascites) in the abdomens of patients with severe liver disease in whom the liver function has been lowered; (2) the reasons for the appearance of high levels of ammonia in the blood of patients undergoing glucose therapy for hepatic coma; (3) the value of surgical removal of a portion of the nerves (neurectomy) controlling the artery serving the liver.

The fluid-distended abdomen seen in patients with grossly reduced liver function, said Dr. John C. Norman, Instructor in Surgery, may be related to increased pressures stemming from a block in the major vein leading from the liver. Using an isolated pig liver, Dr. Norman devised a model system in which he was able to induce a condition that raised the outflow pressure. Coincidentally, a rise in serum ascite formation was noted. Computer analysis of the preliminary data obtained by Dr. Norman and his colleagues, indicates that the ratio of ascite formation can be related to the outflow pressure and predicted, in the experimental state, with a 90 percent degree of accuracy.

Glucose solutions, when administered intravenously to patients in what is known as hepatic coma—a state in which liver function has all but disappeared—is accompanied by a rise in the ammonia level in blood. The rise in the ammonia level has been thought related to the turnover in adenosine triphosphate (ATP)—the cell's major energy exchange—during the metabolism of the large amounts of glucose administered to the patient. Dr. Henry Brown, instructor in medicine, and his associates, in experiments with dogs on which surgery has been done to bypass the liver, reported that the injection of ATP resulted in a rise in the blood ammonia level that paralleled similar elevations seen in man during glucose therapy. "These experiments concerning blood ammonia levels following glucose administration," said Dr. Brown, "may explain in part the high, and frequently erratic, ammonia levels in patients following shunt surgery even when the patients are on low protein diets."

Dr. Frederick W. Ackroyd, instructor in surgery, and his co-workers, in a third report, verified in animal research that neurectomy increased the flow of blood through the liver. Noting that one of the manifestations of cirrhosis of the liver in man is a decrease in blood flow through the liver, the investigators said the neurectomy performed in animals increased the blood flow to the liver by 30 percent, lowered blood ammonia levels, and demonstrated a significant improvement in liver regeneration. If the improvement in animals is of long duration, said Dr. Ackroyd, the surgical procedure may be beneficial in the treatment of cirrhosis of the liver in man.

Those associated with the senior investigators in the three reports were: Dr. Mayo Brown, Research Associate in Pathology; Dr. Edward T. O'Hara, Instructor in Surgery; Dr. Michio Mito, Research Fellow in Surgery; Dr. William V. McDermott, Jr., Professor of Surgery and Head of the Department of Surgery at the Boston City Hospital where he is Director of the Harvard (Fifth) Surgical Service and the Sears Laboratory for Surgical Research.

All Even Now

The "score was evened up," a Boston Harbor police sergeant said after his wife gave birth to a nine-pound boy, making it five sons and five daughters for the Roslindale couple October 17.

Sergt. Frederick J. Conley of 66 Pleasantview street had to baby-sit with nine other children while his wife, Mary, tied the boy-girl score at St. Margaret's Hospital, Dorchester, but he hopes to make other arrangements for his children while his wife recuperates so he can return to a somewhat easier duty at Station 8.

CONTRACTS AWARDED

The Mayor has approved the award of the following contracts to the lowest eligible bidders:

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT. DEMOLITION OF DRAWTENDER'S HOUSE, ETC.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On August 17, 1965, your Honor approved the award of a contract for demolition of drawtender's house, platform and top girder caps under platform at Summer Street Bridge, over Fort Point Channel, City Proper, to John P. Egan, 155 Boston street, Dorchester, in the amount of $1,740.

Mr. Egan has been unsuccessful in obtaining the necessary payment and performance bonds to cover the contract.

Therefore, I respectfully request your permission to award this contract to the second bidder, the Rev-Lyn Construction Company, 9 Hudson street, Lynn, Mass., who are willing, able and competent to do the work, in the amount of $3,730. I believe this amount to be fair in price for doing the work as the engineers estimate was $3,500.

Very truly yours,

JOHN F. FLAHERTY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

AUDITORIUM COMMISSION. PLUMBING, AND HEATING SYSTEMS, ETC.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

Your Honor's authority is hereby respectfully requested to award to Limbach Company, 150 Causeway street, Boston, a contract for the operation and preventive maintenance (other than washing or replacing air filters) of all plumbing, heating, and air-conditioning systems in the city's War Memorial Auditorium at 900 Boylston street, Boston, twenty-four hours a day, including Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays, from 4 P.M. on September 30, 1965, to 4 P.M. on March 31, 1966, at a basic cost to the city of $635 a week plus an additional fee of $25 for each day an exhibition, convention, show or gathering is held or is being set up, rehearsed or dismantled, and a further fee of $80 for each day the refrigeration machines for the assembly and exhibition halls are operated at the written request of the commission. The contract will contain a provision that Limbach Company shall not operate the systems or provide preventive maintenance therefor after liability on the part of the city is accrued to an aggregate of $22,500.

The unit prices are somewhat higher than for the last quarter because of wage increases and, in the case of the $25 daily rate, a partial recognition of Limbach's demand for a $40 daily rate for this aspect of the service.

Limbach Company was the subcontractor who installed the systems involved. If Limbach Company is engaged to operate these systems during the period involved, Limbach Company could hardly deny proper operation in the event of a situation occasioning resort to the guarantees respecting these expensive systems. This advantage could not be secured were the contract awarded to another; and so, we submit, no useful purpose would be served by inviting by advertisement bids for this contract.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT C. NEROBLOM, Chairman.

BUILDING DEPARTMENT.

BUILDINGS RAZED

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

The following houses have been condemned by me as being in an unsafe and dangerous condition. Notices have been sent to the owners, but they have taken no steps to abate the dangerous condition. These buildings are a menace to the neighborhood. The locations follow:

100 High street, Ward 2.
Accordingly, in conformity with the provisions of chapter 473, Acts of 1938, as amended, particularly section 116 (d) thereof, I have asked and have received your Honor's permission to enter these various premises and to raze the structure.

Bidders were requested to submit an aggregate bid for the entire lot of houses, but to break down their bids to show the charge against each separate address. This breakdown is necessary for later departmental use in billing demolition costs incurred against the individual property owner of each house.

We have solicited invitation bids, award to be made to the lowest qualified bidder, and have received the following:

Donahue.—100 High street, Ward 2 $6,950.
Kernac.—100 High street, Ward 2 $8,121.
Dicenzo.—100 High street, Ward 2 $5,840.
Speranza.—100 High street, Ward 2 $6,175.
H. P. Horan.—100 High street, Ward 2 $5,250.

Cousins.—100 High street, Ward 2 $4,500.
Cousins Construction, Inc., 540 Main street, Winchester, has submitted the lowest aggregate bid. This company is thoroughly familiar with this work, it carries all necessary insurance and it has done satisfactory work for this department in the past.

Bids for the demolition of individual houses were not requested because it would be a practical physical impossibility for several different wreckers to conduct efficient wrecking operations simultaneously in individual houses. Under such conditions, there would be much mutual interference, and each wrecker would be exposed to severe hazards not under his control, by the operations of adjacent wreckers. I also believe that the aggregate cost of individual bids would be much higher than the cost of one bid for the lot, and that handling the houses as one unit results in lower administrative costs to the city than would result from handling the houses as separate bids and contracts. Unit handling results, however, in this case, in a contract price $2,000 or over the statutory limitation upon awards that can be made without advertising, unless your Honor approves the transaction.

Accordingly, the general public safety so requiring, I ask your Honor's approval for the awarding, without advertising, as required in the city charter, of a contract in the sum of $4,500 to the Cousins Construction, Inc., 540 Main street, Winchester, Mass.

Very truly yours,
THOMAS L. FLYNN,
Acting Building Commissioner.

Mayor Heads Boston Delegation in Visit to Nation's Major Space Centers

With Alan B. Shepard, Jr., the nation's first astronaut as their guide, Mayor John F. Collins and a delegation of Greater Boston civic leaders and officials, climaxed a four-day tour of vital U. S. space centers at NASA Space Port, Cape Kennedy, Florida, last week.

The Boston delegation during the tour conducted by Air Force System's Command visited the Arnold Air Force Base in Tennessee and the Aerospace Medicine Division at Brooks Air Force Base at San Antonio, Texas, before flying to the famed installation at Cape Kennedy.

Reactions of every member of the Boston group from the Mayor down were enthusiastic and each reported himself thrilled by a firsthand closeup view and study of the advances achieved by the U. S. in its vast program to conquer space.

"Everyone in America," said Mayor Collins, "is interested in our Space program. However, no matter how closely we follow developments through the press and other public information media, it is difficult to grasp the scope of the advances we have already made or of the promise the future holds.

"A personal visit such as we shared in Tennessee, Texas, and Florida is a truly and most inspiring experience. One cannot observe what is going on and what is being done without knowing a very warm and pleasant feeling of confidence in our Air Force and Space programs and especially with the gifted and devoted people connected with them."

Lieut. Col. Maurice Lien of the Air Force System Command headquarters in Washington was assigned to handle the tour by the hosting Air Force System's Command.

At the Arnold AFB in Tennessee the Boston party viewed four major engineering laboratories, all of which are closely associated with the over-all space picture. Here the visitors viewed and marveled at the world's largest supersonic wind tunnel.

The next stop was at the Aerospace Medicine Division at the Brooks AFB in San Antonio, Texas. Here is located the center in which the medical experiments are conducted.

Because every member of the party had heard, read, and seen through TV various aspects of the installation at Cape Kennedy, the last stop was the most thrilling of all. Here Alan Shepard took over. He not only impressed his guests with a delightful personality but made it clear why he became the nation's first astronaut.

Included in the visiting delegation with Mayor Collins were John Baldwin, Boston advertising man; Bertram Druker, Boston Realtor; Owen Kiernan, Massachusetts Commissioner of Education; Major Allan Roy Kingston, former State Representative from Somerville; President Justus McKinley, of Emerson College; Gordon S. Pettingill, Stoneham businessman;

Winter Parking Rules

Commissioner of Traffic and Parking Thomas F. Carty has announced the all-night parking regulation in effect during the winter months.

During the period from November 1, 1965, through March 31, 1966, all-night parking is allowed only on the odd-numbered side of the street.

If there are signs reading "No Parking Any Time" on the odd-numbered side of the street only, then you may park all night on the even-numbered side of the street.

This rule is effective in every section of the City of Boston outside of the Central Business District.

The commissioner explains that failure to comply with the above constitutes a traffic hazard, impairing transportation, the movement of food, fuel supplies, medical care, fire, health and police protection, and other vital services to the residents of Boston.

Berenson Named

Richard A. Berenson of Brookline has been named 1965-66 chairman of the aviation committee of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce by president Abram T. Collier.

Mr. Berenson is president of Charles L. Richardson & Co., Inc. The 30-member committee of prominent businessmen recommends Chamber policy leading to the development of improved aviation services and facilities in the Boston and New England areas.

New Boston Brochure Wins Universal Acclaim

One of the most interesting and eye-pleasing brochures to come off the press in recent years, "A Window on the New Boston," was presented by Mayor John F. Collins on October 27 to Chamber of Commerce officials.

The brochure was mailed to 2,500 investment houses throughout the nation last week.

The eight-by-ten-inch publication contains 50 pages printed on attractive and durable stock and is liberally illustrated by photographs and sketches of various historic spots.

Featured on the cover is an aerial view of the foundation of the New City Hall in the Government Center, with a pencil sketch of Faneuil Hall.

Under the heading "The New Boston," Mayor John F. Collins wrote the foreword to the brochure.

"Dear Reader," writes the Mayor, "I appreciate this opportunity to introduce you to the progress and plans of the City of Boston. For the past several years, Boston has dedicated itself to an ambitious program of rebuilding designed not only to enhance and renew its physical plant, but also to rekindle the spirit and commitment of its citizens. The results are evident.

"Today, Boston stands confidently as the 'Hub' of New England and literally vibrates with new progress and new accomplishment.

"While the people of Boston are justifiably proud of the city's resurgence, they are equally determined not to rest until the job is complete. A revitalized and interested business community helps to sustain these efforts.

"The renewed vigor of the city's academic and cultural institutions spurs us on. And, the prospect of being the 'Hub' not only of New England but also of important new space-age activities stimulates even more new building and revitalization of the old—the old for which Boston is so famous.

"I am certain that you will discover the New Boston to be a city of opportunity."

The brochure blends Boston's proud historical background with the present. It points out that the railroad in America was a Boston idea; that the nation's first department store was established here and that Alexander Graham Bell spoke the first words over the telephone here in 1876.

Through graphs and figures the publication points out the extent of Boston's achievements in the early 1960s and the extent of its plans for the future. For instance, it underscores the fact that between 1960 and 1975 an estimated total of $508 million will be expended for renewal projects in the Downtown, South Cove, the Waterfront, Back Bay areas, and by educational, medical and cultural institutions.

Total construction, including private and public, during the 1960-1975 period will total $3.6 billion, it is estimated.

Boston's present proud place in employment and industry, traffic and transportation, port facilities, air transportation, education and culture, medical facilities, recreation and other phases of the municipal life are reflected in readable text, graphs and statistics.

Also included in the brochure is an exhaustive study of the financial position of the city and Suffolk County for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1965.

The brochure is designed to stimulate interest in the purchase of city bonds and interest in further business development in the city.

Executive Vice-President James G. Kelso of the Chamber made the following comment after reading the brochure:

"Speaking for the officers, directors, and members of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, I congratulate Mayor Collins on the excellence of progress in the rebuilding of a great city.

They're Everywhere

You can find at least one Harvard man in Cameroon, Gabon, Mauritania, Nepal, Togo, and Yemen, according to the 13th edition of the Harvard Alumni Directory, just published.

Among the 138,177 living Harvard alumni listed in the 1965 Directory are 9,821 in 123 foreign countries. Seventeen countries—some of them newly created—are represented in Harvard's alumni list for the first time.

Since the last appearance of the Directory in 1960, 21,823 men and women have joined the ranks of Harvard alumni and 7,159 deaths have been reported, according to Ruth C. van Gulden, Alumni Recorder.

Of the total number of University alumni, 49,233 are former students of Harvard College, from the Class of 1887 (1) to the Class of 1964 (1,514). The other 88,944 attended graduate schools at Harvard.

The latest edition contains, for the first time, the names of alumnae of Radcliffe and alumnae of the Harvard Graduate School of Arts and Sciences; both groups of women students received Harvard degrees for the first time in 1963.

Massachusetts, with 27,632 alumni, has the largest Harvard population of any of the states. The fewest in number of alumni are found in Nevada, Wyoming, North Dakota, Alaska, and South Dakota. Hawaii stands 35th.

Downtown Garage

An application to build a five-story, 500-car parking garage on the site of the Loew's Orpheum building on Washington street has been submitted to the City of Boston by Evelyn Richmond of 126 Summer street, Somerville.

Plans show that the $1,900,000 facility would be bound by Washington street, Bromfield, Tremont and Winter streets.

BCH's Dr. Marcus at Denver Meeting

Studies to determine the possible benefits of the use of corticosteroids (secreted by the adrenal glands) to dilate the capillary circulation in patients in the impending or early stages of shock, are being conducted by a member of the Harvard Medical School staff and his associates at the Boston City Hospital.

The possibility that early, then sustained, administration of corticosteroids (the action of which are incompletely understood) to patients in clinical shock might enhance their survival rate, was cited October 26 in a preliminary report presented at the annual meeting of the American Society of Anesthesiologists in Denver, Colorado.

The report was presented by Dr. Phillip S. Marcus, instructor in anesthesia at the Harvard Medical School and director of the Department of Anesthesiology at the Boston City Hospital, and his associates.*

Dr. Marcus' paper was based on a clinically controlled, double-blind study involving two groups of patients, 48 in each group, who were admitted to surgery at the Boston City Hospital in either clinical or impending shock. The criteria used to evaluate clinical shock, as reported by Dr. Marcus, were low blood pressure, irregular heart action, blood loss or a history of the need for preoperative blood transfusions, or the need for drugs to maintain adequate blood pressure. Judgment for impending shock was an acute, sudden and massive blood loss.

Placebos were administered to one group of patients and corticosteroids to the other. All other medications and anesthesia, surgical procedures and fluid and blood replacements were comparable for both groups.

The significance of the use of corticosteroids, said Dr. Marcus, was evident in the first 24 hours, in that none of the patients receiving the drug died during this period. This was in contrast to six deaths recorded in the same time period among the patients who had received placebos. He pointed out, however, that the over-all mortality for both groups was 33 percent.

The time of administration of the corticosteroids, Dr. Marcus believes, is of critical importance. "It would appear," he said, "that most of the earlier reported failures (among other investigators) in the use of steroids were probably due to either too late or too little administration." Each of the patients in the Boston City Hospital study received 125 milligrams of the steroid.

Continued corticosteroid therapy beyond the initial treatment, Dr. Marcus emphasized, "in our belief, could bring about an increase in the eventual survival rate."

Early administration of steroids, Dr. Marcus pointed out, even before the start of fluid replacement therapy, does not further decrease blood pressure. "In fact," he commented, "a rise in blood pressure has often been noted soon after their administration."

Though the action of the corticosteroid is not fully known, Dr. Marcus said:

"It is now felt that steroids act by decreasing the peripheral resistance either by exerting an adrenergic blocking effect (relaxing effect) on the alpha receptors, or by direct action on cells themselves, thus allowing perfusion of vital organs."

*With Dr. John C. Sheehan, associate director, Department of Anesthesiology, and Dr. Francis L. Comunale, resident director of research in the Department of Anesthesiology.

It's Adaptable

The new Boston War Memorial Auditorium is adaptable to almost any type function. Requests have come in to rent it for a hootenanny, jazz festival, and college proms. It was necessary to turn away a rodeo, seating arrangements forbade.

Already the management announces booking up to 1973—the American Dialectic Association. For the next three years it already has 30 percent bookings.

Castle Square Represents Significant Housing Step

The recent construction start of Castle Square's 500 middle income apartments represents a significant step in fulfilling Mayor John F. Collins' goal to provide a substantial stock of new housing for families of moderate means.

Construction activity to date has been largely underground. Some 1,350 caissons, varying in length from 11 to 35 feet, are required to support the reinforced concrete and brick structures. When completed in February, 1966, a total of nearly 6.5 miles of caissons will be installed.

One garden apartment structure off Tremont street has been erected through the second floor. Erection of the superstructure of the four seven-story towers on Tremont street is scheduled for the fall of 1966. The entire development will be completed by late summer, 1967.

To speed construction, a floor system, consisting of precast reinforced concrete planks and cement blocks, is being used. Although new to Boston, this technique is in wide use in Europe and in growing use in the Philadelphia area.

John Druker & Son, managing agent for the development, indicates that some 150 families have already indicated an interest in renting an apartment.

The Castle Square development will include 19 two and four story buildings containing 308 two, three, and four bedroom duplex apartments. These will have the living room, kitchen, dining room area on the first floor and the bedrooms on the second floor.

Private landscaped yards will be available for the first floor apartments. Occupants of the third floor apartments will have roof terraces and balconies.

The Tremont Street buildings will contain 192 one and two bedroom suites over street floor retail shops.

The development will feature landscaped interior courts and arcades, large recreational and sitting areas, private terraces, and a public park. Special "tot lots" for in-

Jaywalk Change

Boston Traffic and Parking Commissioner Thomas F. Carty, acting upon a recommendation of the Citizens' Traffic Advisory Committee, announced that enforcement of Boston's anti-jaywalking law would be postponed from November 1, 1965, to April 1, 1966.

Several contributing factors caused the postponement, he said, namely:

(a) The failure of a manufacturer to supply on schedule to the contractor certain parts necessary to the installation of the new "Walk—Don't Walk" signal lights at 45 very important street intersections.

The contractor consequently has requested an extension of time for his contract. The new lights were to have been important factors in a vigorous program of enforcement.

(b) The recommendation for a later enforcement date from the Massachusetts Department of Public Works. This was based on the future availability of state highway funds for the purchase of additional new "Walk—Don't Walk" signal lights.

(c) The Boston Police Department would like to have an opportunity to activate a second phase of its training program which includes, among other features, the issuance by the police of courtesy compliance cards to jaywalkers.

The cards, bearing a polite reminder to the public about the dangers of jaywalking, will set the stage for the issuance of actual violation tickets next spring.

(d) Although the degree of compliance with the provisions of the Pedestrian Control Law has been splendid and very encouraging, it is believed that more time is necessary in the training phase of the program.

The availability of more equipment and time in this period will be invaluable in the campaign to eliminate careless, suicidal walking habits before police enforcement of the law.

Committee Chairman James H. Fairclough, Jr., said that the extension will aid in carrying out Mayor Collins' wish that "Jaywalkers be taught and not caught." He added that "More than 500,000 'Walk in Safety' leaflets have been distributed in this Boston Pedestrian Lifesaving Campaign. These leaflets, together with the very generous cooperation of all areas of communications media, have strongly influenced the people of this community in changing their walking habits.

"We cannot overlook the support given us by the executive staff of the Boston School Department and the administrators of the parochial schools of the Archdiocese of Boston.

"The Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the business leaders, the speakers' bureau have also been very helpful.

"We ask for and urge the continuing interest of all in our efforts to reduce the startling number of deaths and serious injuries due to careless jaywalking habits," he said.

New Boston . . .

"Reflected in the new and handsome brochure, 'A Window on the New Boston,' are the highlights of Boston's assets in the fields of medicine, education, culture and economics. Also reflected are liabilities—the large and burdensome assessments levied on the city by the State of Massachusetts. There is no action more sorely needed from the Legislature than measures to assist rather than to assess the cities and towns of the commonwealth.

"The City of Boston under the administration of Mayor Collins has traveled far on the road of achievement. And those who have backed him—the majority of the Boston City Council, BRA Administrator Edward J. Logue, and other city officials—deserve the praise of all the segments of our community."

fants and playgrounds for the older children will be provided for safe play. Plantings and shade trees will be placed all along the public ways.

With pedestrian safety in mind, the Castle Square design has eliminated all through vehicular traffic. Pleasant walkways crisscross throughout the development and lead directly to the shopping plaza from the dwelling units.

Architectural plans for the elderly apartments, to be constructed by the Boston Housing Authority, are nearly completed and approval by the Public Housing Authority in New York is expected in the near future. Construction should commence by spring 1966.

The Castle Square development, a part of the 616-acre South End Renewal area, represents the first step in rebuilding this section of the city. The renewal plan for the South End, under which the federal government will contribute approximately $35,000,000, received community approval at the recent public hearing by the Boston Redevelopment Authority. City Council action is expected before the end of the year.

Building Advance

Mayor John F. Collins points out that in the last four years the City of Boston has recorded $151 million in building permits for commercial and industrial space.

Mayor Collins told three hundred members of the Community Builders Council, that by 1975, it is estimated, that $3½ billion in capital investment will have been put into the city.

Mayor Collins further stated that 22 major office buildings and 3,600 apartment units, in 15 buildings, have been built since 1960.

Record Breaker Ahead

Reservations for exhibit space in the 1966 New England Hotel, Motel and Restaurant Show have been coming into the offices of the show's general manager at a record pace.

The entire first floor area of the War Memorial Auditorium in Boston, and about 25 percent of the available second floor space already have been reserved by regional and national suppliers to the lodging and food-service industry, according to Harold R. Dolby, general manager of Hotel Service, Inc., show management.

The 41st annual edition of the industry's largest regional trade show is scheduled to run Tuesday through Thursday, May 3-5, 1966.

A record total of close to 23,000 persons attended the 1965 Show, the first to be held in the Hub's new Auditorium. The '65 exposition occupied the entire first floor (90,000 square feet), with 271 firms displaying their wares and services in 392 booths. In 1966, the exhibits will occupy an additional 30,000 square feet on the second floor.

Pledge cards and literature concerning the United Fund campaign are being distributed to the department today. Company commanders and heads of branch divisions are requested to interview each member of their commands including employees on sick and injured leave and ask them to make a contribution. All pledge cards are to be made out and returned to Headquarters on or before November 2, 1965. hold a number of completed cards while awaiting the receipt of one or two others.

Also issued with this order are subscribers' receipts which company commanders will fill out and give to each member upon receipt of a pledge or a payment. Report envelopes are being sent out to each company on which the company commander will list the amount to be contributed through payroll deduction and also the amount of gifts which are paid in full at the time of the solicitation. Cards of members who request that payroll deductions be made and those which will be billed directly by the Massachusetts Bay United Fund, shall not be placed in the white report envelope, but should be forwarded to Headquarters by October 27, if possible.

The sealed envelopes containing pledge cards and currency will be received at Headquarters by principal clerk and stenographer Mary E. Hourihan, on or before November 2, 1965. Deductions of less than $1 cannot be made on the payroll. There is a space on each card for a member who desires to pledge a certain amount, make a down payment, and have the United Fund bill him for the balance in four payments as indicated on the card or on some particular date to be inserted on the card by the member.

Additional pledge cards and envelopes may be obtained at Headquarters.

TRAFFIC AND PARKING DEPARTMENT.

DUNCAN T. FOLEY,
Supervisor of Personnel.

DEAR SIR:

On July 28, 1965, James E. McLoughlin was appointed as an assistant electrical traffic engineer in this department after certification for permanent employment by the Division of Civil Service with compensation in Grade R-15 of the Compensation Plan at $126 per week.

Mr. McLoughlin is an electrical engineering graduate of Northeastern University. He has worked four years with Comstock & Westcott, Inc., of Cambridge, as a project engineering assistant, designing electrical equipment.

He also has four years of experience with the U. S. Air Force testing and evaluating communication systems.

Prior to his permanent appointment he worked two years provisionally for the City of Boston, 13 months of which were in the Street Lighting Division performing electrical engineering work.

In view of Mr. McLoughlin's exceptional qualifications and because of the fact that we have been attempting for over six years to employ an electrical engineer to be in charge of our new involved electronic traffic signal system, I hereby request that his 2½-year step-rate increment in the position of assistant electrical traffic engineer be determined under the provisions of Rule 9F of the Compensation Plan to be effective October 6, 1965, at the rate of $138.50 per week.

Very truly yours,

Mayor Asks All To Observe Veterans' Day for Its True Significance

(The following statement was made by Mayor John F. Collins in connection with the observance of Veterans' Day, November 11):

"On Veterans' Day, Thursday, November 11, Americans everywhere will join in a solemn tribute to those who have served to make this nation the greatest on the face of the earth. Particularly, we will honor those who have fought in all our wars—those who have given life itself, those who have shed their blood, and those who share the loss and sacrifice of loved ones.

"This nation is great today because every generation has stood ready and willing to preserve those principles on which the United States was founded.

"I urge every Bostonian to pay tribute to those principles and to those men and women who have served it. I urge everyone to show those members of our fighting forces in Viet Nam that their sacrifices, their gallantry, and their devotion are recognized and supported here at home.

"I urge that our flag be displayed at every public building and every home. I ask that we express to our military forces our complete support through the medium of patriotic meetings, parades, and every manner designed to let them know we stand squarely behind them and the cause for which they fight.

"They stand ready to give their lives for us and for their country. They belong to that vast legion which has preserved and will preserve the rich heritage of our founding fathers."

Chamber Statistics

Point Up Progress

The Boston metropolitan area is a $16 billion retail, wholesale, industrial and service market with a labor force exceeding 1,200,000 people according to the latest federal business census analyzed by the Research Department of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

The retail industry, the Chamber reported, with 21,689 establishments employing 154,000 workers, reached a total sales volume in 1963 of $3.87 billion, an increase of $532,000,000 since 1958.

Included in the 1963 totals are 4,057 food stores with sales totaling $946,000,000 or 23.8 percent of the total; 849 automotive concerns accounting for $588,000,000 in sales, or 14.2 percent of the total. The major portion of the sales total—$1.2 billion—was concentrated in the City of Boston.

In wholesale trade, Greater Boston ranked seventh in the nation with total receipts in excess of $8.2 billion, or an annual gain of $260,000,000 since 1958. Merchant wholesalers, those primarily engaged in buying and selling goods on their own account, were re-

Christmas Lights

An appeal for placement of multi-colored lights atop all Boston skyscrapers as a part of the city's 16th Annual Christmas Festival has been made by Mayor Collins.

Cooperation by all tall building operators would provide features which would attract more visitors than to any of the previous festivals, according to the Mayor.

He said he was particularly hopeful of having the 52-story Prudential and 24-story State Street Trust Company buildings illuminated.

Already, the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company and the New England Mutual Life Insurance Companies have announced plans to light the tops of their structures.

Meanwhile, because of the moderate weather, electrical units for the Boston Common display are being placed in readiness for the spectacle.

Massucco Renamed

Melvin J. Massucco, the state's representative on the Boston Redevelopment Authority, has been reappointed to a second five-year term.

Mr. Massucco, who was named to the BRA five years ago by Governor Foster Furcolo, has been a holdover in the nonsalaried post since August.

"A Jewish Library in Every Jewish Home" is again the theme of Jewish Book Month. The Month, which is sponsored by the Jewish Book Council of America, National Jewish Welfare Board, is being observed, this year, from November 19 through December 19.

Headlining the activities of the Boston Public Library, in this connection, will be the appearance of Milton Hindus, at a special program, cosponsored by the Jewish Community Council of Metropolitan Boston. It will be held on Sunday, December 5, in the Lecture Hall of the Central Library building at 2.30 P.M.

Mr. Hindus, Peter and Elizabeth Walkstein Professor of English at Brandeis University, is one of the original thirteen faculty members who began Brandeis' first academic year in 1948. sponsible for 41 percent of the wholesale category's total sales in 1963 of $3.4 billion.

Greater Boston has 5,809 wholesale establishments employing 64,000 workers and generating an annual payroll of more than $421,000,000.

The industrial market of Metropolitan Boston includes 5,386 manufacturing plants, an employment force of over 290,000 workers and an annual payroll of close to $1.8 billion. Since 1958 there has been a 31 percent increase in the industrial payroll here.

Total value added by manufacture in the Boston Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area amounted to over $3 billion in 1963. The high degree of industrial diversification in Greater Boston is noted by the fact that the leading employer, electrical machinery, accounts for only 16 percent of total manufacturing employment.

In the service category, within Greater Boston, there are 14,500 service establishments employing over 61,000 workers, generating an annual payroll in excess of $240,000,000 and realizing receipts of approximately $800,000,000 a year. The Business Services category, which includes consulting, equipment rental, and research laboratories, accounts for 36 percent of total employment in the service industry and 41 percent of the total dollar receipts.

They Travel

In an average four-day period, American motorists travel 5,400 times as far as the Gemini space twins did during their four-day flight, says Tyrex, Inc., the association of rayon tire cord producers.

"While American astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White were zooming through 1.7 million miles of space this summer, their earthbound fellow countrymen were chalking up more than 2 billion miles of road travel," the association said.

Teacher Examination Dates Announced

Examinations for teaching appointments to the Boston public schools will be held at Boston Latin School, Avenue Louis Pasteur, during the month of December.

Special examinations will be held in some subjects on Saturday, December 11, for the convenience of those candidates who reside 75 miles or more from Boston. The regular examinations for local residents will be held during the week following Christmas, December 27-30. No candidate will be allowed to take both the special and regular examinations.

The examinations will be given for high school, junior high school, elementary school, and special class teaching positions. An interview will be conducted with each candidate on the day of the examination.

College seniors are admitted to the examinations without previous teaching experience. A Massachusetts State Certificate in the specific field of the major examination is required. For certification, candidates should apply to the Massachusetts Department of Education, 200 Newbury street, Boston.

Registration for the examination should be made with the Board of Examiners during October and November. The registration fee is $5 for all applicants except veterans.

Sample copies of previous examinations and detailed information may be obtained from the Board of Examiners, eighth floor, 15 Beacon street, Boston, Massachusetts 02108.

Miller Honored

Nearly 650 friends attended a testimonial dinner for retired Detective Sergeant John V. Miller of the Boston police at Moseley's-on-the-Charles in Dedham, recently.

Attorney George Leary was toastmaster. Speakers included Judge Frederick V. McMenimen of Middlesex Probate Court; Judge James Mellen, Charlestown Court; Judge Theodore A. Glynn, Boston

Municipal Court; Judge James Langan, Middleboro Court; Albert O'Neil and John J. Callahan, Boston Licensing Board; Assistant District Attorney George McGonagle, Superintendent Herbert Mulloney, and Deputy Superintendents John T. Fowland and Edward W. Mannix, Boston police; Chief James Murphy, Norwood police, and Captain Clinton Feitman and Captain Wilbur McMillan, Boston police.

Emphasis On History

Boston's historical sites will be back in the spotlight with the construction of a combination subway exit and information center for the Freedom Trail Foundation on the Tremont Street side of the Boston Common and the establishment of the Feritage Center in the Prudential Center.

The present subway exit on Tremont street is being demolished for the new structure which will be financed jointly by the MBTA and a special city fund administered by the Department of Parks.

According to Freedom Trail Foundation President Robert F. Friedmann, the information booth will dispense Freedom Trail booklets describing the 15 historical sites organized into a one and one-half mile walking tour.

In addition, the Foundation hopes to standardize the hours that the sites are open and install broadcast units at various sites. These units would have pretaped descriptions of the histories of the sites. Portable units are also contemplated.

The Heritage Center has donated space to the Chamber of Commerce which plans to set up the Tourist and Historic Information Center.

A Metro-Map, much like the famous maps in the Paris subways, lights up the route and location of a historical site at the touch of a button.

The center will be open 12 hours on every day of the week and will have literature, maps, and brochures on the major attractions of the state.

Annual Christmas Festival

All of the presidents of the Boston commercial and savings banks, as well as the heads of the Boston insurance companies, were asked by Mayor John F. Collins to join with President Lawrence H. Martin of the National Shawmut Bank in the raising of $30,000 to pay the expenses of the 16th Annual Christmas Festival.

The leaders of the retail stores and all of the public utility companies were also requested to aid President Martin in accomplishing his aim. The heads of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, Retail Trade Board, and the Real Estate Board were also included in the invitations.

He urges all of these business leaders to meet with President Martin at the directors' room of the National Shawmut Bank next Monday at 11 A.M. to offer their advice on the easiest and most efficient manner in which to raise the money.

The Christmas Festival has come to be such an important activity in the life of the community, he says, we cannot fail to support it. It is now the biggest and most successful promotion in New England. It not only annually attracts millions of dollars of additional business to the city, but gives the entire area a substantial spiritual stimulation throughout the entire Christmas Season.

"Everybody in the city, from the lowly newspaper boy and bootblack to the leading stores benefit by it. We cannot fail it."

The festival will open on Friday, November 26, and run through the Feast of the Epiphany on January 6. As every year since the festival was founded in 1950 the number of visitors and shoppers has increased, over the preceding year, it is expected this year that upwards of a million and a half people will come here.

Tycoon to young employee: "All I had when I first faced the cold business world was youth, determination and a strong will that left me four hundred thousand dollars."

WELFARE COSTS FOR SEPTEMBER

Following is a summary of the Welfare Department for September:

Caseload activity during September found 1,364 closed cases offsetting 1,284 approvals for a net reduction of 80 cases. However, since there were five client pay-days, costs rose to $4,872,643, an over-all increase of $34,691. Of the 1,515 applications received during the month, 1,012 (66.8 percent) were new; 16.8 percent (259) of the applications processed were rejected or withdrawn.

Old Age Assistance: August's caseload rise above the previous month proved to be only a temporary reversal of what has become a firm pattern of reduction. This month, the anticipated trend reappears, the 11,048 clients being 20 fewer than last month and 303 less than the same month one year ago. The main reasons — closings based chiefly on death and transfer to the Medical Assistance for Aged Category. Cost of the program for September was $1,014,904, 3.1 percent below August expenditures.

Medical Assistance for Aged: In contrast to the Old Age Assistance Program, this category has shown a 12.3 percent increase of 831 since September, 1964, with this month's addition of 48 clients bringing the current total to 7,603. The $1,155,355 spent during September, is 26.5 percent more than was required twelve months ago to underwrite Medical Assistance for Aged. Of 353 applications considered during the month, 77.1 percent were approved. Death accounted for 54.8 percent of the closings.

Aid to Families with Dependent Children: The addition of 69 families resulted in a revised caseload of 9,159, with adjusted costs totaling $1,852,243. Unemployed fathers accounted for more than 10 percent of the 279 new applications, more than 20 percent of 194 reapplications. The majority of requests for assistance were based on marriage failure, while reemployment was the chief cause of closings.

Disability Assistance: The $617,276 spent in behalf of disabled recipients was nearly evenly divided between maintenance and medical costs, with more than one third of the latter allocated to Nursing Home care. With 133 closings exceeding 122 approvals, the caseload dropped 11 below last month but still showed a gain of 322 above September, 1964. Of the 133 cases closed 18 were due to clients' rehabilitation to a point where they were medically discharged by the State Medical Review Team as being no longer disabled.

General Relief: With 347 approvals falling far short of balancing 513 closings the General Relief caseload dropped to 2,490 this month, a loss of 166 cases. The basis of 157 closings was no further request for aid. However, the $232,865 cost of the program did not represent an expenditure decrease due to September being a five-payday month.

DUNCAN T. FOLEY,

On November 3, 1965, Kenneth L. Bragg was appointed permanent Budget Analyst in the Budget Division of this department after certification by the Division of Civil Service.

Mr. Bragg served as Budget Analyst, on a provisional basis, from January 16, 1964, to September 7, 1965, inclusive, performing his duties in a highly acceptable manner.

It is my opinion, because of this prior satisfactory service, that the experience thus gained makes his individual services more valuable to the Budget Division in the position to which he was appointed.

Therefore, I request that his 1/2- and 1 1/2-year step-rate increments in the position of Budget Analyst be determined under the provisions of Rule 9(f) of the Compensation Plan, to be effective November 10, 1965.

HENRY T. BRENNAN,

Library to Review Rich Polish History

The year 1966 will mark the 1,000th anniversary of the acceptance of Catholicism by Mieszko, Prince of Poland, and a member of that country's first historical dynasty. Mieszko's baptism, although it neither initiated nor climaxed the Christianization of Poland, was one of those events in history which, while important in themselves, are more significant for the effects which flow from them.

The Prince welcomed the Catholic Church into his country in its western or Latin, rather than its eastern or Slavic, garb. This in turn encouraged the advent of influences from other western countries—Italy, France, Germany, Spain, and Holland, for example. Gradually, the loosely-knit, primitive tribes were drawn into the circle of nations formed by the Judaeo-Christian, Greco-Roman cultural heritage of the western world rather than the more Oriental civilizations of their eastern neighbors.

In commemoration of this occasion, the Library, in cooperation with the Massachusetts Federation of Polish Women's Clubs, Inc., has prepared a colorful and enlightening exhibit which is being shown, for the entire month, in the Main Lobby and the North and South Corridors of the Central Library building.

One of the focal points of the exhibit is a showcase honoring the Jagiellonian University of Cracow, founded in 1634 by King Casimir the Great. Copernicus, the noted astronomer, was a student at this university, and Boston's Dr. Paul Dudley White, the eminent heart specialist who treated President Eisenhower, was awarded an honorary doctor's degree there in 1964, at ceremonies marking the school's 600th anniversary. Many books, posters, and pamphlets have been lent by the Rector especially for this exhibit.

Photostatic copies of rare historical documents have also been included. The Act of Union, promulgated at Lublin in 1569, which united Poland and Lithuania is being shown, as well as documents on religious freedom and rights for Jews, Protestants, and non-Catholic Ruthenians.

Heavenly!

When a visitor sentimentally remarked to Dr. George Hodges, dean of the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Mass., that in heaven there would be no partings, the busy dean replied tartly that what he hoped for was a place with no meetings.

Business Heads Combine To Underwrite Expenses of "Greatest Festival"

The presidents of all Boston banks and insurance companies have been called upon to support Lawrence H. Martin, president of the National Shawmut Bank, in the drive to raise $30,000 for this year's Christmas Festival on Boston Common.

This year's festival is expected to be the greatest ever.

Mayor John F. Collins also called on the heads of local retail stores and public utilities to help the festivities which begin November 26.

A meeting was held Monday in the directors' room of the National Shawmut Bank to discuss ideas and proposals on ways to raise money for the project.

Among those present were Davis Taylor, publisher, the Boston Globe; George Akerson, publisher, the Boston Herald; Harold Kern, publisher, the Record-American, Sunday Advertiser, and William H. McCormack, representing Boston radio and television stations.

Also present were: Edward H. Mitton, chairman of the board, Jordan Marsh Company; Gordon W. Bryant, president, Boston Retail Trade Board; Prescott C. Crafts, vice-president, First National Bank of Boston; William J. Devine, Park Commissioner.

Also Robert M. Morgan, president, Boston Five Cents Savings Bank; C. F. Avilia, president, Boston Edison Company; Frank Sawyer, president, Checker Taxi Company, and D. F. Hannon, Eastern Air Lines, representing the airlines industry.

Telephone Pioneers

On November 9, Mayor Collins met with representatives of the Boston Life Member Club, Telephone Pioneers of America, a group of 2,000 retired telephone company employees, age 65 and over.

The Mayor signed an illuminated document which declares Monday, November 15, as "Telephone Pioneer Safety Day" in Boston.

The retirees have volunteered en masse to support the Mayor's Boston Pedestrian Lifesaving Campaign and in so doing they will distribute anti-jaywalking cards to the 20,000 commuters who pass through North and South Stations on Monday, November 15, between the hours of 7 and 9 A.M.

Both men and women will take part. Some of the volunteers are in their 70's and 80's. All will wear distinguishing armbands.

We believe that both the signing of the declaration and the actual distribution of the cards to the commuters present possible photographic coverage.

Jaywalkers To Get "Courtesy" Cards

For the next five months, Boston police will hand out "courtesy compliance cards" to jaywalkers containing tips for safe walking.

Concurrent with the card program will be a crackdown on motorists who drive through red and yellow, or "Walk" pedestrian signals, or who block painted crosswalks.

November 1 originally was scheduled for the start of the enforcement of Boston's Pedestrian Control Law wherein violators would receive tickets and pay fines.

In mid-October city officials postponed enforcement at the suggestion of the Citizens' Traffic Advisory Committee. April 1 has been set as the new date in order to enable a contractor to install "Walk—Don't Walk" lights at 45 Back Bay intersections.

At the same time it was noted that police requested a delay in enforcement so that they could conduct an in-depth indoctrination program via cards to the public containing vital points of the anti-jaywalking law.

More than 200 uniformed members of the Boston Police Traffic Division have been supplied with the 3 x 5-inch cards listing proper walking techniques.

Police Commissioner Edmund L. McNamara pointed out that the Steamrolling Shaw House and Cambridge, the League Champion Grove Hall Neighborhood Youth Corps basketball team captured an early lead last week as fall-winter play began.

Beating soundly the Shaw quintet, 69-39, and squeaking by Cambridge, 69-64, the sharpshooting Grove Hall boys, sponsored by Action for Boston Community Development, now lead the Inter-City league. Their 2-0 record is followed by East Boston and Cambridge, both 1-1, and Shaw House and South Boston, both winless.

Grove Hall's narrow victory over Cambridge was similar to the decisive game between the two clubs last month. In that final game of the summer season, Grove Hall copped the league championship with a come-from-behind win.

Cambridge is still a threat, only one game behind in the standings. In the opening game at Technical High in Roxbury, Cambridge rolled over East Boston 65-49. The East Boston club went on to win by forfeit over South Boston in the other league tilt.

At a reorganizational meeting, Bill Rich and Ralph Finocchio, both of East Boston, were elected president and secretary, respectively. Two members of each team were elected to a governing council together with team coaches and counselors. Voting is done by team members only, however.

League play will continue on Tuesdays at Technical and Thursdays at Campbell Junior High in November.

anti-jaywalking law can only be effective when both motorists and pedestrians realize that each must take the proper turn in using the streets.

He said that the law already provides stiff fines for drivers found guilty of running pedestrian lights, while fines for blocking crosswalks range from $2 to $5 depending on the area of the city.

The wording on the courtesy compliance cards states: "YOU ARE JAYWALKING! Please: CROSS only within the crosswalks; CROSS only at corners; CROSS only on WALK—or with the lights; PUSH pedestrian signal button; OBEY traffic officers' signals. YOUR cooperation could save YOUR life, Boston Police Department."

TB Association School Project

The Boston and Cambridge Tuberculosis Associations, in cooperation with the National Tuberculosis Association and the Columbia Scholastic Press, are sponsoring the twenty-ninth School Press Project.

The School Press Project provides an opportunity for young people to produce news stories, features, editorials, cartoons, and/or art work on events and people important to the health and well being of their community. The topics from which students may choose this year are tuberculosis, other respiratory diseases, including such problems as cigarette smoking and air pollution, and health careers. The Project seeks to alert young people to their responsibility for their own and their neighbor's health, to encourage responsible citizenship, and to raise the standards of school journalism. It offers participants an opportunity to win local and national recognition. Last year, the Carter Junior High School in Chelsea, the St. Dominic Savio High School in East Boston, and the Catholic Memorial High School in West Roxbury were three schools, sponsored by the Boston Tuberculosis Association, that won national recognition.

A School Press Conference was held on Thursday, November 4, at the Lemuel Shattuck Hospital in Jamaica Plain to signal the official opening of the 1965 School Press Project. Dr. Aram Tomasian, Director of the Pulmonary Function Laboratory, Mt. Auburn Hospital, Cambridge, moderated this conference which featured John Lannon, Medical Writer for the Herald-Traveler, discussing "The Do's and Don'ts of Journalism." A film,

"Point of View" left many students concerned about smoking, especially the smoking by junior and senior high school students. Dr. Tomasian answered questions posed by the group. Another feature of the conference was a talk given by Dr. John M. Tyler, Director of the Cardio-pulmonary Laboratory at the Lemuel Shattuck. He took a slightly different approach to the subject of Health Careers. Through a hypothetical case history he showed his audience how many varied and different careers in the field of health were involved in the care of just one patient. The conference concluded with a tour of the hospital, where students were able to actually see people at work in many of the careers discussed by Dr. Tyler.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

October 26.

Personnel Order No. 816.

Detectives Arthur Linsky and Aristedes N. Manos and Patrolmen Dennis F. Casey and Willis D. Saunders, Vice Control Unit, Criminal Investigation Division, and Patrolman Robert E. Lawler, Night Investigating Unit, Criminal Investigation Division, and Patrolman John L. Ridlon, District 5, formerly assigned to Vice Control Unit, Criminal Investigation Division, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each granted one day additional vacation.

On July 1, 1965, Detective Linsky and Patrolman Casey received information that a large quantity of heroin was to be delivered to known sellers on consignment. Detectives Linsky, Manos with Patrolmen Casey, Saunders and Ridlon, were assigned a twenty-four-hour surveillance of the suspects in order to ascertain their method of operation.

One of the suspects occupied a room in a second floor apartment at 199 Columbia road, Dorchester. This suspect known as "Lenny" and four known sellers of heroin were observed entering and leaving these premises during early morning hours.

As a result of information application was made in the Dorchester District Court for a search warrant for drugs and implements for the second floor of 199 Columbia road and this was granted on August 2, 1965. About 10.30 P.M., Saturday, August 7, 1965, by virtue of the search warrant, officers entered the premises which was occupied at the time by Marv Mills, 64 years, single, and a search of the apartment revealed sixteen (16) large white glassen bags of white powder alleged to be heroin and two hypodermic needles and syringes.

Patrolmen Ridlon and Lawler received information that the suspect "Lenny" had just returned from New York. A stake out of the apartment was made and the suspect was arrested as he was about to enter. A search of his person disclosed a brown paper bag in his left coat pocket containing three hundred and sixty white bags of white powder alleged to be heroin.

The suspect was conveyed to Police Headquarters where he was identified as one, Leonard Stephens, 53 years, single, of 32 East 169th street, Bronx, New York. He was fingerprinted and photographed and then returned to District 11 where he was booked for unlawful possession of heroin with intent to deliver and held for appearance in the Dorchester District Court on Monday, August 9, 1965.

On Monday, August 9, 1965, he was arraigned before Judge Jerome Troy on a series of narcotic charges and his case was continued to August 18, 1965, and the suspect was held in $100,000 bail.

On August 18, 1965, the officers appeared before Judge Troy who found probable cause on the charge of unlawful possession of heroin with intent to deliver and he declined jurisdiction on the other charges. The subject Leonard Stephens was bound over to the Suffolk grand jury and bail was continued at $100,000.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty, patience and tireless efforts of these officers, who without regard for their own time, through continued observations and investigations resulted in the arrest of Leonard Stephens and the seizure of the largest quantity of heroin ever brought into this city, and prevented a New York syndicate from operating in this city.

Personnel Order No. 817.

Patrolmen John J. Enright and Joseph A. Conforti, Tactical Patrol Force, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted two days' additional vacation.

About 1:15 A.M., Friday, August 20, 1965, Patrolmen Enright and Conforti, assigned to plain-clothes duty and while patrolling in Washington street, observed three unidentified colored males viciously assaulting a white man and removing property from his pockets. The three culprits fled the scene on foot and after a lengthy chase and a violent struggle they were apprehended and placed under arrest for unarmed robbery. They were identified as: Robert Nelson, 28 years, 1 Elliot terrace, Roxbury, Leon Green, 22 years, 15 Annunciation road, Roxbury, and Albert Whitley, 36 years, 406 Columbia road, Dorchester. They were identified by Anthony McGaffigan, 71 Jamaica street, Jamaica Plain, the victim of the assault.

The prisoners were removed to District 10 where the property of Anthony McGaffigan was found on the person of Albert Whitley.

They were arraigned in Roxbury District Court where Judge Charles I. Taylor found probable cause and each defendant was bound over to the grand jury. Bail of $10,000, double surety was placed on each man.

On September 7, 1965, evidence was presented to the grand jury and indictments were returned against the three men. They are presently in custody awaiting trial in the Suffolk Superior Court.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the alertness, keen observation, and immediate action taken by the officers which prevented more serious injury to the victim and resulted in the apprehension of three vicious criminals, all of whom possess long criminal records.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the award of contracts, without advertising, based on the following communications:

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

ENGINEERING SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On July 20, 1965, your Honor approved a request for authorization to dispense with public solicitation for proposals and to enter into a written agreement with John T. Yunits, doing business as Yunits Engineering Company, an engineering firm with offices at 11 Technical Drive, Holbrook, Mass., for complete engineering services in connection with proposed alterations, repairs, and renovations in order to effect modernization of Police District 4 located at 7 Warren avenue, Boston.

The amount set forth in the written request addressed to your Honor in connection with the estimated construction cost as of July 13, 1965, was recited as forty-four thousand ($44,000) dollars. Subsequent to the date of the letter submitted to your Honor, the estimated cost of the subject alteration work has been reconsidered and we now find that a more realistic assessment of the alterations, repairs, and renovations which need to be constructed at 7 Warren avenue in all probability will cost the sum of eighty-four thousand ($84,000) dollars.

It is true that this represents a substantial increase over the original estimate and is founded upon rising costs and a reconsideration of the amount and kind of work needed to be performed at 7 Warren avenue in order to place it in a physical condition which will make it a more efficient utility to carry out the object and purposes caused by the greatly increased number of personnel using this facility.

As a result of the increased cost of construction work, the engineer's fee is now estimated to be in the sum of seven thousand nine hundred and eighty (7,980) dollars based on the original rate of nine and five tenths (9.5) percent as taken from the "B" rate of the American Society of Civil Engineers 1959 recommended schedule rates.

As a result of the foregoing anticipated cost of construction, the maximum liability of the city under the terms of the proposed contract as of the date of its execution shall in no event exceed in the aggregate the sum of seven thousand nine hundred and eighty (7,980) dollars.

I hereby propose, subject to your Honor's approval, to amend the original letter of award dated July 13, 1965.

Respectfully submitted,

EDMUND L. McNAMARA,
Police Commissioner.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

REMOVING SNOW

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

As a result of publicly advertising for bids, which were opened and read on August 19, 1965, for removing snow, etc., in District 3, Dorchester-North, I recommended and your Honor approved on August 31, 1965, the awarding of the contract to Northeastern Realty Trust, the lowest bidder, in the amount of $49,175. Said bidder was notified of the acceptance of his proposal on September 3, 1965, was furnished the contract documents for execution at that time, has failed to return the signed contract and executed bonds which he is required to do within six days after notice of acceptance, and the bidder has failed to return calls made from this office inquiring as to his intentions.

Therefore, on October 8, 1965, I sent a letter to the Northeastern Realty Trust informing them that, because of their failure to observe the requirements of the proposal, the City of Boston proposes to enter into a contract with another contractor for doing this work.

I entered into negotiations with Mr. Vincent Milano of the Milano Brothers, Inc., and he has agreed to enter into a contract at the same unit prices as the low bidder except for two items, the rates for plowing with two axle and three axle trucks. The bid prices were $13 per hour and $17.50 per hour, respectively. The average prices for these two items in the thirteen contracts recommended for award were $16 per hour and $19 per hour, respectively. These are the prices requested by Mr. Milano and agreed to by me. Incidentally, these are the prices being paid to the refuse collection contractors for the use of their trucks in snowplowing work and will be received by Mr. Milano under their contract (under the name of Jeffries Disposal Corporation) for the collection of refuse and garbage in this same Dorchester-North district. Changing these two unit prices increases the contract amount by $2,400 for a total of $51,575, which is $4,845 lower than the second bidder's price of $56,420 for this district, and this second bidder has been awarded a contract in another district.

Milano Brothers, Inc., has the equipment, personnel, and experience necessary for doing this work and I believe it to be in the best interest of the city to enter into a contract with this firm.

I therefore respectfully request your approval to dispense with public advertising and to enter into a contract for removing snow and furnishing labor and equipment for the purpose of supplementing the department forces and equipment in connection with the work of keeping highways and streets open following snowstorms in Public Works Area 3, District 3, Dorchester-North, to the Milano Brothers, Inc., 316 Marginal street, East Boston, Mass., in the amount of $51,575.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN F. FLAHERTY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

CONTRACT AWARDED

PAINTING AND ALTERATIONS.

For painting and alterations, Broadway Bridge, South Boston, from Foundry street to Lehigh street, awarded to Melville Constructors, Inc., and Brendan Engineering Corporation, in the amount of $73,309.

Other bid was: Martin J. Kelly Company, Inc., $83,300.

When Doctors Agree

What is self-confidence? Well, there's the chef who dines on his own cooking. But there's a more impressive example: the doctor who follows his own advice. And it's pleasant to report that a good many of the latter are practicing what they preach, notably in one important area affecting health: cigarette smoking.

This information comes via a questionnaire launched by a medical journal and answered by more than 60,000 doctors. It turned up some remarkable facts. For example, only 22 percent of the reporting physicians were cigarette smokers, a drop of nearly 60 percent compared to a similar survey made 10 years earlier.

DECLARATION OF WORLD LAW DAY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor.

DECLARATION

Whereas, The United Nations General Assembly has designated the year 1965 as International Cooperation Year; and

Whereas, The President of the United States has proclaimed 1965 as International Cooperation Year for the United States; and

Whereas, International cooperation is essential to the achievement of peaceful world order; and

Whereas, The basic foundation for the peaceful existence of mankind within nations and among nations is legal institutions and rules of law; and

Whereas, Rules of law enable men and nations to avoid conflict and legal institutions provide forums for the peaceful resolution of such conflicts when they arise; and

Whereas, The expansion of the Rule of Law in the World Community requires universal agreement on principles, terminology, treaties and conventions, and such agreement requires public support for a world ruled by law; and

Whereas, It is essential that the minds and hearts of men of good will of all nations be focused upon the necessity of world peace through law to avoid disaster and possibly human annihilation as a result of an accelerating arms race; now therefore

I, John F. Collins, Mayor of the City of Boston, do hereby declare Monday, September 13, 1965, as WORLD LAW DAY in the City of Boston. I call upon all public and private officials, members of the legal profession, citizens, and all men of good will to arrange appropriate observances and ceremonies in courts, schools, and universities, and other public and private places where man's need of international law may be recognized.

RELEASE OF STREET PERMIT BOND OF TRANSAMERICA INSURANCE COMPANY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 29, 1965.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

I transmit herewith for the consideration of your Honorable Body a communication received by me this day from the Commissioner of Public Works concerning the release of Transamerica Insurance Company of its liability on a so-called street permit bond in the sum of $20,000, given to the city on March 31, 1905.

I also submit herewith, and recommend the adoption of, an order to effectuate the release of such liability accruing on and after March 31, 1965, when a new street permit bond in the same amount was given to the city in place of the original bond.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department.
July 28, 1965.

Hon. John F. Collins,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

At the present time, Boston Low Tension Wire Association has on file in the Permit Office of this department two street permit bonds each in the amount of $20,000. The first bond was given on March 31, 1905, by Boston Low Tension Wire Association with American Surety Company of New York, as surety. The second bond was given on March 31, 1965, by the Boston Low Tension Wire Association with the Aetna Insurance Company, as surety. The latter bond was filed and intended to be used in place of the previous bond.

The Transamerica Insurance Company, successor to American Surety Company of New York, requests that it be relieved of liability as surety on the bond filed on March 31, 1905. This is agreeable to me. Thus, I have caused to be prepared and recommend that you submit to the City Council for approval, the enclosed order which, if adopted, would release Transamerica Insurance Company as successor to American Surety Company of New York, as surety, from all liability accruing after March 31, 1965, on the March 31, 1905, bond.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN F. FLAHERTY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Whereas, On March 31, 1905, Boston Low Tension Wire Association furnished a bond to the City of Boston for $20,000, with American Surety Company of New York, as surety, which has been succeeded by Transamerica Insurance Company, the condition of said bond being:

"that if Boston Low Tension Wire Association, Boston, Massachusetts, has received or shall hereafter receive, any permit from the Superintendent of Streets, to occupy, or make an opening in, any public way, and shall faithfully discharge and perform every duty and requirement imposed by statute, ordinance or regulation upon persons occupying, or making openings in, public ways, conform to all directions of the Superintendent of Streets relating to the work done under such permit, and pay all expenses and damages incurred by the city or recovered from it by reason of such occupation, opening or work, the obligation shall become of no effect; otherwise it shall continue in full force."

which bond was presumably deemed satisfactory by the then Superintendent of Streets; and

Whereas, On March 31, 1965, Boston Low Tension Wire Association furnished a bond to the City of Boston for $20,000, with Aetna Insurance Company, as surety, the condition of said new bond corresponding to the condition of said bond furnished on March 31, 1965, which new bond was deemed satisfactory by the Commissioner of Public Works; now therefore it is hereby Ordered, That Transamerica Insurance Company, as successor to said American Surety Company of New York, be, and they hereby are, severally released from all liability on their part accruing on and after said March 31, 1965, on the aforesaid bond given on March 31, 1965, by Boston Low Tension Wire Association with American Surety Company of New York, as surety.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ESTABLISHING FREEDOM TRAIL COMMISSION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, August 23, 1965.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

One of the statutes enacted at the current session of the Legislature is chapter 625 of the Acts of 1965 entitled "An Act Establishing a Freedom Trail Commission in the City of Boston." The basic objective of this law, for which I petitioned, is to give an official status to Boston's Freedom Trail and to clarify the city's power to mark it.

Since the act must be accepted before it becomes effective, I submit herewith, and recommend you adopt, an order accepting it.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

Ordered, That chapter 625 of the Acts of 1965 entitled "An Act Establishing a Freedom Trail Commission in the City of Boston" be, and the same hereby is, accepted.

President TIERNEY in the Chair.

On motion of Councilor Hines, the rules were suspended and the foregoing order was passed.

CREATING A DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HOSPITALS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, September 7, 1965.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen:

An extensive study of the Health Department and the Hospital Department, as respectively now constituted, resulted, in a report to me in March, 1965, recommending a merger of their functions in the interest of promoting improved care of the sick as well as better protection for the health of those who live in, and come to, this city. A copy of that report is enclosed for your information.

To enable Boston to implement that report, the Legislature with the Governor's approval has enacted Chapter 656 of the Acts of 1965 entitled "An Act Creating in the City of Boston a New Department of Health and Hospitals Under the Charge of a Board, Incorporating said Board for certain purposes, Establishing New Divisions in the Office of the City Clerk and the Housing Inspection Department of said City, and Transferring to said New Department and Divisions the Functions of, and Abolishing, the Health and Hospital Departments of Said City."

One of the express terms of this somewhat lengthy statute is that it shall not take effect until accepted by the Mayor and City Council of Boston. For the reasons set forth at length in the enclosed report, I believe this legislation merits acceptance. Accordingly, I recommend that you adopt the order transmitted herewith accepting said chapter 656.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

Ordered, That chapter 656 of the Acts of 1965 entitled "An Act Creating in the City of Boston a New Department of Health and Hospitals Under the Charge of a Board, Incorporating Said Board for Certain Purposes, Establishing New Divisions in the Office of the City Clerk and the Housing Inspection Department of Said City, and Transferring to Said New Department and Divisions the Functions of, and Abolishing, the Health and Hospital Department of Said City" be, and the same is hereby is, accepted.

(Annexed hereto is the report referred in the foregoing message.)

Referred to the Committee on Hospitals.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF CITY COUNCIL RE PRISONS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Law Department, August 31, 1965.
To the Honorable the City Council.
Gentlemen:

This is in response to the order passed by your Honorable Body on August 9 requesting my advice as to your powers, duties and obligations concerning a report respecting conditions at the Suffolk County Jail which on August 6 the Finance Commission submitted to you as inspectors of prisons in Boston.

The inspection of prisons is covered by G. L., c. 126, ss. 1, 2 and 3, as follows:

"SECTION 1. The county commissioners shall be inspectors of the prisons in their counties. They shall twice in each year, at intervals of not exceeding eight months, themselves or by a committee of two of their members, visit all the prisons in their county, and fully examine into everything relative to the government, discipline and police thereof; and as soon as may be after each inspection, the committee shall make and subscribe a detailed report to the commissioners of the condition of each prison as to health, cleanliness and discipline at the time of inspection, the number of prisoners confined there within the preceding six months or since the last inspection, the causes of confinement, the number of prisoners usually confined in one room, the distinction, if any, usually observed in the treatment of the different classes of prisoners, the punishments inflicted, any evils or defects in the construction, discipline or management of such prisons, the names of prisoners who have been discharged or pardoned or who have died or escaped, and any violation or neglect of law relative to such prisons, with the causes, if known, of the violation or neglect."

"SECTION 2. When the commissioners or any of them visit any of said prisons, the sheriff, master, keeper or other officer in charge thereof shall admit them, when required, into every apartment of such prison, exhibit all books, precepts, documents, accounts and papers relative to the affairs of the prison or to the detention or confinement of any person therein, which may be required, and give such aid as they request in the performance of their duties. The commissioners or their committee may examine on oath, administered by one of them, either by written interrogatories, to be answered in writing and subscribed, or otherwise as they may direct, any officer, keeper or other person relative to the affairs or management of any prison, and they may also converse with any prisoner apart, and without the presence of any officer or keeper."

"SECTION 3. If it appears to the commissioners, from the report of their committee or otherwise, that any law relative to prisons has been violated or neglected in their county, they shall forthwith give notice thereof to the district attorney."

In Suffolk County, there are no County Commissioners. Under G. L., c. 34, s. 4, the Mayor and City Council have in Boston the powers and perform the duties of County Commissioners. The implication of the statute just cited is that for the exercise of the powers and the performance of the duties thereby imposed, the Mayor and City Council are not to meet jointly but are to act separately as they commonly do in the discharge of their other functions. See Union Street Railway Co. v. Mayor of New Bedford, 253 Mass. 304, 313, and especially McCourt v. Mayor and City Council of Boston, 254 Mass. 100, 102. The Finance Commission's communication was thus properly addressed to your Honorable Body as the agency initially concerned.

The above-quoted statutory provisions respecting the inspection of prisons, insofar as currently relevant, have not been materially changed since they were first enacted in R. S. (1835), c. 143, ss. 28-33. After comparing the provisions of the Revised Statutes with the commissioners' report which led to those provisions, I am of the opinion that the above-quoted G. L., c. 126, ss. 1-3, are to be construed as permitting but two inspections a year with interrogation of prisoners and prison personnel only in the course of such inspections. That is to say, I find in G. L., c. 126, ss. 1-3, no authority for a public hearing, for the interrogation is to occur when the inspectors "visit" the prison. In my opinion, the situation is not changed by G. L., c. 233, s. 8, under which witnesses may be summoned to attend and testify and to produce books and papers at a hearing before the City Council and certain others as to matters within their authority; because the City Council acts under G. L., c. 126, ss. 1-3, not as a City Council but as Inspectors of Prisons, and Inspectors of Prisons are not among those mentioned in G. L., c. 233, s. 8. At the outset, therefore, I must advise you that you have no power or duty to hold a public hearing relative to the matters involved in the Finance Commission's report. To avoid misunderstanding, I should perhaps add, as Corporation Counsel John A. Sullivan wrote you on February 24, 1914, that of course, when you conduct an investigation incident to passing upon appropriations for county expenditures, a public hearing to which G. L., c. 233, s. 8, applies can be held.

The report submitted to you by the Finance Commission, in addition to setting forth details concerning certain jail breaks, deals with evils alleged to exist currently in the management of the jail. Obviously, the next time the jail is visited by you or your committee, the report on such inspection should disclose whether the practices of which the Finance Commission complains continue at the time of such inspection and if so, whether you believe them to be defects in the management of the jail which should be corrected. If such inspection is made by the City Council as a body, the President would preside thereat; otherwise, the Chairman of the visiting committee. The cost of a stenographic transcript of interrogations at the jail would be chargeable to the contractual services item in the appropriation for the City Council.

As more fully appears from the above-mentioned report of the commissioners which led to the passage of the Revised Statutes, the objective of the inspection report is to furnish the executive and legislative departments of the government with authentic information of the condition of the prisons. In short, it would not be incumbent upon the sheriff to do what the inspection report might recommend. The facts disclosed by the inspection report, however, might lead to proceedings against the sheriff. This would be especially so if violation or neglect of law were disclosed which G. L., c. 126, s. 3, requires you to report to the District Attorney.

It is not within my province to speak to your inquiry whether it would have been better for the Finance Commission to have submitted its report to the District Attorney rather than the City Council, as no question of law is thereby presented.

Respectfully,

ARTHUR G. COFFEY, Corporation Counsel.

Placed on file.

PAYMENT BY BOSTON HOUSING AUTHORITY IN LIEU OF TAXES.

September 9, 1965.

Boston City Council.

Dear Councillor Tierney:

The Boston Housing Authority is developing two housing projects, one on Lincoln street and Everett street in the Allston district and the other on Morton street, in the Forest Hills district, pursuant to approval already given by the Boston City Council.

Section 402 of the Housing Act of 1954 (PL-560 83rd Congress) amending the Housing Act of 1937, as amended, provides that prior to the execution of an Annual Contributions Contract, the Local Authority shall notify the Governing Body of the locality of its estimate of the annual amount of payments in lieu of taxes which will be made for the projects, and of the amount of taxes which would be levied if the property were privately owned. RULING RE OBJECTIVES OF URBAN RE-NEWAL PROGRAM.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Law Department, September 24, 1965.

To the Honorable the City Council.

Gentlemen:

By vote of your Honorable Body at its meeting on September 8, there has been sent to me the action taken earlier at the same meeting on a resolution offered by City Councillor William J. Foley, Jr., for an amendment of the objectives of the urban renewal program in eight specified respects.

It appears that in acting upon this resolution the City Council invoked the parliamentary rule of dividing the question. As my predecessor in office wrote your Honorable Body on March 31, 1958, whether parliamentary maneuvers are in accordance with rules of parliamentary procedure presents no question of law upon which a corporation counsel can express an opinion, but a question within the province of the City Council's presiding officer whose duty it is to decide all questions of order subject to appeal to the City Council itself. This would seem to be especially apt where, as here, the matter under consideration is a resolution not affecting legal rights. I must, therefore, refrain from expressing any opinion on the matter.

Respectfully,

ARTHUR G. COFFEY,
Corporation Counsel.

Placed on file.

REQUEST FOR MODIFIED URBAN RE-NEWAL PLAN FOR NORTH HARVARD PROJECT AREA.

Coun. IANNELLA offered the following:

Whereas, The Boston Redevelopment Authority has prepared a plan for the North Harvard Urban Renewal Project Area, which plan calls for the complete demolition of all buildings on an area of approximately six and one-half acres in the North Harvard Urban Renewal Project Area in the Allston section of Brighton, which urban renewal plan has received all approvals as required by law; and

Whereas, The present policy of the Boston Redevelopment Authority is stated to be conservation and rehabilitation of urban renewal areas carried out with the support of locally responsible groups; and

Whereas, The Boston Redevelopment Authority has power to modify any urban renewal plan not completely carried out; and

Whereas, The City Council of the City of Boston has power to approve any such modified urban renewal plan; and

Whereas, The residents of the North Harvard Area have offered for the consideration of the Blue Ribbon Panel appointed by the Mayor of the City of Boston a modified urban renewal plan calling for the conservation and rehabilitation of existing structures, the reconveyance in most cases of parcels taken by eminent domain to their original owners where structures still stand thereon, and the construction of low-income housing on vacant portions of the North Harvard Urban Renewal Project Area; now, therefore be it

Resolved, By the City Council of the City of Boston as follows:

1. That it is hereby found and determined to be in the best interests of the residents of the North Harvard Area and of the City of Boston that the plan dated September 15, 1965, offered by the residents for conservation and rehabilitation of existing structures and the construction of low-income housing with the aid of new financing aids available under the Housing Act of 1965 or a plan similar thereto is an appropriate modification of the existing urban renewal plan for the North Harvard Urban Renewal Project Area (Project Mass. R-54).

2. That the Boston Redevelopment Authority is urged to consider said plan dated September 15, 1965, or a plan similar thereto for adoption by the Boston Redevelopment Authority as a modified urban renewal plan for the North Harvard Urban Renewal Project Area.

Referred to the Committee on Urban Renewal.

CONSIDER WAVERLY STREET PROJECT TOGETHER WITH NORTH HARVARD STREET PROJECT.

Coun. W. J. FOLEY offered the following:

Whereas, There is in process in the Brighton-Allston area of the City of Boston an urban renewal project known as the Waverly Street Project; and

Whereas, The said Waverly Street Project comes under Massachusetts Chapter 121A of the General Laws, Limited Dividend Project, involving and under direction by the Urban Development Corporation; and

Whereas, The said project area is 200,000 square feet more or less in extent; and

Whereas, The said project area is bounded by Waverly street, Portsmouth street, Lincoln street, and South Waverly street; and

Whereas, The said project is also unique in that there is no reference to the Boston City Council for any approvals in connection with this type of project; and

Whereas, It is important that the City Council be informed as to this part of our total urban renewal activity; be it therefore

Resolved, That the Committee on Urban Renewal do also consider the Waverly Street Project and the performance thereof in association with the deliberations on the previous resolution concerning the North Harvard Street Project.

Referred to the Committee on Urban Renewal.

LEGISLATION RE SAFETY LEVERS ON HOME REFRIGERATORS.

Coun. HINES offered the following:

Resolved, That in view of the tragic deaths of three children from Dorchester due to the design of a refrigerator the attention of United States Senators Edward Kennedy and Leverett Saltonstall be directed to the possibility of submitting legislation prohibiting the sale in interstate commerce of home refrigerators unless such mechanisms contain safety levers or devices in the interior of same, making self-entrapment by children an impossibility.

Coun. LANGONE in the chair.

The foregoing resolution was adopted under suspension of the rules.

CITY OF BOSTON.

Proceedings of City Council.

Monday, October 4, 1965.

Regular meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 P.M., President TIERNEY in the chair, and all the members present.

The Reverend Michael L. Bowab, St. James Church, Boston, was escorted to the rostrum.

INVOCATION BY THE REVEREND MICHAEL L. BOWAB.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

To share in Your legislative authority, omnipotent God, is a reality that I know only too well, but often push to the recesses of my mind. By a vote of my constituents, I have become a member of this august Body. However, once here, not only my authority, but also my responsibilities and obligations are more profound. Now, I share in Your authority. Now, my mandate is from a higher source. I am truly a mediator between God and man in the civil realm.

However, O God of understanding, remember that I am still a human being. On my own I can do little. Beset by many and varied pressures, I find myself in a vortex of doubt, uncertainty, indecision, confusion. But with You beside me I can overcome these pressures and in the exercise of my share of Your authority, I can reflect and imitate You. Therefore, O God, be mindful of me as You were of the Wise Men of old. Let the wisdom of Solomon be mine. Fulfill in me the supplication of the psalmist: "I am Thy servant; instruct me, that I may know Thy precepts."

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

The meeting was opened with the salute to the Flag.

TRICAL WIRING OR FIXTURES.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

Chapter 254 of the Acts of 1965 has repealed chapter 268 of the Acts of 1898 relative to the inspection of wires in buildings in Boston and thereby made applicable to Boston section 3L of chapter 143 of the General Laws and the rules and regulations promulgated by the Board of Fire Prevention Regulations thereunder with respect to the installation, repair and maintenance of electrical wiring and fixtures in buildings and structures. World Freedom Fair in 1975 Could Yield Great Benefits for Future of Area

(Beginning with this issue and continuing in the next two editions the City Record will publish the report of a study made jointly by Arthur D. Little, Inc., and the Boston Redevelopment Authority, into the feasibility of obtaining a World Freedom Fair in Boston, April-October, 1975.)

Because of the importance of such an undertaking and the potential impact it could have not only in 1975 but on the future of all New England, it is the belief of the City Record that everyone in the northeast region of the country should be kept fully informed of the proposal.)

FOREWORD

Many of you will recall that last year we made our first formal presentation of "Freedom 75" to Boston business, civic and educational leaders. We then surveyed the attitude of the business community and found that over 80 percent reacted favorably and enthusiastically to the concept of a major Bicentennial celebration with global dimension. The Freedom theme was also strongly endorsed.

The only qualification was the need for further research to determine objectively the true feasibility of such a major project.

Thanks to the unselfish support from many quarters we have now completed our study of a report produced jointly by Arthur D. Little, Inc., and the Boston Redevelopment Authority.

The following pages summarize the most important considerations and findings — further details are available at any time for your inspection. Now is the time for decision.

GILBERT H. HOOD, JR., President,
1975 World Freedom Fair, Inc.

OPPORTUNITY

This year, we have an opportunity to lay the vital groundwork for an event of such proportions that it would create some 20 major benefits over the next two decades for Boston and New England. Here is a statistical suggestion of just how sizeable these benefits might be. Based on history and experience, we believe that the Freedom 75 Bicentennial can:

1. Achieve an attendance of over 20 million, and bring over 10 million visitors to Boston and New England in a single summer.
2. Earn $30 million in admissions, plus $36.9 million in other direct Bicentennial revenues.
3. Generate up to $200 million in visitor spending on the Fair grounds.
4. Generate up to $300 million in visitor spending off the Fair site.
5. Generate up to $65 million in spending on site development alone.
6. Generate over $100 million in construction and operation expenditures for the Fair.

Viet Vets With Mayor

Accompanying Mayor John F. Collins in this year's Veterans Day Parade was Lieut. Thomas D. Dahoney, USMC, and Lieut. Edward Coyle, USMC.

Lieut. Dahoney, nephew of Commissioner of Veterans' Services Edmund Hohmann, has recently returned from active duty as a jet attack pilot in Vietnam, serving for four months in that theatre of operations. He flew 65 combat missions. Graduate of Boston College, class of 1961, Lieut. Dahoney will be released from active duty later this month. He has been awarded four Air Medals, and the Navy Citation. He resides with his wife and son at 142 Maple street, West Roxbury.

Lieut. Edward Coyle, USMC, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Coyle of Taunton, Mass., a graduate of Coyle High School and the University of Notre Dame, also accompanied the Mayor. Lieut. Coyle has recently served as Air Intelligence Officer with the Marine Attack Squadron in Vietnam. Having served five months in the Vietnam Theatre, he has been awarded the Navy Commendation Medal for outstanding achievement in the field of intelligence. He is presently on leave prior to reporting to a new duty station in Camp LeJeune.

The officers in company with the Mayor reviewed the parade at Tremont and West streets.

7. Create some 8,000 jobs.
8. Create 400 acres of prime residential land for the land-starved cities of Boston and Quincy . . . stimulate major new development in the Dorchester Bay-Neponset River basin area.
9. Create costly buildings, streets, utilities, and amenities for the Bicentennial which would serve as the nucleus of an entirely new residential community, larger than the Back Bay.
10. Create new rapid transit and highway facilities.
11. Create new, permanent tax values and a broader tax base.
12. Increase retail sales as much as 15 percent.
13. Increase bank debits as much as 20 percent.
14. Increase airline revenues as much as 40 percent.
15. Increase hotel/motel volume as much as 35 percent.
16. Increase restaurant volume as much as 50 percent.
17. Increase gas and electricity consumption as much as 10 percent.
18. Create invaluable publicity . . . a whole new image of New England.
19. Increase tourism and trade throughout New England . . . permanently.
20. Attract dozens of new clerical, manufacturing and service industries to New England . . . permanently.

OPPOSITION

One reason the stakes are so high is that this will be an official Federal celebration—the 200th anniversary of the nation's birth—not just one city's promotion. Because Washington has already initiated action on the Bicentennial by inviting cities to present their claims as possible sites, we can be certain of a sizeable Federal investment of many millions of dollars. This in itself assures the success of the celebration and sets it apart from such events as the current New York Fair, which enjoyed no such Federal participation.

We believe, however, that there are two sources of opposition which might prevent us from seizing this enormous opportunity virtually to transform the future of New England.

1. First, there are people—several millions of them—who are determined to stop us from staging the Freedom Bicentennial . . . people who want to take it away and run it themselves. Without a doubt Philadelphia constitutes the prime opposition with an already well-financed and well-organized group of civic leaders who are confident that the celebration is a sure thing for their city.

2. Which brings us to the second obstacle: ourselves. New Englanders are traditionally proud of their independence . . . or their individualism. And that's fine, of course. But just this once, we must all unite behind a single effort to win this prize for New England. We must think and act like a unified region . . . not a collection of separate states and cities.

OBJECTIVES

Our final goal, of course, is to bring the Bicentennial and its billion-dollar benefits to our area. The realization of that goal is still many steps, many days, and many dollars away. But before we can begin in earnest on the actual planning for the event, we must make sure that New England—not Philadelphia—is chosen as the site.

How can we do that? By persuading the members of the soon-to-be-appointed Presidential Commission that New England is unquestionably the only logical location for the celebration. Against smart and well-financed opposition from Philadelphia, which has already hosted the 1876 United States Centennial and the 1926 United States Sesquicentennial, we must create a presentation so vivid, so powerful, and so persuasive that it will leave the Commission completely convinced of the superiority of New England . . . and completely ready to make a final decision in our favor.

We have less than a year to finance, develop and present our case—so we must start at once. But before we begin, let's see where we stand right now.

ARTHUR D. LITTLE — BRA REPORT

As you may know, the Freedom Fair Corporation and the City of Boston, through the Boston Redevelopment Authority, last year commissioned Arthur D. Little, Inc., to conduct a detailed study of the feasibility of hosting a Bicentennial celebration in this area. The results of this study are now in, and I think you will find them as interesting and encouraging as we did. Before we go into detail, here are A. D. Little's general conclusions about the desirability and practicality of this event:

The Greater Boston community will enthusiastically support plans for a 1975 Bicentennial celebration if it can be assured the celebration will be attractive and successful. Moreover, we have had several indications that such plans will receive equally strong support throughout New England.

Greater Boston can provide adequate sites for exhibits and special events. It can also provide adequate accommodations and transportation for visitors to the celebration.

Previous international expositions have shown that celebrations of this sort can be successful both financially and functionally.

Boston has a good chance of winning the competition if it wastes no time in mounting a full-scale campaign and if its plan encompasses a New England-wide celebration with a principal exposition site in the Greater Boston area but emphasizing the historical significance of all of New England.

LESSONS OF EXPERIENCE

1. Criteria of Success—Despite the financial problems of the 1964-1965 New York World's Fair, the successful Chicago Fair of 1933 and the Seattle Century 21 Exposition of 1962 prove that a World's Fair can pay its way, provided that:

a. A genuinely important occasion exists to commemorate, as is very much the case with the National Bicentennial;

b. Approval of the Bureau of International Expositions is obtained, making the Bicentennial a genuine "world's" fair;

c. There is substantial federal participation which will almost certainly be the case with the National Bicentennial;

d. Exhibits and events are genuinely unique; second best is not good enough;

e. Labor agreements are established which reassure potential exhibitors and other investors;

f. Constant direct communication is maintained among fair managers and planners throughout the planning, construction, and operation periods;

g. Concessions and supporting services are under direct control of fair management throughout the event;

h. Financing arrangements are maintained as planned.

2. Seattle's Success Story—In brief, here are the statistics on Seattle's successful Century 21 Exposition three years ago:

a. 10 million admission tickets sold (over a million more than projected);

b. 1 million local residents, 1.8 million one-day visitors, and 1.2 million overnight or longer visitors (at an average of 3 nights each) attended;

c. Visitor spending totalled $33 million on-site, $136 million off-site;

d. Construction costs of $63 million; operation came to $21 million;

e. Employment reached 6,000 during construction and 8,000 during operation;

f. Permanent construction included $4 million space needle, $5 million monorail, $10 million science center, 18,000-seat coliseum, 800-seat playhouse, fine arts center and exhibit hall, 3,100-seat opera house, parking garages, new highways and motels.

g. Financial highlights included a $7.5 million city bond issue, compensated in part by $4 million in direct tax revenues from the fair; a $10.5 million state investment, compensated in part by $6 million in direct tax revenues from the fair; and $5 million in pledges from local firms, banks and individuals for preparatory organization and planning, all of which was repaid, with interest, out of profits.

h. Continuing benefits, in addition to the Civic Center, include solid convention bookings in Seattle since 1962 and for several years ahead; added tourism throughout the area, with Vancouver at capacity during the fair period and tourism in Northwest now at a new high level; and dozens of new plant openings credited to interest created by the fair.

CRITERION OF HISTORY

Do Greater Boston and New England meet the basic requirement of historic significance for the Bicentennial site? The A. D. Little report answers this essential question with a resounding Yes, pointing out that: (a) no area of the United States has so rich a heritage of existing historic sites as Eastern Massachusetts and New England; (b) no other area was so intimately involved in the evolution of our principles of freedom; (c) no other area was so closely identified with the struggle for independence during the critical years preceding the Revolution; (d) as the hotbed of free thought and action, Boston was the first and chief British target: that is why the Revolution began here and continued here through 1775 and 1776. To quote L. D. in W. Snell, Historian to the National Historic Sites Commission, "At no time in American history has any one place ever played a more vital role or exerted a greater influence on the course of human events than the town of Boston between 1760 and 1776."

PHYSICAL CAPACITY

A. D. Little next investigated the capacity of Greater Boston and New England to house visitors to the Bicentennial. Given an estimated total of over 20 million admissions, twice Seattle's figure, hotel and motel accommodations should be more than adequate, since Boston has over 10,000 rooms to Seattle's 5,000 (and Philadelphia's 8,300). Within a 30-mile radius, it is estimated that there will be over 20,000 rooms available by 1975. Transportation—via highways, and MBTA lines, and boat service—should also be comfortably in excess of demand.

GENERAL SUPPORT

In a broad canvass sampling the various segments of the community, A. D. Little elicited solid support for Greater Boston as the focal point for the Bicentennial. Specifically, incumbent labor leaders expressed their belief in the willingness of their 1975 successors to enter into Seattle-type labor agreements to prevent work stoppages; the business community has been the earliest and staunchest

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the award of contracts, without advertising, based on the following communications:

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT. ENGINEERING SERVICES

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

On March 24, 1965, your Honor authorized the award of a contract for the carrying out of certain engineering services in connection with the preparation of plans of streets and utility improvements in the Government Center Project, Mass. R-35, to William A. Fisher Company, Inc., 185 Devonshire street, Boston, Mass.

The contract limits the total fee to the sum of $35,000. Charges to date have totaled $25,496.50 and it is estimated that the full amount will be used up in October, 1965. It is evident that the William A. Fisher Company will be unable to complete all of the work required by the City of Boston for this specific project by the time the $35,000 is fully exhausted.

It is noted that the present contract in Article 12 in part, states that "the engineer is not responsible for the full completion of all plans and detailed specifications toward the final drafting of which this contract is directed, but only that he shall complete such of the specified plans and detailed specifications as can be completed for not to exceed $35,000."

In view of the satisfactory performance already provided and the professional character of the additional services to be performed, public advertising procedures would in my opinion serve no useful purpose to the city.

Accordingly, in order to be sure that the Government Center Project plans for streets and utility improvements suffer no delay, your Honor's authorization is respectfully requested in connection with the subject William

A. Fisher Company, Inc., contract for engineering services as follows:

To dispense with public advertising in the City Record and to amend the contract in an amount not to exceed $30,000, so that the maximum amount payable by the city under the contract may be increased to $65,000.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. FLAHERTY,
Commissioner of Public Works.

supporter of the whole idea, as proved by your presence here today; government leaders, including the governors, senators, and representatives of the six New England states, have indicated their intention to form a block on behalf of the drive to bring the Bicentennial to New England; mayors and leaders of historic communities have likewise indicated that they will give their full support; educators, medical men, and researchers have all pledged their participation; and the press has responded both with warm enthusiasm and with concrete plans, ideas, and suggestions for the planning period and for the Bicentennial itself.

(This report will be continued in the next issue of the City Record.)

Frederick H. Marley

Retired Boston Fire Chief Frederick H. Marley, 62, died November 14 in Malden Hospital of scalding suffered when he slipped and fell in the shower of his home at 9 Clement street, Malden.

A native and long-time resident of East Boston, Chief Marley retired in 1953. In 1954 he and his family were made homeless when fire swept through their two-story wooden house at 239 Princeton street, East Boston.

He leaves two sons, Frederick H., Jr., of the South End and Robert F. of Winthrop; five daughters, Mrs. Alice Durant and Mrs. Noreen O'Neil, both of Malden; Mrs. Janice L. Shaw of Wakefield, Mrs. Florence McHugh of Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Roberta Jeffrey of Londonderry, N. H. He also leaves three brothers, Thomas of Belmont, Harry of East Boston, and Albert of Winthrop, and two sisters, Agnes Marley and Mrs. Marguerite Larsen both of East Boston.

Municipal Research Bureau Jail Report

(Following is a report by the Municipal Research Bureau on a study of Boston's Charles Street Jail.)

Since 1962, when the Boston Municipal Research Bureau issued a brief report on the antiquity of the Suffolk County Jail, interest in the place has increased. By way of example, both the 1962 Governor's Committee on Jails and Houses of Correction and Boston's 1963-75 Capital Improvements Program called for a new jail.

Consequently, earlier this year the Boston Redevelopment Authority asked the Bureau to estimate the required size of a replacement and evaluate several possible sites. The study findings are summarized below.

Capacity

Based on the statistics of the Massachusetts Department of Correction it would appear that the goal should be a facility with a capacity of 150. The population should include only pretrial males, including drunkards.

The figure of 150 sharply contrasts with the present daily population which in 1964 averaged 270. Nonetheless, 150 is a realistic estimate if current policies are altered to conform with modern correctional thinking.

Removing all sentenced inmates from the jail would have an important effect. In 1963 sentenced males made up 31 percent of the jail's population. If these prisoners were sent instead to the Deer Island House of Correction, the appropriate institution, the population would be reduced by that amount, or 31 percent.

Assuming the daily population to be about 266 (the average for the 1960-64 five-year period), a 31 percent cut would reduce the total by 82 or to 184.

Removing all females would further reduce the population by 8 percent. The Massachusetts Correctional Institution at Framingham is often suggested as the proper place for the women now at the jail. As a matter of fact, legislation proposed this year would transfer all females serving sentences in excess of 15 days to Framingham. The remainder could be detained, for example, in the jail now building in nearby East Cambridge. An 8 percent reduction would amount to a loss of 21 and leave 163.

Continued improvement in the bail system could dramatically reduce jail needs. On a typical day 130 prisoners are eligible for bail but are being held simply because they cannot raise the money. Release on recognizance (ROR) in lieu of bail could probably be used more often.

Indeed, the General Court has paved the way. Chapter 396 of the Acts of 1965 provides a criminal penalty for failure to appear in court after release on bail or recognizance. Heretofore, failure to appear was not punishable and judges consequently made limited use of ROR. A conservative estimate would be one that said 40 pretrial inmates could be released on their own without putting up bail. A reduction of this size would bring the total average needed capacity to 123.

Consideration should be given to normal fluctuations in the size of the population. A review of inmate population trends suggests that provisions for a 15 percent increase should adequately compensate for seasonal peaks. Adding 15 percent (18 inmates to the reduced 123) would increase needed capacity to 141. The remaining 9 provides a reasonable margin of error.

Space Requirements

Although the General Laws require counties to provide jails, there are essentially no statutory standards pertaining to space, area or component facilities. Nevertheless, several guides are available, notably, the U. S. Bureau of Prisons' Handbook of Correctional Institution Design and Construction.

If the Handbook is relied upon, it would seem that the goal should be a structure of about 43,000 square feet. A jail of this size, with a 150-man capacity, would provide 287 square feet per inmate. The completed facility should house 110 in dormitories and 40 in individual cells.

Components should include: A reception unit; administrative and custodial offices; visitor facilities; medical unit, including an outpatient clinic and an infirmary with about three beds; a comparable unit for acute alcoholics; laundry; work or craft room; commissary and barber shop; library-classroom; storage for institutional supplies and inmate property, and a kitchen.

Sites

The BRA earlier listed eight possible sites for a new jail. The Bureau study discounted five. Three—a site northwest of the North Station, New Chardon Street, and Deer Island—were evaluated in greater detail. It was concluded that the Deer Island site was the most outstanding.

Outside of the cost factor, two other considerations—courts and security—usually dominate jail planning. However, the need to be next to the courts is often overemphasized. On the average, 35 to 40 prisoners are transported daily to the courts at Pemberton square. Another 15 or so are transported to other courts. Thus, one jail cannot be contiguous to all of the courts involved. Moreover, only one-fourth of the jail population is transported daily, and then for but a few hours. Reasoning along this line, the American Correctional Association notes that the trend of jail construction today "is toward suburban or rural locations." Deer Island fits this pattern.

From the security aspect, none of the other sites can match Deer Island. And it must be remembered that jails are constructed to safely hold people awaiting trial. Security is the basic mission.

Deer Island leads in two other respects. Undesirable mixing (under one roof) of sentenced and unsentenced could be terminated. Almost a third of the Charles Street population is sentenced. They form the work force. If a

1975 Fair in Hub Could Be Investment In Prestige and Future Advance of City

Another major step forward in plans to make Boston the site of the 1975 Bicentennial celebration of American liberty was taken November 9 by the Greater Boston business community.

At a news conference, followed by a meeting of 100 leading business executives at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel, President Abram T. Collier, of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce and President Gilbert H. Hood, Jr., the Chamber's 1975 World Freedom Fair Corporation, outlined the economic benefits the Fair would bring to the New England region and set an immediate goal of $100,000 to develop a presentation. The presentation will be made to a yet-to-be appointed Presidential Commission which will select the nation's official site for the commemorative event.

Boston Mayor John F. Collins and Boston Redevelopment Authority Administrator Edward J. Logue participated in the meeting.

Post-Fair Residential Land

The findings and recommendations of a study made during the past 11 months by the Cambridge research firm of Arthur D. Little, Inc., were made public for the first time at the news conference. The study was underwritten by the BRA and the Chamber's Fair Corporation.

The study estimated that the "Freedom 75" Bicentennial would attract over 20 million and bring over 10 million visitors to Boston and New England in a single summer; generate $500 million visitor spending on and off the Fair site; create some 8,000 jobs, and produce 400 acres of prime residential land for the cities of Quincy and Boston.

Among the alternate sites selected by the Boston Redevelopment Authority, Thompson Island in Dorchester Bay was preferred because of its closeness to the downtown historic landmarks and facilities in Boston. The proposal would fill in tidal flats to create new acreage as well as provide a marina through the construction of a dam linking the Columbia Point area which now is largely cut off from the mainstream of city life.

Mr. Hood said the presentation to the Presidential Commission would be made in behalf of the New England region and not for Boston alone. He added that the $100,000 "seed money" for the presentation could benefit the New England region through the investment and spending of more than one billion dollars for the Fair.

Municipal Research . . .

jail was located on Deer Island, the necessary workers could be marched from the House of Correction daily.

Finally, site work at Deer Island would be less expensive, costing about $145,000. The New Chardon Street site work would cost about $215,000, while the North Station site would be the most expensive, costing about $381,000. The Deer Island site, therefore, is not only the most attractive from a correctional viewpoint, but is also the most economical.

Doghouse at Work

An Atlanta lawyer who bought a new home wanted to fence in his yard, but he was a little short on cash. However, he had an idea. Some time before he moved, he sent his doghouse out to his new place and had it installed in the back yard. It was a big doghouse which bespoke a big dog that would soon be making his appearance in the neighborhood.

When the lawyer moved to his home, he had only to fence the back line of his yard and get a long gate for the front. His neighbors had already fenced in the other two sides.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

General Order No. 45.

November 9.

I. OPERATING PROCEDURE FOR SUMNER AND CALLAHAN TRAFFIC TUNNELS.

(Sumner Traffic Tunnel.)

In the event of a fire or accident in the Sumner Traffic Tunnel, Box 123 will be transmitted. The Fire Department response will be Engine Companies 8, 9, 25, and 11; Ladder Companies 1 and 2; Rescue Company, Districts 1 and 3. Inasmuch as the flow of traffic in this tunnel is one way from East Boston to Boston, a fire or accident in the tunnel will in all probability prevent the movement of traffic beyond the point of the incident. Therefore, the tunnel employees will stop the flow of traffic into the tunnel from the East Boston side and direct all vehicles ahead of the incident to move into the right-hand lane and proceed out of the tunnel, thus leaving the left-hand lane open for fire apparatus entering from the Boston side. The open lane will be located on the fire line side of the tunnel, providing ready access to outlets.

Engine Company 8 is the first due engine company on the Boston side. The hose wagon will stop at the Sumner Traffic Tunnel exit ramp to permit members of Ladder Company 1 to get on the hose wagon with forcible entry tools and proceed into the tunnel in the open lane. Extreme caution should be used to avoid an accident with an oncoming vehicle, which may have not moved over sufficiently into the right-hand lane. The District Fire Chief of District 3 shall also proceed into the tunnel. All other apparatus responding on the Boston side shall stand by outside the tunnel. In the event additional personnel or apparatus is needed, request for same can be made via tunnel telephone to the tunnel Administration Building, relayed to the Fire Alarm Office by tunnel personnel, and then to the companies through Fire Alarm Office by radio. The companies and District Fire Chief responding from East Boston shall stand by outside the tunnel on the East Boston side awaiting orders.

During the winter season when the fire line in the Sumner Traffic Tunnel is drained to prevent freezing, one man from Ladder Company 1 shall proceed on foot to the Boston Ventilation Building at 308-328 North street and open valve; and Engine Company 40 shall respond to East Boston Ventilation Building at 55-65 Liverpool street and open valve. These valves are in manholes with covers painted RED. Signs marked FIRE VALVE are placed on buildings to indicate manhole locations.

(Callahan Traffic Tunnel.)

In the event of a fire or accident in the Callahan Traffic Tunnel, Box 124 will be transmitted. The Fire Department response will be Engine Companies 8, 9, 25, and 11; Ladder Companies 1 and 2; Rescue Company; and Districts 1 and 3. Inasmuch as the flow of traffic in this tunnel is one way from Boston to East Boston, a fire or accident in the tunnel will in all probability prevent the movement of traffic beyond the point of the incident. Therefore, the tunnel employees will stop the flow of traffic into the tunnel from the Boston side and direct all vehicles ahead of the incident to move into the right-hand lane and proceed out of the tunnel, thus leaving the left-hand lane open for fire apparatus entering the East Boston side. The open lane will be located on the fire line side of the tunnel, providing ready access to outlets.

Engine Company 9 is the first due engine company on the East Boston side. This company (a single unit pump) will stop at the Callahan Traffic Tunnel exit ramp to permit members of Ladder Company 2 to get on the pump with forcible entry tools and proceed into the tunnel in the open lane. Extreme caution should be used to avoid an accident with an oncoming vehicle which may have not moved over sufficiently into the right-hand lane. The District Fire Chief of District 1 shall also proceed into the tunnel. All other apparatus responding on the East Boston side shall stand by outside the tunnel. In the event additional personnel or apparatus is needed, request for same can be made via tunnel telephone, relayed to the Fire Alarm Office by tunnel personnel, and then to the companies through Fire Alarm Office by radio. The companies and the District Fire Chief responding from Boston shall stand by outside the tunnel on the Boston side awaiting orders.

Water in Callahan Traffic Tunnel is not subject to freezing and is not shut off during winter season, except the Callahan Tunnel ramp, from Cross street to Boston portal; Callahan Tunnel ramp, East Boston, from Porter street to East Boston portal; Callahan Tunnel East Boston Plaza hydrants.

General.

In the event that a fire or accident is at or inside the entrance of either traffic tunnel for only a short distance, the first arriving engine company may proceed to the scene of the incident in the direction of flow of traffic, if not blocked by vehicles and it is safe to do so.

If a street fire alarm in the vicinity of the entrance or exits of either tunnel is pulled for a fire or accident in either tunnel, the first arriving company shall immediately notify the Fire Alarm Office that the box was pulled for a fire in the tunnel, specifying whether it is the Sumner or Callahan. The Fire Alarm Office shall then notify the tunnel authorities so that they can assist the fire apparatus in getting to the scene as mentioned previously.

In the event of a fire with severe smoke conditions near the Ventilation

Buildings on each side of the tunnels, the chauffeur of the District Fire Chief at the scene shall notify the Fire Alarm Office to inform the tunnel authorities so that necessary precautions can be taken to prevent smoke from being drawn into the tunnel.

Attention of the department is called to the change in the assignment of apparatus to Boxes 123 and 124 to the effect that Engine 25 will replace Engine 4 on the first alarm and that Engine 4 will replace Engine 25 on the second alarm. Necessary corrections shall be made on assignment cards.

Chief officers of the districts affected, including those who have companies in their districts which cover companies directly concerned with these evolutions, shall see that members of their commands are thoroughly familiar with the contents of this order through repeated drills.

II. FIRE ALARM BOX ESTABLISHED.

In the near future the following fire alarm box will be installed:

2971 Cedar Crest road, opposite Cedar Crest Circle.

The assignment of apparatus for this box will be the same as for Box 2972. The circuit number will be announced when the box is installed.

III. CALL'S DATA.

In General Order No. 44, dated November 3, 1965, notice was given of the discontinuance of Call's Signals 2243 and 2244, Terrace Realty Trust, 165 Terrace street.

The signals discontinued were Nos. 266 and 267, Terrace Realty Trust, 165 Terrace street.

IV. HYDE PARK ALARM DATA.

In General Order No. 44, dated November 3, 1965, the designation of Hyde Park Alarm Signal was changed from Cundy Bettony Company to Sterling Corrugated Box Company.

The number of the Hyde Park Alarm Signal at this location which was omitted in General Order No. 44 was 211.

Taps

In a Seattle apartment house 20 of the 27 tenants own hi-fi or stereo sets. The rental agent, hearing complaints about the late-late music, sent a stern message: "No hi-fi music after 10.30 p.m."

The furious hi-fiers banded together. Each bought the same record and at exactly 10.30 the next night 20 sets, turned on full blast, played "Taps."

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

October 26.

Personnel Order No. 818.

Patrolmen Thomas J. Calnan and Joseph A. Vellante, District 10, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted three days' additional vacation.

About 3 A.M., Wednesday, September 15, 1965, Patrolmen Calnan and Vellante arrested on suspicion of armed robbery, one Edmond Agee, 22 years, of 93 Waltham street, Boston. At the time of arrest he had in his possession a fully loaded .38 calibre Smith and Wesson revolver and fourteen rounds of live ammunition.

Prior to this arrest, a series of taxicab holdups occurred in the Brigham Circle area on District 10. Patrolmen Calnan and Vellante devoted considerable time questioning residents of Kempton street, an escape route frequently used after the commission of these crimes. Eventually, information was received that a man answering the description of the one responsible for the taxicab holdups was seen entering 19 Kempton street. Investigation of these premises led to the identity and subsequent arrest of Edmond Agee.

The suspect was identified and admitted being responsible for ten taxicab holdups, one driver of which was shot and wounded, three armed robberies of citizens, two liquor store holdups, a cafe holdup in which the bartender was seriously wounded, and a kidnapping and robbery on various districts throughout the city.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty shown by these officers in accomplishing the arrest of this dangerous felon.

Personnel Order No. 819.

Detective Sydney Goodman, Criminal Investigation Division, detailed to District 9, and Patrolman Lewis G. McConkey, District 9, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted two days' additional vacation.

About 12.30 P.M., August 16, 1965, Detective Goodman and Patrolman McConkey while at Dudley and Warren streets observed a man later identified as Oren W. Elow, 22 years, 198 Highland avenue, Roxbury, acting in a suspicious manner in the doorway of the apartment building at 53 Warren street. As the officers approached the suspect fled into the building and they chased him through the hallways and stairways of the building until he was apprehended as he attempted to flee through the rear door.

He was arrested on suspicion of breaking and entering and was taken to District 9. A search of his person revealed a wristwatch and two pieces of costume jewelry. The suspect admitted stealing these articles from two separate apartments at 171 Townsend street shortly before his arrest.

As a result of further interrogation he was driven about District 9 where he pointed out twenty dwellings in various sections of the district that he had burglarized during the previous two months.

Information that narcotic drugs were being unlawfully kept at 171 Townsend street was also obtained from the suspect. The Vice Control Unit was made aware of this, resulting in the arrest and prosecution of Highland Diggs for Violation of the Narcotic Drug Law.

On August 17, 1965, Oren W. Elow, appeared in Roxbury District Court before Judge Charles I. Taylor charged with breaking and entering in the daytime, twenty counts. The defendant pleaded guilty and is now serving a two-year sentence in the House of Correction.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the devotion to duty shown by these officers in apprehending this criminal.

October 27.

Personnel Order No. 820.

Sergt. Stanley W. Dirs, Patrolmen Edmund H. Kasianowicz and Stephen A. Murphy, Jr., District 9, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each is granted two days' additional vacation.

About 12.50 A.M., Sunday, August 8, 1965, Sergeant Dirs, Patrolmen Kasianowicz and Murphy responded to 15 Crawford street, Roxbury, report of a shooting. Upon investigation it was determined the occupants of a Pontiac convertible after having a verbal argument with two women at this location left the scene, returning shortly armed with a gun, knives, clubs, etc., and proceeded to violently assault a group seated in front of 15 Crawford street. During the assault several shots were fired by an occupant of the automobile resulting in the death of Hurley Clack of 9 Preston street, Roxbury, and the wounding of another. Several others were also assaulted before the assailants fled the scene.

Investigation and questioning of suspects and witnesses at District 9 led officers to the Boston City Hospital where Marvin Divens, Jr., 82 Julian street, Roxbury, was arrested as a suspicious person to wit: murder.

A continued search throughout the area the same night plus a house to house canvas of the Warren Street area resulted in the arrest of Ronald Randolph, 103 Intervale street; Alvin Cole, Belvoir road, Dorchester, and Harold Lopez of 15 Cobden street, Roxbury, and also Lester Holmes of 8 Quincy terrace, Roxbury. An intensive search for the final suspect, Douglas Overshown, 107 Brunswick street, Roxbury, by these officers, led to his voluntary surrender at District 9.

On Wednesday, September 8, 1965, the above-named defendants appeared before the grand jury where thirty-two indictments of murder in the second degree and assault and battery by means of a dangerous weapon were handed down. They are presently in custody awaiting trial in the Suffolk Superior Court.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the patience, perseverance, determination, desire, and willingness of the officers to devote time beyond their regular tours of duty in solving these violent crimes.

Richard T. Sullivan

Richard T. Sullivan, 55, secretary and stenographer under five Boston mayors and secretary for the MBTA Advisory Board, died November 9 at his home, 533 La Grange street, West Roxbury.

Mr. Sullivan, a former police stenographer, served at City Hall in the administrations of former Mayors Tobin, Kerrigan, Curley, Hynes and, until his death, under Mayor Collins.

Only recently, Mr. Sullivan had taken on additional duties as secretary to the newly-created Back Bay Historical Society.

His death came as a shock to City Hall friends around the Mayor's office. He had seldom been known to be ill or miss work.

Mr. Sullivan's death came only hours after his son, Richard T. Sullivan, Jr., was sworn in as a new attorney at a state Supreme Judicial Court ceremony.

A native of Somerville, he was graduated from Boston's High School of Commerce, and in 1952, was among distinguished alumni invited back to address a career day program. He also attended Bentley College.

He leaves his wife, the former Gertrude A. Ledwith; his son, Richard T., Jr., of West Roxbury; three daughters: Mrs. Jane Wymelenberg of Milwaukee, Wis.; Mrs. Paula Noonan of Brockton and Miss Ellen E. Sullivan of West Roxbury.

He also leaves four sisters: Mrs. Paul Rowell of Dedham; Mrs. Roland Cantin of Jamaica Plain; Mrs. William McKenna of Encino, California; and Mrs. Lawrence Curtis of West Roxbury.

Real Property Tax Burden Now Beyond Cities' Capacity to Carry, Says Mayor

(Following is the text of Mayor John F. Collins' address before the Maine Municipal Association at the Eastland Motor Hotel, Portland, Maine, on Wednesday, November 10.)

I understand we are all here to lick our wounds. Wounds suffered in our battle with the twentieth century.

Our local governments are in danger of being overwhelmed by an urban society. A society which has littered our countryside, polluted our air, clogged our highways, and blighted our cities.

A society nonetheless comprised of citizens with rising income, expectations and aspirations, who demand the good life.

The financial requirements of such a society are obvious. Our efforts to provide for the good life have had us on a constant search for new revenue.

The search in New England is made more difficult by our heavy dependence on the property tax. A tax, which at its present level, is already a threat to new investment and economic expansion.

Last year, in Massachusetts, our local governments were called upon to raise 1.4 billion dollars to meet the costs of municipal programs. $872 million, 63 percent, was raised by taxes on real property.

In your own state, taxes on real property must produce over 55 percent of the tax revenue necessary to carry out your municipal activities.

New Hampshire communities, like Massachusetts, must rely upon taxes on real property for approximately 63 percent of their necessary tax revenues.

Real Property's Burden

The effective yield of the real property tax in Maine is 2.1 percent of true value; it is 2.3 percent in New Hampshire and highest of all in Massachusetts, 2.7 percent.

In the rest of the nation the effective yield of the real property tax is only 1.4 percent of the true value, and real property taxation produces only 46 percent of local tax revenue.

Why do we find it necessary to rely so heavily on a tax which has long been challenged as being neither equitable nor equal? Why do we constantly prove the truth of a statement made long ago by G. D. Warner that, "The thing raised best on city land is taxes"?

But is not our present position a price we had to pay to history. We in New England are proud, and rightly so, of our tradition of local self-government. Noninterference, the right of self-determination have long been our political heritage. Having claimed the right of self-determination we could not shrink from local responsibility, financial or otherwise; nor did we shrink from this responsibility.

Local governments in New England unquestionably bear a fiscal responsibility for public programs much greater than that of local government in other parts of our nation.

Local responsibility, however, leads directly to almost a complete dependence on the taxation of real property for the finances necessary to carry out our municipal programs for this is the only local revenue source available.

MotORIZED Society

If my sole concern, as the Mayor of Boston, was to provide adequate transportation facilities to allow Boston farmers to graze Boston cows on Boston Common, to sell milk to Boston residents, then regardless of the level or direction of Boston's real property tax, it would be of no concern to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Municipal expenditures are financed out of one tax or another. Under these circumstances, the mere prospect of a high property tax is no justification for shifting the burden to other forms of taxation. For the beneficiaries are Boston residents and they should bear the burden.

But you and I know that such easy distinctions vanished with the machine and motorcar.

Today people and industry move freely from community to community; to live, to work, to enjoy, to profit, to pollute and to litter. Their continuous movement leaves vacant cities, and bulging suburbs.

I have not been blessed and blinded by history? Blessed by our inherent belief in the need for responsible local government; blinded by our reverence for the precepts of our founding fathers.

Health and welfare problems are not evenly distributed among communities, nor are the problems of race and the aging. They are not because the Negro, the poor and the elderly are city dwellers; city dwellers because they lack mobility for various reasons, some self-imposed, some economic, some social, and some political. The suburbs have the young at heart; the cities many of the poor in spirit, health, and income.

If we believe that the problems of the poor, the neglected and of physical decay are the concern of all, if we believe that all our children are entitled to equal educational opportunities, we cannot allow geography, a municipal boundary, and the dollar value of the real estate located within these boundaries to determine the amount of money which will be devoted to these tasks. Yet, this is what we do.

We can no longer ask our older cities to provide for the education, health and welfare of the poor and the aging.

To do so is to admit that the poor will always be with us and at the same address.

State Responsibilities

We must all acknowledge that today purely local determination is largely illusory. We must seek fiscal reform based on a new understanding and distribution of the responsibilities of our state and local governments.

We are asking the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to assume its responsibilities toward the education and welfare of all its citizens. To recognize that no person, be he young or old, black or white, should suffer because of his place of residence, particularly if his choice of residence is not entirely voluntary or free.

We are asking the Commonwealth to recognize that our old urban centers can no longer provide for both educational needs of their young and the welfare of the aging, that this conflict can only be reduced through the utilization of all the Commonwealth's assets. Nor should the Commonwealth shrink from this task for the product of their efforts can only benefit the entire community of Massachusetts.

The cost of such a change will not be cheap.

We are asking the Commonwealth to enact a revenue program to raise over $200 million. We are asking it to develop a distribution formula which recognizes and attempts to balance the revenue needs and resources of individual communities.

For the past several months we in Massachusetts have been engaged in a quiet dialogue concerned with this realignment of fiscal and administrative responsibility. Four defeated sales tax proposals, one defeated major income tax proposal, a minor tax revision in committee, a fifth sales tax program about to be introduced, and no State budget, is sufficient evidence of the depth and breadth of our exchange. The dialogue has generated light and heat. You, our neighbors, have no doubt heard the cants and laments.

Old Order Must Change

My own frustration and personal concern with the actions of the legislative body during the dialogue is not confined solely to finance nor based merely on their reluctance to provide sufficient funds for the immediate needs of individual communities.

My concern is more for the future than the present, for once again some of the legislators are demonstrating through their actions, that they are not yet ready to admit that the desire and needs of a highly mobile urbanized society differ greatly from those of a society comprised of relatively separate, self-contained individual communities.

I would be naive to ignore the reluctance with which we approach the issue of new taxes; new taxes are never pleasant to propose, to enact or to announce.

Yes, it would be naive to ignore that the old order changeth slowly, if at all.

But change it must.

The hesitancy of state legislatures to admit that the organizational and legal prescriptions necessary to sustain and promote the growth of an agrarian society are neither sufficient nor germane to the problems of an urban society is not confined to Maine, Massachusetts, or even the northeast.

Self-Inflicted Wounds

We cannot escape criticism, for many of the wounds we have suffered in our attempt to conquer our urban environment have been self-inflicted. Our pride and parochialism, the cause.

We must realize, that in an urban society the governmental process of providing for the needs and aspirations of its citizens is one of shared function.

We must all participate and bear our share of the burden.

We can no longer afford the luxury of allowing existing institutions or geographic boundaries to shield us from collective responsibilities.

We are all responsible, the nation, the states, and the cities for securing the good life for all our citizens.

Regardless of where the leadership finally resides—in Washington, in the state capitols, or in regional groupings—we, the cities are foot soldiers, we must fight the battles. It is we who will determine whether the battle is won or lost.

Whatever we are about, let us begin.

'75 Fair Fitting Climax

(Following are the views of ERA Administrator Edward J. Logue concerning Boston's bid for a World's Fair here in 1975.)

"The City of Boston can, in 1975, climax its redevelopment efforts with an imaginative exposition which would add substantially to its assets.

"The Fair could generate up to $65 million in spending on site development; create costly buildings, streets, utilities and amenities which would serve as the nucleus of an entirely new residential community, larger than the Back Bay; add 400 prime residential acres for the land-starved cities of Boston and Quincy and create new rapid transit and highway facilities.

"Among the alternative sites for the Fair, Thompson Island is preferred for its high suitability for residential use after the termination of the Fair.

"Development of Thompson Island for the Fair would aid the bay edge and undeveloped sections of Columbia Point in their future development. The primary benefit to Columbia Point would be to make it part of a continuous, integrated pattern of city development, where it is now an isolated peninsula, largely cut off from the mainstream of city life.

"These and many other benefits will accrue to Boston and the region if the Bicentennial is conducted here."

Rough on Jaywalkers

Councilman George Kenny of Roselle Park, N. J., proposed that pictures of convicted jaywalkers be posted on the town bulletin board and printed in newspapers in an effort to reduce accidents in the business section here.

The area, one section of which runs along Westfield avenue, a four-lane state highway, has been the scene of seven auto fatalities in the last year, according to Mr. Kenny.

A campaign against jaywalking has begun, and summonses will be issued after an initial warning period.

ABCD Broadly Representative of Community; Nonpolitical in Administration

(The following is the text of the TV remarks of Mayor John F. Collins, November 19, 1965, on WNAC-TV):

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen, and thank you for the opportunity to come into your homes, and thanks to this television station which has recognized the public service nature of this broadcast.

And speaking of broadcasts there have been ad lib performances before by your Mayor but never one to this extent.

As a matter of fact, I concluded my conversation with Mr. Battle, the Executive Director of the National Youth Corps, only a matter of about 55 minutes ago, and therefore this is going to be purely ad lib. So I trust that you will bear with me.

My purpose, of course, is discussing with you the activities of the Economic Opportunities Planning Unit of the City of Boston and to discuss the charges of irregularities which have been made, particularly by one Boston newspaper in the last few days.

I think, too, that you would be interested in knowing some of the facts about Action for Boston Community Development, and for that reason it is my purpose at the beginning of this discussion to tell you something about its organizational structure and to tell you in the first instance that I am not chairman of the Board, as I have been described.

I am not the president, and I am merely one member of a 44-member Board of Directors and one member of a 15-man Executive Committee. However, any criticism which is directed toward any public, quasi-public or semi-private agency in the City of Boston concerns your Mayor, and therefore, as your Mayor, I am going to tell you a little about this organization, how it was created, how it was organized, and who is conducting its affairs.

Now, in the first instance, I would like to show you this chart, which indicates at the top that there is a Board of Directors. This consists of 44 members and this is the Board of which I am one of those 44 members. The president, as you will see from the chart, is Dean Charles I. Schottland, who is dean of the School of Social Work at Brandeis University, who has served as president of this organization since its inception some four years ago. Now off to the left there on that chart you will see a small block—and you will see that this is indeed a hastily prepared organization chart—you will see the title treasurer. Now the treasurer of this organization is Mr. John S. Howe, who is president of the Provident Bank, now off to the right you see another small box, which says clerk.

Now the clerk of this organization is Douglas Cochrane, a very respectable attorney and a member of the Boston law firm of Ropes and Gray. He not only is clerk but is called upon quite regularly to give legal advice to the Board of Directors and to the Executive Committee. Now immediately below the box in which the Board of

Military and Clergy Participate in Christmas Festival

Assurances were received by Christmas festival officials that representatives of all of the Armed Forces stationed in the Greater Boston area would participate in the singing of Christmas hymns and carols at the opening ceremonies of the 1965 event held at City Hall Plaza on November 26.

They performed at the request of Mayor John F. Collins who not only invited the servicemen to sing, but has designated the exercises in honor of all members of the Armed Forces fighting at Viet Nam and all other military men serving the colors around the world.

Scheduled to take part in the ceremonies are contingents from Fort Devens, Bedford Air Base, First Naval District, the Marines at the Charlestown Navy yard, and the U. S. Coast Guard.

In view of the patriotic flavor to be given the exercises, and in light of the world ecumenical movement, the consuls of foreign nations with officers in Boston were invited by the Mayor to take part in the ceremonies. Clergymen of all denominations were also invited.

The musical program to be presented at the Christmas chapel on Boston Common during the festival is rapidly shaping up, says Festival Director Paul Eines. Already more than 75 leading Greater Boston Directors is mentioned there is the Executive Committee with its 15 members. Mr. Mark C. Wheeler is chairman of the Executive Committee. Mr. Wheeler is president of the Merchants National Bank. Below is the executive director. The executive director is Mr. Joseph S. Slavet. There is a deputy executive director, who was named some six months ago, if my recollection serves me correctly, Mr. Eric Hanson.

And the particular segment of this organization we are discussing has to do with the Neighborhood Youth Corps, which is under the aegis of the manpower administrator, Mr. Arnold Schuchter.

This, then, is a very, very rough organizational chart of the Action for Boston Community Development Organization, and now I would like to simply list for you just a little bit the identity of the 15-member Executive Committee. (Here the Mayor read off a list of the members of the Executive Committee, their titles, and organizational or neighborhood affiliation.)

The Executive Board members were: Charles I. Schottland, president, dean; Florence Heller, Graduate School, Brandeis University; George Farrah, vice-president (South End), Boston Traffic Department; Kenneth I. Guscott, vice-president, president, Boston Chapter, NAACP; Sidney R. Rabb, vice-president, chairman of the Board, Stop and Shop, Inc.; Mark C. Wheeler, vice-president, president, New England Merchants National Bank; John S. Howe, treasurer, president, Provident Institution for Savings; F. Douglas Cochrane, clerk (nonvoting member), Ropes and Gray.

Also, Mrs. Melnea A. Cass, Dorchester; Mayor John F. Collins; Mrs. Olivia DePietro, East Boston; James Joseph, Roxbury; Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis J. Lally; Harold S. Remmes, Roxbury; Henry A. Scagnoli, Director of Administrative Services; Mrs. Frances Smith, Jamaica Plain.

This, then is the presently constituted governing body of Action for Boston Community Development.

About four years ago this organization was born in an endeavor to resolve some of the social problems which confronted a city in transition. Primarily as a result of the changes which were taking place and which were due to take place as a result of urban renewal. The Ford Foundation and several branches of the government founded this organization in a broadly-based Board of Directors, similar to the ones to which we have just had reference, set about to organize this corporation and they selected Mr. Joseph Slavet to head this organization. Some carefully structured and well-evaluated programs which were really in the nature of demonstration programs were completed, many of them still in progress, primarily for the Ford Foundation.

And then along about a year ago now the Congress passed the Economic Opportunity Program. Then a decision had to be made. A decision had to be made in every city in America as to whether or not the Economic Opportunity Program or as it is described the "War on Poverty," would be handled as it has been in many other cities as a branch of the Mayor's Office, as a branch of the City Government, as an opportunity for political jobs, or whether it would be handled by this semi-private, quasi-public organization with this splendid representation across the board of the Boston Business Community and the Social Agencies upon whom any such endeavor must depend.

We made that choice upon the best advice available throughout the community. We decided that this program would be administered by this Action for Boston Community Development. And so, this small organization, which was primarily to conduct, and had conducted demonstration programs, now had to expand itself and had to get into an action program.

Now in all candor and fairness I say to you that at the time the structure of ABCD was not large enough or strong enough to administer a program of this size and scope. It was planned then that it be enlarged and strengthened.

It has been. Mr. Howe, treasurer, selected one of the most outstanding firms of public accountants, which was Peat, Marwich & Mitchell, to recommend further internal changes. Many of them have been adopted. Probably not enough have been made. Many are in the process of being made. Now it is not my purpose to gloss over the fact that there were irregularities in the operation of the Neighborhood Youth Corps programs. We have read about them in the paper. Some ineligible people were put on in the Charlestown program and a counsellor in the South End or Roxbury did participate in some irregularities for which reimbursement was made, and mistakes have been made in this program.

But the mistakes have been made by an organization which is broadly representative of the Boston community. And they were uncovered by the staff of ABCD months ago, not by any one newspaper which has rehashed the story. And also I'd like to read to you a statement which was just given to me by Mr. Mark Battle. Mr. Mark Battle is deputy director of the National Neighborhood Youth Corps. Mr. Battle said:

"The survey which has been conducted by me and my associates of the management and financial procedures of the ABCD Neighborhood Youth Corps Program has not yet been completed.

"It has been determined, however, that the program will continue and the survey will continue to its completion.

"However, certain conclusions can be drawn:

"Any allegation or inference that there has been political interference of any kind from Mayor John F. Collins has not been substantiated in our survey."

So much for the quote by Mr. Battle.

Now, I want to tell you that the people of the City of Boston have a stake in the successful conduct of the affairs of this Economic Opportunity Program, and if changes must be made within ABCD and they are recommended and the Board of Directors determines they should be made, they will be made.

But I also want to tell you, that as your Mayor, I owe my election to the people of the City of Boston. And you just remember back to early 1960. I was not a creature of any group, of any influential citizens, or any power structure or any king maker.

I owed my election to the people of the City of Boston. I want to remind everyone that the people of the City of Boston elect mayors not puppets and neither the people of Boston nor their Mayor will permit their Mayor nor themselves to be intimidated, to be coerced, blackmailed or to be pushed into doing anything other than that which is in the best interest of the people of Boston.

Sure, this program has made mistakes. The only way to refrain from making mistakes is not to do anything. This program has moved ahead. Three thousand youngsters were employed this summer and one or two of them went wrong. Surely, administrative mistakes have been made by the staff, but the dedicated Boston business people and those of us who are endeavoring to oversee this huge operation will see to it that the mistakes are eliminated and the structure improved.

The most important thing is now that no one destroy the confidence of the people of Boston by trying to write a news story based on half truths and innuendoes to fit a headline.

We will continue to run the program of the City of Boston and the Anti-Poverty Program with the best help available and your Mayor is one of the 44 directors and one of 15 members of the Executive Committee, and with all of the things we have to keep an eye on, we will continue to keep an eye on this.

But let me tell you ladies and gentlemen, this Poverty Program will be completed and you will be proud of this and everything else in the New Boston. Mistakes, yes, but progress, indeed. Thank you very much ladies and gentlemen, and thank the people of this station for permitting me to chat with you.

Economic Study

The economic outlook for the Boston metropolitan area in 1966 will be presented by four prominent men at the annual year-end business conference, sponsored by the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, to be held on December 7, at 12.15 P.M., in the Sheraton Boston Hotel.

Forecasters will be Abram T. Collier, Chamber president and vice chairman, John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company; Gerald W. Blakeley, Jr., president, Cabot, Cabot & Forbes Company; Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., chairman, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Carl N. Schmalz, president, R. H. Stearns Company.

Mr. Collier will forecast the general business outlook; Mr. Blakeley, the prospects for industrial and commercial developments; Dr. Killian, science and technology in 1966, and Mr. Schmalz, the outlook for local retail trade.

Mr. Collier will be the conference chairman.

Christmas Festival . . .

choirs and glee clubs have signified their intention of taking part, he says.

Taking advantage of the moderate weather of the past two weeks, Park Department carpenters and other technicians under the supervision of Commissioner William J. Devine were rapidly installing and erecting the buildings and scaffolds that are annually used to house the festival religious and festive displays.

Already the Christmas Chapel, overlooking the creche, at which the musical program is presented, has been completed; the stable for the city's heroic-sized creche has been erected and the Santa Claus animated workshop at Playland has been rebuilt and doubled in size.

Electricians, under the leadership of Joseph L. McKeen, head of the electrical contractor's concern bearing his name, are steadily erecting the more than 12 miles of wire that are now used to provide the power for the more than 30,000 lights that will illuminate the Common during the Christmas Season.

The festival this year will exceed in size and be even more interesting and artistic than in prior years, says Director Hines.

The money-raising campaign is progressing favorably, says Chairman Lawrence H. Martin of the Finance Committee. Our goal this year, he says, is $30,000, and I am sure that if all of the committee members live up to their pledges that there will be no doubt about our going over the top.

Boston and N. E. Must Prove We Want Fair

"The most far-reaching new project in Boston and in New England this coming year will unquestionably be Boston's bid for a World's Fair in 1975," President Abram T. Collier of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce believes.

"Boston, unlike its principal competitor Philadelphia, has no tradition of putting on a major national exposition in commemoration of the events of 1775 and 1776," he points out. "Nevertheless, until the tragedy of Dallas, it had good reason to suppose that this time its bid would be received sympathetically in Washington.

"Now it appears the question of which city will play the major role in celebrating the country's bicentennial will be determined by the yet-to-be appointed Presidential Commission. On what basis is that Commission likely to reach its decision? We do not know, but we think the Commission will want to know if the city has a going organization capable of performing the task.

"For the past several years we have had in Boston an active 1975 Freedom Fair Corporation, an affiliate of the Greater Boston Chamber, headed by Gilbert H. Hood, Jr.

"The Commission will ask about a suitable site. Boston Redevelopment Authority officials and others are confident such a site can be made readily available.

"Do we have a theme? It seems to us the theme of a Boston Fair will relate to the concept of freedom and perhaps the notion that political, social and economic freedom springs from the imagination and development of the human mind. Whatever aspect of freedom is stressed it will be a sound concept both for us and for the other nations of the world.

"The Commission undoubtedly will want to know if the Fair has the enthusiastic support of the community and region. Is business ready to come up with the seed money? Is the Legislature ready to appropriate substantial sums?

"The details of the Arthur D. Little study show that a Fair is feasible if we make a moderate investment. And we will make that investment if we want the Fair enough."

Lawrence M. Seale

Patrolman Lawrence M. Seale, 59, of 19 Gwinnett street, Hyde Park, for several years a day clerk at Dorchester police station, and a former South Boston motorcycle officer, died November 14 in Carney Hospital.

Born in Boston, he was a graduate of Boston English High School. From 1937 through 1950 he was a motorcycle officer in South Boston prior to his transfer to the Dorchester police station.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge of Hyde Park, the Boston Police Relief Association and the Square and Compass Club.

He leaves his wife, Estelle Seale; a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Buckley of Hyde Park, and a son Richard L. Seale of Boston.

Florence J. Riley

A Solemn Requiem Mass for Mrs. Florence J. (Gaddis) Riley, 64, of Saratoga street, East Boston, wife of Boston Police Lieut. Edwin J. Riley, was sung November 16 in the Star of the Sea Church, East Boston.

Mrs. Riley died suddenly November 13. She was a member of the League of Women Voters, the Forget-Me-Nots Club and the Golden Age Club.

Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, Edwin, Jr., of West Roxbury and James F. of East Boston; two daughters, Mrs. Florence Shanahan and Mrs. Beverly Barnes, both of East Boston; a brother, Roy Gaddis of California, and three sisters, Mrs. Winifred Benson, Mrs. Myrtle Pryor and Mrs. Dorothy Daley, all of Wintthrop.

Hitchhiking Appeal

An appeal to end hitchhiking by college students on the Massachusetts Turnpike has been sent to all college deans in the New England area by Chairman John T. Driscoll of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority.

He expresses great concern not only for the safety of the hitchhikers but for all persons traveling on the Massachusetts Turnpike. He emphasizes that a hitchhiker is a menace not only to himself but also to those in the car that stops to pick him up and let him out.

The following is a copy of the letter that was sent to the dean of every college in the area:

"The presence of large numbers of college students soliciting rides at interchange ramps and even on the travel way of the Massachusetts Turnpike is the cause of great concern for those of us who are charged with the safety of persons using this express highway. I am sure that you also share this concern for the well-being of your students who may engage in hitchhiking rides. On a high-speed road such as the Massachusetts Turnpike, a hitchhiker is a menace not only to himself but also to those in the car that stops to pick him up or let him out. Such unscheduled stopping is the cause of rear-end collisions sometimes involving three and more cars.

"Because of these dangers, the 'Rules and Regulations for Use of the Massachusetts Turnpike' provide for a maximum penalty of $50 for hitchhiking on the Turnpike. The State Police who patrol the Turnpike have no alternative but to enforce this regulation strictly.

"It would be of real assistance to the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority and the State Police if you would call to the attention of your students the dangers to themselves and others involved in hitchhiking on the Turnpike.

"As your cooperation in eliminating this traffic hazard is most earnestly solicited, so will it be most sincerely appreciated."

Mayor Hails Hub World's Fair Report As "Dynamic Concept" for Boston and N. E.

A billion dollar world's fair for Boston in 1975, the bulk of the venture to provide structures of lasting utility and beauty afterward, has been recommended by the Boston business community.

It would mark in dynamic fashion the 1975 bicentennial celebration of American liberty. It would be called "Freedom 75."

A study that indicated such an undertaking would be feasible estimated it would:

- Attract more than 20,000,000 persons.

- Bring 10 million visitors into New England and Boston in a single summer.

- Generate $50,000,000 spending on and off a 40-acre fair site.

- Create 8,000 jobs.

- Produce 400 acres of prime residential land for both Boston and Quincy.

Thompson Island in Dorchester Bay is the preferred site. Its big plus factor is its closeness to the downtown historic landmarks and facilities in Boston.

Tidal flats would be filled to create new acreage. A dam would be constructed to link the Columbia Point area.

One hundred leading business executives met with Mayor Collins at the Sheraton Plaza November 9 to open the drive for the fair.

Abram T. Collier, president of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, and Gilbert H. Hood, Jr., president of the Chamber's 1975 World Freedom Fair Corporation, outlined the economic benefits the fair would bring to the New England region.

An immediate goal of $100,000 was set to develop a presentation to a forthcoming Presidential Commission which will select the nation's official site for the commemorative event.

Mr. Hood said the presentation to the Presidential Commission would be made in behalf of the New England region and not for Boston alone.

He added the $100,000 "seed money" for the presentation could benefit the New England region through the investment and spending of more than one billion dollars for the fair.

The "Freedom 75" Bicentennial would be unique, as well as demonstrating dignity.

Given to the business leaders who were asked to pledge the $100,000 needed to make the pitch for the fair were the findings and recommendations of a study made during the past 11 months by the Cambridge research firm of Arthur D. Little, Inc. This study was underwritten by the Boston Redevelopment Authority and the Chamber of Commerce fair co-operation.

The $100,000 is needed to prepare properly and expertly the case for New England which will be presented to a commission which soon will be appointed by President Johnson, the business leaders were told.

"What we also need is the confirmed support of all the citizens of Boston, the state of Massachusetts and of New England," said Hood.

"Without such regional support our competition in Philadelphia and elsewhere might well win the designation as the location for the Freedom Bicentennial in 1975.

"The prestige and other valuable assets New England can gain through being designated as the location of Freedom 75 can come about only if every citizen in our region is determined to bring it here through working together starting immediately."

Collier, the Chamber of Commerce president, said that "the most far-reaching new project in Boston and New England this coming year will unquestionably be Boston's bid for a world's fair in 1975.

Mayor Collins called the plan a "dynamic concept," particularly as it called for a permanent set of buildings, and substantial additions to the metropolitan area in the form of transportation facilities and utilities.

"It will be a thrilling moment when the new Boston is unveiled to the world in 1975," said the Mayor.

The Mayor read a letter from Governor Volpe in which the chief executive said he stood ready to throw the state's support behind the drive for the fair.

Hood admitted there was mixed reaction in Boston to the idea of the community going after a world's fair, especially after the New York debacle. However, he cited the errors in New York, and planned to avert a repetition in Boston. He pointed to the successful Seattle world's fair, and to the current enthusiasm in Montreal for its big exhibition.

A quasi-public authority would be created at the outset to acquire and develop land, turn it over to a fair corporation for management of building construction and 1975 operations. The authority would issue bonds guaranteed by the state and/or the city.

Direct expenditures of $66,000,000 would be offset by the same amount in revenue. Comprising the latter would be $30,000,000 in admissions, $17,000,000 in rentals, concessions, exhibitions, royalties, etc., and $19,000,000 in sale of land and buildings after 1975.

The MDC would build a dam and roadway in the Thompson Island-Columbia Point area costing $26,000,000; the MBTA would spend $10,000,000 for rapid transit facilities.

Montreal in '67

An $80 million convention center with a 17,000-seat convention hall and a Hilton-managed hotel are being constructed in Montreal in preparation for the Canada World Exposition opening in April, 1967.

Canadian Pacific is building Chateau Champlain, a hotel due to open late next year in the heart of the Quebec city. A 500-room Holiday Inn already has been built and a large number of motels and motor hotels are under construction at points as far away as 50 miles to accommodate the anticipated throngs.

Planners for the six-month international fair hope to be able to accommodate 130,000 visitors at one time.

A computerized reservation system will be set up at border crossing points to provide information on facilities and reservations within 100 miles of Montreal.

An estimated 57 percent of the visitors to the Fair are expected to be Americans. The Fair sponsors expect 30 million paid admissions.

A $2 billion highway program is under way to help transportation to and from the exposition.

Sixty countries already have been signed as participants in the Fair which will be the first World's Fair to be recognized by the International Bureau of Exhibitions since the Brussels World's Fair ten years ago. As many as 80 nations may enter exhibits.

Study Supports Second Step Toward '75 Fair

(Following are the remarks of President Gilbert H. Hood, Jr., of the 1975 World Freedom Corporation of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce before a recent press conference.)

"Today, Greater Boston and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts embark on the second major step toward gaining for New England the distinction of being the location where in 1975 the people of the United States and of all nations of the free world will come to commemorate the 200th anniversary of our young nation's struggle for liberty.

"The first step, just completed, was a feasibility study to determine whether Boston should compete with other cities of the nation for the Federal Government's official designation and backing.

"The study, made by the research firm of Arthur D. Little and sponsored by the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce and the Boston Redevelopment Authority, supports and encourages us as a community to plan for a major bicentennial celebration with global dimensions in 1975.

"The second step requires raising the sum of $100,000 to prepare properly and expertly the case for New England which will be presented to a commission which soon will be appointed by President Johnson.

"What we also need is the confirmed support of all the citizens of Boston, the state of Massachusetts and of New England. Without such regional support our competitors in Philadelphia and elsewhere might well win the designation as the location for the Freedom Bicentennial in 1975.

"The prestige and other valuable assets New England can gain through being designated as the location for Freedom 75 can come about only if every citizen in our region is determined to bring it here through working together, starting immediately.

"As president of the 1975 World Freedom Fair Corporation of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, I wish to thank the press, radio and television for the generous support given to the 'Freedom 75' project over the past several years."

Thompson Island Offers Ideal Site for World Freedom Fair; Land Fill Plan

(This is the second of three articles on a study of the report of Arthur D. Little, Inc., and the Boston Redevelopment Authority on a proposal to bring to Boston a World Freedom Fair in 1975.)

Selection of Site

After careful consideration, Arthur D. Little narrowed its choice of alternative sites for the Bicentennial down to two possibilities. One was Thompson Island in Dorchester Bay plus adjacent areas which are part of the City of Quincy; the other was a tract of land owned by the MDC and located along Route 128 in the Newton-Dedham area. On the basis of such criteria as accessibility to the city center, with its many historic monuments and shrines; suitability for reuse; and availability for acquisition or lease at reasonable cost, the Thompson Island site and other lands in Dorchester Bay have been tentatively recommended.

Thompson Island, the preferred site, is predominantly cleared land, thus avoiding major problems of relocation and demolition. It is itself highly suitable for residential use after the Fair, and has the most interesting topography of all the islands. It has only one owner, the Thompson Academy. It is separated from Squantum peninsula by 1,500 feet of tidal flats and a sand bar which is exposed at low tide.

Among alternative sites, in the harbor, Long Island lacks some of Thompson Island's locational advantages, and, since it is already connected to the mainland by a bridge and a highway, should not require the stimulus of an international exposition for its future development. It and the other Harbor Islands, nevertheless, would be both adequate and unusually exciting sites for the Bicentennial, and should be considered if Thompson Island is not available.

Development of Thompson Island for the Fair would in turn aid the Bay edge and undeveloped sections of Columbia Point in their future development. The primary benefit to Columbia Point would be to make it part of a continuous, integrated pattern of city development, where it is now an isolated peninsula, largely cut from the mainstream of city life.

Bicentennial development on Thompson Island would benefit the large, former naval airbase at Squantum which is being held by its owner for future development, but which lacks the topographical and other advantages of Thompson Island for use as the principal Fair site.

Land Creation in Boston

The problem of finding a suitable new downtown site for the Bicentennial would be solved by filling in the tidal flats along the southern edges of Thompson Island and thus creating a new peninsula at Squantum. Far from being unique, this approach is as old as the city itself.

Large sections of the city have been created over the years by land fill: 892 acres in the Back Bay, the South End, and the Fens, from the 1850's to the 1890's; 70 acres at Mill Cove (North Station), 1804-1835; 130 acres at the downtown waterfront and part of the North End, 1823-1874; 771 acres—all of South Boston industrial district, 1836-1890; and 400 acres in parts of Charlestown, Cambridge, and Somerville, 1860-1896. The airport today is still being added to by fill. All told, land fill has increased Boston's land area to three times its original size.

Thompson Island—Squantum Land Fill Plan

The present plan for the development of Thompson Island as a Bicentennial site and a permanent residential community calls for filling in the tidal flats, creating a total land area of some 400 acres. Small boat basins would be dredged on the east and west; a breakwater for the new basin would be put in the east. Access would be from Squantum by road and by MBTA.

The Bicentennial would then have more than enough acreage with the Thompson Island site, the filled-in land, and the large support area made available by the former air base at Squantum.

Proposed Columbia Point—Thompson Island MDC Dam

In addition to the minimum fill scheme explained above a flood-control dam for the Neponset River, with locks and roadway, between what would now be the Thompson peninsula and Columbia Point, would be one of many significant improvements which, though not essential to the Bicentennial, would nevertheless be spurred on by it.

The dam would: create a constant-level, all year boat basin at the mouth of the Neponset River, more than twice the size of the Charles River Basin, thus flooding the offensive tidal flats around Dorchester Bay that inhibit better development of adjoining lands; incorporate Columbia Point and Thompson Island into a primary circulation system, thus greatly furthering their development; and, of course, provide direct highway access to the Bicentennial from the downtown via the roadway on the dam.

Site Plan for Bicentennial

The basic components of the preliminary site plan, shown here, are: a total built-up area of about 200 acres, only one-half mile wide, accessible by water, transit, and by roadways; arrival points integrated with interconnecting pedestrianways, pools, fountains, plazas, and other amenities; a centrally-located amphitheatre for international folk arts, music, and drama; marinas and open spaces for other recreational activity during the fair. There are parking facilities in the southwest section. Pavilions (U.S. and foreign) are adjacent to plazas and pools. State and industrial pavilions and amusements are grouped around the marinas and open spaces. To the right, a 4,000-foot by 400-foot boat basin protected by a breakwater with its marina.

CONTRACT AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

REAL PROPERTY DEPARTMENT.

CITY HALL CUPOLA.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

I respectfully request your permission to dispense with public advertising in the City Record and to award a contract to the Clifford Construction Company, 335 Main street, Charlestown, for certain very badly needed repairs upon the City Hall cupola, for a sum not to exceed $7,000.

On October 25, 1965, it was discovered that a dangerous condition existed in the front area at the top of the City Hall: loose planking had rotted free of nailing, and the fall of such deteriorated materials in the City Hall foreground seemed highly imminent. The area was restricted to the public on October 26, 1965.

On October 30, 1965, the removal of this dangerous material was carried out on an emergency basis. At that time a close inspection of the cupola disclosed that unless a covering of a permanent nature be installed immediately, ensuing snow, rain, and ice could lead to tremendous water damage and would ultimately cause an upheaval of exposed timbers from strong winds, with the possibility that one day materials might suddenly fall and cause physical injury or worse to our citizens.

In view of the fact that weather conditions are most unpredictable at this season of the year, time is of the essence since we have here an emergency involving the health and safety of the people and one that does not, indeed, admit of the time-consuming procedures of publicly advertising for bids.

It is my recommendation that the area be staged and a wood sheathing of exterior plywood be placed around the cupola. Thereafter the contractor would cover the boarded area with 16-ounce copper in a manner that would make this area fully watertight. These steps, I feel, will make the subject area both safe and satisfactory.

I have selected the Clifford Construction Company for this award because of its reputation for efficiency in the building construction field in general, and because of the expedient and highly satisfactory manner in which its initial remedial work was performed here—the carrying out of which was imperative.

Respectfully,

ALBERT F. DONNELLY,

Assistant Commissioner of Real Property.

Partial Sight Restored

A buried corneal implant fashioned of transparent silicone rubber has been used with success in restoring partial vision in 30 patients suffering one of the most severe corneal diseases (corneal edema) too far advanced for other therapy.

Dr. Claes H. Dohlman, Instructor in Ophthalmology at the Harvard Medical School, the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary and the Boston City Hospital, and Head of the Corneal Research Unit, Retina Foundation, Institute of Biological and Medical Sciences, discussed the success achieved through the use of the plastic implant Nov. 18 at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology in Chicago.

Associated with Dr. Dohlman in the implant research is Dr. Stuart I. Brown, presently a National Institutes of Health Fellow at the Retina Foundation and the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary.

The tiny corneal implants were first thoroughly tested in rabbits.

"Most of the patients (a total of 31 have undergone the implant operation) in this series," said Dr. Dohlman, "were desperate cases where a penetrating corneal graft was considered hopeless."

The preoperative vision of nearly all of the 31 patients ranged from mere light perception to the ability to count the number of fingers on an extended hand at a distance of six feet.

In treating these severe cases of edema (the accumulation of fluid in the cornea), Dr. Dohlman and his associate shaved away three-fourths of the cornea—an area roughly comparable to the diameter of a common lead pencil. In this area a 2 millimeter hole was made into which was inserted the stem of the mushroom-shaped, transparent silicone rubber implant. The entire implant was then covered with a corneal transplant of human origin. The surgical procedure resulted in the disappearance of the corneal edema in front of the implant and in most cases an improvement in the vision of the patients.

The post-operative vision, reported Dr. Dohlman, was considerably improved in the majority of cases. The patients included in the series of 31, said Dr. Dohlman, have been followed for periods of up to more than three years. Of the 31, twenty-one patients have been followed for six months or longer. Two patients of the 21, post-operatively, had 20/50 vision; two 20/70 vision; four 20/100–200 vision; two 20/400–600 vision. The remainder had finger counting or hand movement vision.

The rest of the field finished as follows: Felix F. Cosgrove, Engine 2, 454; Walter J. Butkiewicz, Fire Alarm, 442; Charles E. Gaul, Engine 1, 422; Michael J. O'Donnell, Engine 26, 394; Leo J. Hyde Tops BECU Count

A record turnout of 1,910 members participated in the 51st annual election of the City of Boston Employees Credit Union at City Hall on November 16. Seven directors were elected from a field of 13 candidates.

James J. Hyde of the Treasurer's Office who led the field with 1,050 votes and Francis X. O'Brien of the Payroll Division who finished third with 962 votes captured the two vacancies.

Board of Directors reelected were: Joseph P. Sances, Public Works Department, 979; Roy E. Covell, Police Department, 957; William McNeill, Budget Division, 956; Arthur J. O'Keefe, Park Department, 791; and John J. Donovan, Purchasing Division, 649.

Trailing the field were: Francis L. Kelly, Jr., Park Department, 641; James E. McManus, Hospital Department, 604; Charles J. Scanlon, Collecting Department, 596; Kenneth Ellis, Police Department, 414; John J. Kuhn, Hospital Department, 334, and Gerald P. Bagley, Police Department, 238.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the award of contracts, without advertising, based on the following communications:

LIBRARY DEPARTMENT. PERIODICALS, ETC.

DEAR MR. MAYOR:

In response to a public advertisement two sealed proposals for (1) supplying periodicals and serials for the year 1966 and (2) servicing the subscriptions for the individual items throughout the year were received and opened at the office of the Trustees at 12 o'clock noon on Tuesday, September 28, 1965.

The bids were as follows:

Subscription Service Company, Division of Ebco Industries, Inc., 540 Granite street, Braintree, Mass., $19,893.

Herman Goldberger Agency, Inc., 222 Summer street, Boston, Mass., $20,478.74.

The Herman Goldberger Agency, Inc., has supplied periodicals and serials and serviced the subscriptions for these individual items for over 35 years. The performance by this company has been excellent in every sense. The location of the company in Boston makes it convenient to register claims for materials not received from publishers and for corrections.

The Subscription Service Company, although situated in Braintree, Mass., is a subdivision of Ebco Industries, Inc., of Birmingham, Alabama. Therefore all orders, claims, etc., must be channeled by the Braintree office through the headquarters office in Birmingham which would necessarily cause delay. Time is a vital factor in the servicing of periodicals for use by the public. Because of the past performance of the Herman Goldberger Agency, Inc., in providing excellent service to the Library the Trustees have taken the following action to award the contract.

"Voted, That there be awarded to Herman Goldberger Agency, Inc., 222 Summer street, Boston, Mass., the second lowest bidder in the public bidding, the contract for (1) supplying periodicals and serials for the year 1966 and (2) servicing the subscriptions for the individual items throughout the year as specified in the contract, in the total amount of twenty thousand four hundred seventy-eight dollars and seventy-four cents ($20,478.74)."

The permission of your Honor is hereby requested to award the contract to Herman Goldberger Agency, Inc., in the amount indicated above.

Respectfully,

THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY OF THE
CITY OF BOSTON,
BY PHILIP J. MCNIFF, Director.

$44.6 Million Granted By U. S. To Boston For Vast Water Improvements

Federal officials notified Mayor John F. Collins, November 30, of their approval for Boston to plan a sewer and water improvement project totaling 44.6 million dollars.

The Community Facilities Administration (CFA) notified the Mayor that Boston will be given an immediate advance of $415,000 to be used for planning the multi-million dollar project.

The Mayor said federal approval of the program means that the city can now make major improvements to its water and sewer facilities and at the same time halt pollution in the harbor area.

Public Works Commissioner John F. Flaherty gave the following details of the project:

A $240,000 advance will be used to plan new interceptors, a pumping station, relief and outfall sewer. Included as part of the project will be repair or replacement of Boston's main interceptor, a 10,000-foot section ranging in size from 8 to 10 feet. The project will cost 26 million dollars.

Flaherty said the city's main interceptor has collapsed several times since 1960, causing thousands of dollars worth of damage. The east side interceptor is now seriously overloaded and now overflows into the Fort Point Channel. Additionally, the interceptor serving the South Boston-City Point drainage area does not have adequate capacity and often overflows into Dorchester Bay. The Old Harbor area of Dorchester Bay is used as a swimming area at Carson Beach and L Street Beach.

An advance of $175,000 will be utilized to plan improvements to the city's water distribution system, including reinforcements, cleaning, and lining of existing water mains, with special requirements in urban renewal areas. Total cost of this project will be 18.6 million dollars.

Flaherty said many of the city's water mains were installed prior to 1900 and have lost much of their capacity. Water pressures are often inadequate in some of the higher areas of the city, he said.

Construction on both projects is scheduled to get under way in 1969.

The Mayor said the projects are being assisted by the Program of Advances for capital public works planning administered by the Community Facilities Administration of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Public works planning advances are interest-free and repayable when construction has started on the planned public works.

More to Come—Festival

The Christmas Festival displays at Boston Common are far from complete, says Festival Director Paul Hines. Daily between now and Christmas Eve, there will be additions and refinements, he says.

The Festival officials discovered long ago that if all of the displays are complete by the opening date, they grow monotonous to some of the daily visitors long before Christmas.

Santa Claus fans, particularly the children, will be pleased and relieved to learn that his eight tiny reindeer have arrived safely at their usual place of business at Playland, Boston Common.

Ordinarily they are in their pens at the time of the Festival opening. But this year due to accidents only three were ready to make their annual appearance. However, five more arrived from the northlands yesterday, and the whole team is now in place at the Common.

Arriving with the reindeer yesterday from the Franklin Park Zoo came three rare sheep, two white and one black, and a pint-sized Sicilian donkey, small enough for one to carry away in his overcoat pocket. He will be joined later, says Curator Walter Stone, by his pint-sized mother and father.

Much attention is being paid by the thousands who visited the Common to the remarkable display of hand-carved religious art located at the Tremont Street Mall fountain, opposite West street. Of particular interest to them are the 20 beautiful crèches that dominate the scene. Embellishing them are nearly 300 hand-carved wooden madonnas, cherub angels, and other fascinating religious figures.

World's Fair Could Leave Valuable, Fine, New Residential Land in Wake

(This is the third and concluding article of a study of a report of Arthur D. Little, Inc., and the Boston Redevelopment Authority to bring to Boston a World Freedom Fair in 1975.)

REUSE OF FAIR SITE

The primary reuse objective for the fair site is a new residential community with permanent fair structures as its core. We therefore intend, as a matter of policy, to maximize the reuse value of every structure erected for the fair, wherever possible.

Pedestrianways, plazas, and pools, street lights, landscaping, and other utilities — water, electricity, and gas — remain to serve the new community.

Many fair buildings remain in form, but some with new uses:

- the arrival buildings;
- the United States pavilion, now serving as a public facility; other public use structures remain as schools and churches;
- the amphitheatre remains for regional recreational purposes and as a focal point for community activity;
- foreign pavilions and state and industrial pavilions, sold to private interests after the close of the fair, now serve as commercial facilities;
- the rest of the peninsula devoted to open space uses during the fair remain as recreational amenities, or are sold as housing sites.

The new community should contain a characteristically urban density of development, rather than individual lots and detached houses. With these standards, up to 10,000 housing units, for about 30,000 to 40,000 residents, could be built.

Certainly no east coast city, in the last century, has had an opportunity to create an entirely new residential community of 400 acres, ten minutes from its downtown, surrounded by beaches, parks, and boating facilities within a short walk from any residence.

This is, in the long run, the greatest opportunity that the Bicentennial offers to us — greater than the Bicentennial celebration itself — and one that we know may never come again if we don't take advantage of it now.

Favors Height Change

Following is the statement made by James G. Kelso, Executive Vice President, Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce, before the Boston City Council Committee on Ordinances relative to height restrictions along Commonwealth Avenue, November 30:

The Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce would like to express its support for proposed changes in building height restrictions along Commonwealth avenue.

Commonwealth avenue is part of a distinctive residential area which has become increasingly characterized for its acute traffic congestion and inadequate parking; functionally obsolete buildings; conversion of residences into rooming houses, apartments and institutional uses; and general decline of real estate values. With little evidence to suggest that this trend toward decline and disrepair would be arrested if left unattended, a joint planning effort has been initiated by business, residential and institutional interests in the Back Bay to meet the problems of this area.

Although specific goals and objectives have not been delineated by this planning group, the Chamber feels that controlled high rise development along Commonwealth avenue would have the net effect of upgrading and increasing property values throughout the Back Bay area. Such development should

FINANCES—COSTS AND REVENUES

In the opinion of A. D. Little a 1975 World Freedom Fair is financially feasible and permits an exciting and unique opportunity to create tremendous permanent value and stimulate the local and regional economy without placing any major net financial burden on local or state governments and taxpayers.

A balance sheet would be as follows:

METHODS OF FINANCING

A quasipublic Authority should be created at the outset to acquire and develop land, turn it over to a "Fair Corporation" for management of building constructions and 1975 operations, and then dispose of property, presumably by reverting it to the Authority. The Authority would issue bonds guaranteed by the State and/or the City.

have specific architectural controls to insure retention of the charm and character which this avenue has so long portrayed. Further, the Chamber feels that new high rise developments should generally be amenable to long-range planning objectives for the restoration of the Back Bay area.

The Chamber fully appreciates that the present proposal to lift existing building height restrictions along Commonwealth avenue is one of a long series of suggested changes made over the past ten years and represents an attempt to reach some reasonable compromise between developer and building interests and the interests of residents, business, and institutions in the Back Bay area. Continued stalemate on building development along Commonwealth avenue is neither in the interest of the Back Bay area nor the City of Boston.

The Chamber, therefore, urges your favorable support of the proposed amendments to Chapter 19 of the Revised Ordinances of 1961 as a beginning step in the restoration of Back Bay and continuing development of a healthy investment trend in the City of Boston.

Greatest Christmas Festival Off to Fine Start

Mayor John F. Collins opened Boston's greatest Christmas Festival at City Hall Plaza at 4.30 p.m. November 26 when he gave the signal which set ablaze the lights of the 52-story Prudential Tower half-way across the city.

The Festival, Boston's 16th, exceeds in grandeur, beauty, and artistry anything ever before attempted.

It will be dedicated to our fighting men in Viet Nam and those members of the American military overseas who will not be home for Christmas.

At 7 o'clock on the night of November 26, on the gentle slope of Boston Common bordering Beacon street, the Festival site was lighted by the Mayor. The Festival will continue until January 6, 1966, the Feast of the Epiphany. It is expected to attract well over a million visitors.

All the favorite displays of past years, the heroic-sized creche, the chapel and figures are again on display this year. Added are many more features, including hand-carved wood creches and figures imported from Groden in the Tyrolean Alps.

Following the tradition set in the first festival, Boston's Christmas season was signalized at 4.30 p.m. by music and the singing of carols.

Mayor Collins presided. Guests of honor included a number of Vietnam veterans convalescing at Chelsea Naval Hospital. Representatives of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force and Coast Guard joined in the singing along with clergymen and groups representing the various faiths.

Music at the plaza was augmented by the Boston Navy Yard Band and the famed St. Ann's Boys Choir from Gloucester. Soloists were Luigi Vena, tenor, and Anacita Shea, dramatic soprano. City Councillor Peter F. Hines read the Christmas story from the Gospel of St. Luke. At the plaza, the Mayor lighted the traditional Advent wreath.

VISITOR SPENDING

In this part of our report we are concerned only with visitor spending within the Boston metropolitan area, but excluding the exposition site itself. Our intentionally conservative estimate of this spending is $280 million. (This average of $14 per day is the low end of the range of data from U. S. World's Fairs.) It would be spent largely by the 5.5 million persons traveling over 50 miles to Boston. We have estimated that these visitors will visit the exposition an average of two times. We also believe that they will spend three nights in the area, using all or part of one day to visit historic sites and other points of interest.

Our projected breakdown of this spending is as follows:

	Percent	$ Million
Lodging	25	70
Food and beverages	30	84
Transportation	10	28
Entertainment	10	28
Other (clothing, services, etc.)	25	70

The Prudential lighting display will be the most inspiring, eye-appealing, ever seen in New England. Centerpieces of this display are 50-foot tall trees on the Huntington avenue and Boylston street sides of the Tower Building. Workers scaled the walls of the great tower in bosun's chairs to raise artificial trees weighing 1,000 pounds to the seventh floor during the week.

Throughout the downtown and the Back Bay areas other buildings large and small will hail the Christmas season.

"We are dedicating this Festival," said Mayor Collins "to our boys in Viet Nam and to those men and women of the military serving our flag in many parts of the world. We invite all to join us—not only those in the metropolitan area, but the good people from outside as well.

"The season ahead expresses the eternal hope of man for good will and for peace; for joy and for understanding.

"I wish to thank all those who have participated in the plans for creating this our greatest Christmas Festival. I wish to thank all those fine individuals and organizations who will help to carry the message of Christmas to everyone.

"In the days ahead Boston will express to the world our faith in the message that was born in Bethlehem nearly 2,000 years ago."

Industrial Progress

Commerce Department officials observe that the man to be pitied is the American industrialist—every time he puts a new product on the market the Russians invent it a week later, and within two weeks the Japanese are making it cheaper.

In a way, the Russians are quite helpful. If we didn't have them, how would we know whether we were ahead or behind?

REVIEW AND NEXT STEPS

The 20 Benefits

Before we close, let's briefly review what this event can do for Boston and New England.

1. Achieve an attendance of over 20 million, and bring over 10 million visitors to Boston and New England in a single summer.
2. Earn $30 million in admissions, plus $36.9 million in other direct Bicentennial revenues.
3. Generate up to $200 million in visitor spending on the fair grounds.
4. Generate up to $300 million in visitor spending off the fair site.
5. Generate up to $65 million in spending on site development alone.
6. Generate over $100 million in construction and operation expenditures for the fair.
7. Create some 8,000 jobs.
8. Create 400 acres of prime residential land for the land-starved cities of Boston and Quincy—stimulate major new development in the Dorchester Bay-Neponset River Basin area.
9. Create costly buildings, streets, utilities, and amenities for the Bicentennial which would serve as the nucleus of an entirely new residential community, larger than the Back Bay.
10. Create new rapid transit and highway facilities.
11. Create new, permanent, tax values and a broader tax base.
12. Increase retail sales as much as 15 percent.
13. Increase bank debits as much as 20 percent.
14. Increase airline revenues as much as 40 percent.
15. Increase hotel/motel volume as much as 35 percent.
16. Increase restaurant volume as much as 50 percent.
17. Increase gas and electricity consumption as much as 10 percent.
18. Create invaluable publicity—a whole new image for New England.
19. Increase tourism and trade throughout New England—permanently.
20. Attract dozens of new clerical, manufacturing, and service industries to New England—permanently.

THE NEXT STEP

There you have it: the problems and promise of the 1975 Freedom Bicentennial in New England. Obviously, as you can see from the estimates, the potential for our region is staggering. Time is short for Boston if we hope to make this plan a reality. What, then, is the next step?

Simply this: to create, with all possible speed, a presentation on New England as the only logical site of the Bicentennial—a presentation, as we said before, so persuasive and powerful that the members of the President's Commission will find its conclusions inescapable and will endorse them unanimously.

In a word, that means a presentation impeccably organized, dramatically written, beautifully and forcefully illustrated, and masterfully presented by an outstanding spokesman for New England. It means hard and unremitting work on a presentation whose quality is essential and whose price is incidental. It means, therefore, a presentation which will cost money. And, gentlemen, to raise that money—to find the funds to do the job that must be done—we must rely on you. You have a pledge card in your hand. The sum we need—at once—to begin developing our presentation—at once—is $100,000. The stakes, as we have told you, are over one billion dollars in benefits and revenues for New England individuals, firms, and communities.

We leave it up to you!

WELFARE COSTS FOR OCTOBER

Although October's over-all caseload count remained stable, a net reduction of merely 19 cases resulting from 1,235 approvals and 1,254 closings, considerable variation did appear in individual categories. The Aid to Families with Dependent Children caseload gained 110 families; the General Relief Program lost 94 cases. An increased outlay for acute hospitalization was the major factor in a net budget rise of $53,179 to $1,925,822.

Old Age Assistance: That genuine need underlies the majority of Old Age Assistance applications is reflected in the following figures: Of the 162 applications serviced during the month, more than 80 percent (134) were approved, substantially more than the 28 requests rejected or withdrawn. Death and transfer to the Medical Assistance for Aged Program accounted for more than 60 percent of the 163 closings. The current caseload of 11,014 is 34 fewer than last month, 320 less than October, 1964. The $1,036,826 spent on this program accounts for 21.1 percent of the total budget.

Medical Assistance for Aged: Caseload activity during October resulted in the approval of 231 cases, 86 rejections or withdrawals, and 214 closings, 56.1 percent of the closings due to death of the client. No substantial changes occurred in either costs or caseload, the former rising 2 percent to $1,178,358, the latter increasing by 17 cases for a revised total of 7,623.

Aid to Families with Dependent Children: Of the 425 applications approved for assistance in this category, more than one third were prompted by marriage failure; 15.5 percent were based on the unemployment of a father. Offsetting these 425 approvals were 315 closings, for a net caseload gain of 110, a net rise to 9,269. Accounting for 33 percent of the total budget, $1,870,776 was required to underwrite this program for the month.

Disability Assistance: As might be expected, from the very nature of this program the greater segment (52.9 percent) of a $646,003 budget was allocated to medical care. Of the 119 applications approved during the month, 100 (84 percent) were new; more than one half of the 59 applications rejected were for failure to meet the standards of the State Medical Review Team. Adjusted caseload figures read 3,972.

General Relief: Caseload activity in this category was heavy, approvals totaling 326, offset by 420 closings, for a reduction of 94 cases. More than 83 percent of the approvals were based on unemployment; 163 cases were closed because of no further request for aid on the part of clients. Cost for the month amounted to $193,859, for a caseload of 2,396.

ABCD Cleared of Charges; U. S. Labor Dept. Official Finds No Political Interference with Its Work

(Following allegations contained in a Boston newspaper concerning Action for Boston Community Development, Inc., and subsequent to an exhaustive investigation of the charges conducted by himself and aides in the U. S. Department of Labor, Mark Battle, national deputy director of Neighborhood Youth Corps, issued the following statement, November 30.)

During the past several weeks the Neighborhood Youth Corps has been conducting a survey of the operations of the Neighborhood Youth Corps program under sponsorship by Action for Boston Community Development. Today, the Executive Committee of the ABCD Board of Directors has been in session with NYC representatives to discuss the situation and operational improvements in which both parties concur.

It should be noted at the outset that the NYC program administered by ABCD has contributed immeasurably to the War on Poverty in the City of Boston.

The strengths of this program begin with the unusually representative makeup of the Board of Directors and extend through the many unique projects made available to the community by ABCD during the last year. Our investigation has determined that there can be no doubt that this program is worthy of the continued support of the Neighborhood Youth Corps. As with any massive new program seeking to help the disadvantaged in the community and activated quickly in order to alleviate suffering as soon as possible, mistakes are made, weaknesses emerge, and improvements are called for.

The following improvements, in which both parties concur, are, in fact, items which have been of concern to the ABCD Board of Directors and to the resolution of which the Board has been committed and is currently engaged in implementing.

a. The basic design for fiscal controls recommended by Peat, Marwick & Mitchell, Inc., and accepted by the Board and currently being implemented will continue to be implemented as rapidly as possible.

b. A number of program controls will assist in preventing instances of ineligible enrollees. These include a stronger system for verifying enrollee eligibility, centralized maintenance of counseling records, refinement of job descriptions, and strengthened work supervision for enrollees.

c. Greater liaison will be maintained between the ABCD and the NYC to assure maximum exchange of information designed to facilitate on-going improvement of the program.

d. Any new contracts entered into by ABCD with the Neighborhood Youth Corps will specify positions to be filled, and qualifications and salaries for each position.

e. A system will be instituted to insure continuous evaluation of the Neighborhood Youth Corps projects in operation. The system will include periodic reports to the district office of the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

We are obliged to make very clear the fact that the Neighborhood Youth Corps survey has not substantiated allegations of political interference on the part of the Mayor of Boston in the operations of ABCD. The evidence, in fact, suggests just the opposite. We are obliged, likewise, to acknowledge that ABCD has been a leader among community action agencies across the nation in the unusually representative composition of its Board of Directors.

Despite the prevalence during the last several weeks of rumors and accusations, we are convinced that ABCD, as an organization, does have the strength, the commitment, and the vigor to continue to serve as sponsor of Neighborhood Youth Corps programs. It was the chief aim of the NYC investigation to determine whether ABCD is adequate to continue as a sponsoring agency for NYC programs. We have decided in the affirmative.

(Following is the statement issued by Arthur Cartland, newly elected president of the ABCD):

We here at ABCD are pleased to have had the opportunity to have a thorough review of the work of the Neighborhood Youth Corps with Mr. Battle and his associates from the Department of Labor. Much good has come from the exchange of views which has been friendly and constructive, and we look forward to the continuation of the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

I want to emphasize Mr. Battle's conclusion that there has been no evidence of political interference in the conduct of the NYC or in ABCD matters he has reviewed. This is scarcely a surprise when you think that the City of Boston could, if it chose, as many other American cities have chosen, administer the Neighborhood Youth Corps program directly from City Hall. Mayor Collins chose not to do this, but rather to assign to ABCD independent and representative as it is, the task of conducting this program.

This thorough review, although the audit is not yet complete, has established to my satisfaction and that of the Executive Committee and Board of Directors of ABCD that there has been no fraud, and no chaos. The isolated instances of misappropriation of funds totaling less than $2,000 out of approximately $9 million received and spent by ABCD during its history, have been distorted out of all proportion.

More than $1,200 has been recovered and the offending employees have been discharged. It is time for us all to take stock and realize that ABCD is a sound organization doing a constructive job which needs and merits the

Mayor Decrees Boston Boys in Viet Nam To Receive Festival Gifts; Wounded To Guide Selection Here

At the request of Mayor John F. Collins Christmas packages will be sent by the Christmas Festival Committee to all Boston men on duty at Viet Nam, says Festival Director Paul Hines. They will be paid for out of funds to be raised by the Festival Headquarters, he says.

To assure all Boston men of receiving them, their relatives and friends are requested to send the names and military addresses of all members of their families now serving in that area. They should be sent to the Festival Headquarters, Room 28, Quincy Hall Market Building.

The contents of the packages will be selected today with the advice of the wounded veterans of Viet Nam now convalescing at the Chelsea Naval Hospital.

Arrangements will be made with the Air Force, says Hines, to have them transported by air so that they will be received at Viet Nam well in advance of Christmas.

The packages will be sent in the name of "The Grateful People of Boston."

The shipment of the packages to servicemen at Viet Nam, says Hines, is reminiscent of Korea days when for three successive years the Festival Committee sent packages to the four thousand Boston men then serving in that area.

A survey made after the Korean war showed that Boston was the only city in the nation that provided its servicemen in that area with Christmas gifts.

Mayor Collins, in commenting on the action to be taken by the Festival Committee, said it is the least we can do to remind our brave sons serving in Viet Nam that they are not forgotten.

"In view of the limited time in which the Festival Committee has to work to achieve its aim, I know that all of the newspapers, television and radio stations will extend themselves to not only help the Festival Committee obtain the names and addresses of all Boston men serving at Viet Nam, but in helping the Festival Committee raise the funds it will need to finance the venture."

Money contributions to help pay for the packages may be sent to the Festival Treasurer, Prescott C. Crafts, Vice-president of the First National Bank, 67 Milk street, Boston, or to Mayor John F. Collins at City Hall. All checks should be made payable to the "Viet Nam Christmas Fund."

All names and military addresses of Boston men serving at Viet Nam must be at Festival Headquarters before December 10.

(Following is the statement issued by Dean Charles A. Schottland, past president of the ABCD):

The impression has been given that ABCD is in a state of chaos. This is false. ABCD placed 3,000 young people in employment. This could have been done only by an effective operating organization.

The impression has been given that ABCD is shot through with fraud. This is false. Out of several thousand administrative and project personnel, only three so far have been suspected of wrongdoing insofar as anyone has been able to ascertain. None of the three now work for ABCD.

The impression has been given that Mayor Collins has used political influence to get persons appointed to ABCD jobs. This is false. Out of several hundred persons employed by ABCD since its inception, the office of the Mayor has referred a number of persons without recommendation — less than many other citizens have recommended. Of these, only four or five lower echelon and qualified personnel have been hired.

The impression has been given that little has been accomplished by ABCD. This is false. ABCD has brought to the poor of Boston over a million dollars in payroll for poor youths, has given a headstart to scores of pre-school children through the Head Start program, and has been a leader in developing anti-poverty programs.

It is unfortunate that a few incidents of wrongdoings have been blown up to impugn the work and integrity of some of Boston's leading citizens.

Poster Award Winners

The winners of a poster contest sponsored by the Committee for Civic Unity were presented with prizes and certificates at a luncheon held on November 30 at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Boston.

The contest, conducted earlier this year, had as its central theme, "Civil Rights and Civil Liberties" in Boston. Over 1,000 pupils participated in the competition in the Boston public schools at the junior and senior high school level. Seventeen posters were chosen for awards. The slogan, "Make Democracy Work in Your Neighborhood," developed some interesting, appropriate, and effective posters that will be displayed throughout the city.

In the parochial schools the slogan was, "Design for Justice." Over five hundred students competed for ten awards under the supervision of Sister Mary Antonine, S.S.J., and Sister Catherine Carmelita, S.N.D.

support of the Boston community. We are glad to have the cooperation of the Department of Labor along with other governmental agencies and foundations.

I am very proud to take on the job of president of ABCD and expect to devote a major portion of my time to this effort during the months ahead, under the guidance of the most representative Board of Directors that has been set up in the whole country to handle the work.

The professional art schools produced five winners, all from the New England School of Art, where the theme was, "The High Cost of Discrimination."

Prizes were donated by Chairman Sydney Rabb, of the Board of Stop and Shop and a member of the Mayor's Committee for Civic Unity. Mr. Rubin Epstein of the City Bank and Trust of Boston will sponsor a reception and luncheon for the young artists.

The contest was initiated by the Committee for Civic Unity in an effort to stimulate discussion of equal rights, equal liberties, and equal opportunities for all of our citizens. The Committee is certain that class discussion of the specific problems in these three areas has brought forth positive suggestions for removing obstacles to these goals and led to the production of thirty-two effective posters that will aid in the reduction of prejudice, wherever displayed.

BOSTON REDEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY.

CENTRAL BUSINESS DISTRICT URBAN RENEWAL AREA.

Notice is hereby given, in accordance with section 26P of chapter 121 of the General Laws (Ter. Ed.), as amended, and other applicable provisions of law, that the Boston Redevelopment Authority, at its meeting duly held on October 14, 1965, acting under and pursuant to its powers under the provisions of chapter 121 and any other powers thereunto enabling, adopted a Resolution wherein it determined and found, among other things, as follows:

(1) That the Project Area (the Central Business District Urban Renewal Project Area described in the Exhibit "A" annexed hereto and made part hereof) is a decadent area in that it is an area which is detrimental to safety, health, morals, welfare and sound growth of the Boston community because of the existence of buildings which are out of repair, physically deteriorated, obsolete and in need of major maintenance and repair, and because buildings have been torn down and not replaced and, under existing conditions, it is improbable that the buildings will be replaced, and because of a substantial change in business and economic conditions, and because of inadequate light, air and open space and because of excessive land coverage, and because diversity of ownership, irregular lot sizes and obsolete street patterns make it improbable that the area will be redeveloped by the ordinary operations of private enterprise;

(2) That the Project Area is a blighted, deteriorated, and deteriorating area;

(3) That each of the Subareas described in the said Resolution and each of the Acquisition Areas (described in the Exhibit "B" annexed hereto and made part hereof) is a decadent area in that it is an area which is detrimental to safety, health, morals, welfare and sound growth of the Boston community because of the existence of buildings which are out of repair, physically deteriorated, obsolete and in need of major maintenance and repair, and because of a substantial change in businesses and economic conditions, and because of inadequate light, air and open space, and because of one or more of (a) a substantial change in business and economic conditions, (b) that buildings have been torn down and not replaced and, under existing conditions, it is improbable that the buildings will be replaced, and (c) that diversity of ownership, irregular lot sizes and obsolete street patterns make it improbable that the areas will be redeveloped by the ordinary operations of private enterprise;

(4) That each of the Subareas and each of the Acquisition Areas is a blighted, deteriorated, and deteriorating area; and

(5) That the Authority is preparing a land assembly and redevelopment plan or an urban renewal plan for the Project Area, which plan will include action with respect to each of the Subareas and each of the Acquisition Areas.

The rate per hour of the wages to be paid to mechanics, teamsters, chauffeurs, and laborers in the work to be performed shall not be less than the rate of wages determined for this work by the Commissioner of Labor and Industries of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts under the provisions of General Laws (Ter. The successful bidder will be required to provide by insurance for the payment of compensation and the furnishing of other benefits under the Workmen's Compensation Law, General Laws (Ter. Ed.), chapter 152, to all persons to be employed under the contract, and sufficient proof of compliance with the foregoing stipulation will be required before commencing performance of this contract.

The general bids and subbids will be deemed to relate to that signed set of specifications for the project on file at the office of the Awarding Authority designated above and bidders will act at their own risk if any variance exists between the aforesaid set of specifications and the set (or sets) of specifications furnished to the bidder by the Awarding Authority. All subbids for a subtrade designated in Item 2 of the general bid form shall be filed with the Awarding Authority, at the above office address before twelve o'clock noon, Monday, December 20, 1965, at which hour and place they will be publicly opened and read. Every such subbid must be submitted in a sealed envelope with the following plainly marked on the outside: Title of work, subtrade for which subbid submitted, subbidder's name, subbidder's business address.

All such subbids must be submitted on the form for subbid furnished by the Awarding Authority, and any such subbid not filed on the form for subbid furnished by the Awarding Authority shall be rejected.

A bid deposit in the form of cash or a certified check on, or a treasurer's or cashier's check issued by, a responsible bank or trust company, payable to the City of Boston, in the amount as specified in the following for the various subtrades as listed below shall be submitted by each subbidder with his subbid as filed with the Awarding Authority:

No subbid may be withdrawn after the time limit for the filing of subbids and for five (5) days (Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays excluded), from the day fixed for the opening of the general bids. In addition, neither the subbids filed by the three lowest responsible and eligible subbidders for a subtrade nor the subbids for the same subtrade as shown on the general bids of the three lowest responsible and eligible general bidders, may be withdrawn after the opening of the general bids and for five (5) days (Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays excluded), after presentation of the subcontract to the subbidder selected for that subtrade by the general bidder selected as the general contractor.

Specifications and other contract documents may be obtained at the office of the Awarding Authority.

A performance bond, and also a labor and materials or payment bond, each of a surety company qualified to do business under the laws of the Commonwealth and satisfactory to the Awarding Authority and each in the sum of 100 percent of the contract price, will be required of the successful general bidder.

The Awarding Authority reserves the right to waive any informalities and to reject any or all general bids if it be in the public interest so to do. The Awarding Authority also reserves the right to reject any subbid on any subtrade if it determines that such subbid does not represent the subbid of a person competent to perform the work as specified or that less than three such subbids were received and that the prices are not reasonable for acceptance without further competition, in accordance with section 44D, chapter 149, of the General Laws, as amended.

Mayor To Seek $102.25 Million for Construction—Urban Renewal Loans

Mayor Collins has included in his legislative program for the coming session of the General Court a request for $102,250,000 in new authorizations for municipal construction and urban renewal loans.

The Mayor asked in one bill for permission to borrow up to $65,000,000 outside the city's debt limit for constructing and equipping new municipal buildings. In another he asked a 100 percent increase in the amount to be borrowed for urban renewal, an increase in the limit from $37,250,000 to $74,500,000. The new bill would authorize a limit of 5 percent of the city's $1.49 billion assessment.

Public Works Commissioner John F. Flaherty asked permission to give out tickets for litterbug offenses as is now done for parking and jaywalking violations. Litter tag fines would be $1 for the first three offenses, $2 thereafter, but failure to pay would mean a fine of not less than $20 nor more than $50.

Following are "Boston" bills which will be presented:

PETITION OF THE MAYOR

Increasing the Amount of Indebtedness a City or Town May Incur for Housing, Redevelopment and Renewal Projects.

SECTION 1. The second sentence of section 26CC of chapter 121 of the General Laws, as appearing in chapter 12 of the acts of 1961, is hereby amended by striking out, in line 6, the words "two and one-half" and inserting in place thereof the word:—five.

COMMENT

Total amount of debt for redevelopment and renewal projects which cities and towns, including Boston, may have outstanding at any one time is limited by existing law to $2\frac{1}{2}$ percent of the assessed valuation of the taxable property in the city or town. If recommended renewal projects are to be undertaken in Boston, this limit must be lifted to 5 percent.

PETITION OF THE MAYOR

Authorizing the City of Boston To Borrow Money Outside Its Debt Limit To Construct and Equip Buildings It Is Authorized To Construct, Including Acquiring Land Therefor.

SECTION 1. The city of Boston, by a two-thirds vote, as defined in section one of chapter forty-four of the General Laws, may borrow from time to time sums not exceeding, in the aggregate, sixty-five million dollars, for the purpose of constructing and equipping buildings it is authorized to construct, and acquiring land therefor, and may issue bonds or notes therefor, which shall bear on their face the words:—City of Boston, Building Construction Loan, Act of 1966. Each issue shall constitute a separate loan; and such loans shall be paid in not more than thirty years from their dates. Debt incurred from time to time under this act shall not be included in determining the limit of indebtedness of said city as established by law, but shall, except as herein provided, be subject to the provisions, applicable to said city, of chapter forty-four of the General Laws, exclusive of the limitation contained in the first paragraph of section seven thereof, but including the provisions of section seventeen thereof relative to temporary loans in anticipation of the issue of bonds or notes.

COMMENT

Enactment of the above bill would provide the funds currently estimated to be required for the City's capital improvement program as expanded to coincide with the urban renewal now in progress.

PETITION OF THE MAYOR

Providing Financial Assistance by the Commonwealth to Cities and Towns in Demolishing Unsafe Structures and Carrying Out Concentrated Code Enforcement Programs.

Prudential Official Hails Regional Planning Concept for Northeast Area

The future of Boston and New England lies in a concept of regionalism which will embrace the Northeast, Senior Vice President Thomas Allsopp of the Prudential Insurance Company, recently told the Quincy-South Shore Chamber of Commerce at Ilingham.

He said the leadership in the new concept must come from New England which has 40 years' experience in implementing regional activity and which now faces a challenge as other sections draw together to seek out common objectives.

"We must now raise the dimensions of our regional efforts until we have created a broadly based, tightly knit, dynamic Northeastern region which will set the pace for the American economy of the future," Mr. Allsopp stated.

The Prudential executive told the meeting: "Regionalism makes sense. Regionalism makes progress. Regionalism is inherently expansive. It cannot be parochial. We have progressed to the point where we must now think beyond Quincy, the South Shore, the North Shore, Boston, the Berkshires, and even beyond New England. We must look to New York, to New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, and to Maryland, too. We must begin to explore avenues of mutual interest and to open interchanges of ideas and plans."

In his address, Mr. Allsopp said the pioneering efforts of the New England Governors Conference and the New England Council in the area of regionalism has given New England the opportunity to lead in regional activities in the Northeast.

He cited the creation of the Northeast Corridor to provide rapid train transportation, the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965 and the State Technical Services Act as developments which will add impetus to regionalism.

Mr. Allsopp said at the dinner: "I believe to the extent that all of us in the Northeast implement regional concepts, to that degree will we insure our continued leadership in the nation's progress and to that degree will we lay the foundation for another 200 years of pioneering achievement."

He continued: "We must convince those states near to us to benefit from our experience, follow our lead and join us."

In the address, "The Northeast—A New Look," Mr. Allsopp discussed the mutual roles of private and corporate citizens in the future. "The key to that future, I believe," he said, "lies in regionalism. All of us must look beyond Quincy and the South Shore. And we must scan the horizon beyond Massachusetts and even beyond New England until our vision comes to rest on the Northeast as a single, workable, vital entity."

He noted that the regional concept is not unique to New England but said the geographical compactness, the road nets, the great community of interests and traditions as well as the common history of the six-state area provide more impetus for regionalism here than in many other sections of the country.

The Prudential official also discussed Prudential's own regional or decentralization plan which has resulted in the establishment of eight regional home offices in the United States and Canada and outlined benefits to policyholders and to the company which have come from the program.

Jaywalk Deaths Drop To Record 6-Year Low

A 28.3 percent drop in jaywalking deaths in Boston for 1965 through October has been hailed by Mayor Collins as the "first marked change for the better in pedestrian deaths during the past six years."

Registry of Motor Vehicles figures revealed that 28 pedestrians were killed in the Hub during the first 10 months, 11 victims less than the 39 recorded through October, 1964.

Mayor Collins credited the Boston Pedestrian Lifesaving Campaign with conducting a public education program which alerted the citizens to the dangers of jaywalking, thus effecting the reduction.

"I believe that our people are truly conscientious and downright serious about ending their bad walking habits which last year cost 56 lives—a national record of which we are not so proud," he said.

He sounded a word of caution concerning the current month, calling it the "most dangerous period of the year for pedestrians."

"During December a record number of cars and shoppers will be on our streets. Many of the latter will have their arms full of bundles, and, unfortunately, many will forget the rules of safe walking."

"Our figures show that the very old and the very young are traffic victims. Help us to help keep you alive, otherwise a lot of people would miss you. Please don't jaywalk in Boston," he said.

The Registry figures disclosed that of the 28 pedestrian traffic victims 20 were males and 8 females. The average age of the adults was 63.2 years, while the acting by and through, in cities having a Plan D or E charter, the city manager and in other cities the mayor and in towns the selectmen to provide financial assistance in demolishing structures determined to be structurally unsound or unsafe for human habitation or in carrying out programs of concentrated code enforcement in deteriorated or deteriorating areas in which such enforcement, together with those public improvements to be provided by the city or town, may be expected to arrest decline of the area. Such state financial assistance may be provided only in cases where financial assistance is also being provided under sections one hundred and sixteen or one hundred and seventeen of Title I of the federal Housing Act of 1949, as amended. Such state financial assistance shall amount to one half of the cost not met by the federal financial assistance. Contracts shall not be made by said division of urban renewal under this act incurring obligations on the part of the commonwealth in excess of such appropriation or appropriations as may be made for the purposes of this act.

COMMENT

The Federal Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965 provides for federal grants to assist municipalities in demolishing unsafe structures and carrying out concentrated code enforcement programs. Above bill asks State to contribute one half of cost remaining after deducting federal assistance.

PETITION OF THE MAYOR

Relative to the Taxation of Certain Lands of the Massachusetts Port Authority on Which Private Businesses Are Conducted for Profit.

SECTION 1. Section 17 of chapter 465 of the acts of 1956 is hereby amended by inserting after the word "hereof" in line 37, the words:—and provided further that, anything herein to the contrary notwithstanding, any other land of the Authority upon which business is being conducted for private profit shall be taxed under section three A of chapter fifty-nine of the General Laws as if such land were real estate owned by the commonwealth.

COMMENT

Object of the above bill is to amend the Massachusetts Port Authority Act so as to deny tax immunity to private businesses conducted for profit on its premises and thereby eliminate tax discrimination among business competitors.

PETITION OF THE MAYOR

Providing for an Advisory Board to the Metropolitan District Commission.

SECTION 1. Chapter 28 of the General Laws is hereby amended by adding at the end the following section:—

SECTION 7. There shall be an advisory board to the commission consisting of the city manager in the case of a Plan D or E city or the mayor of each other city, and the chairman of the board of selectmen of each town, served by the commission. Each mayor or city manager and each chairman may, by writing filed with the commission, from time to time appoint a designee to act for him on such advisory board. Each city manager, mayor and chairman shall have a vote in proportion to the amount payable by his city or town with respect to the matter being voted upon. The voting percentage of each city and town with respect to each matter shall be determined by the commission in its submission of the matter. The advisory board shall act by a majority vote, except that it may delegate its power of approval to an executive committee formed and elected pursuant to duly adopted by-laws of the board and constituting among its members at least one half of the total vote of the board, and may, at any time, revoke such delegation. Except as otherwise provided by vote of the advisory board, a meeting may be called on a matter by the representative or representatives of cities and towns having five per cent or more of the votes in the advisory board on such matter.

After June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and sixty-six, the commission shall not acquire any land or extend its system of reservations or its sewerage or water systems without the approval of said advisory board; nor shall the commission commence the construction of any improvement of any of said systems without such approval unless the total cost of such improvement is not estimated to exceed fifty thousand dollars. Whenever the approval of the advisory board is required for any matter, such approval shall be deemed to have been granted unless, within thirty days of the submission of the matter, the advisory board has communicated its disapproval to the commission in writing.

COMMENT

Foregoing measure seeks the creation of an advisory board in the Metropolitan Districts modeled, to some extent, after the Advisory Board to the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority.

PETITION OF THE MAYOR

Making Certain Public Ways in the Charlestown District of the City of Boston State Highways.

SECTION 1. The following ways in the Charlestown district of the city of Boston are hereby made state highways under the care and control of the state department of public works:—(1) the ways shown in red on the plan on file in the state department of public works entitled “The Commonwealth of Massachusetts—Plan of Road in the City of Boston, Suffolk County, Laid Out as a Highway by the Department of Public Works—January 3, 1950—P. H. Kitfield, Chief Engineer” and consisting of ten sheets each initialed “J.M.C.”, which ways are hereinafter collectively called the interchange; (2) Austin street between the Prison Point bridge and Chapman street; (3) Chapman street between Austin street and Rutherford avenue; (4) Rutherford avenue between Chapman street and the interchange; (5) Cambridge street between the interchange and the line separating the city of Boston from the city of Somerville; (6) Maffa way between the interchange and said line; (7) Main street between the interchange and said line; (8) Mystic avenue between the interchange and said line; and (9) Alford street between the interchange and the line separating the city of Boston from the city of Everett, including the bridge carrying Alford street across the Mystic river and including also all bridges carrying the interchange and Cambridge street, Maffa way, Main street and Mystic avenue across the location of the Boston and Maine Railroad.

SECTION 2. Nothing in this act shall affect existing agreements, decrees, orders or statutes defining the duties, responsibilities or obligations of any railroad company or other public utilities relative to any bridge made a state highway by this act.

SECTION 3. This act shall take effect on July first in the current year.

COMMENT

It would seem clear that the state highway system should include such traffic arteries as the Sullivan Square interchange and its principal access roads, which handle far more inter-city, than intra-city, traffic. The above bill accordingly seeks to have that interchange and its approaches made State highways by legislative fiat.

PETITION OF THE MAYOR

Relative to the Care, Control and Maintenance of Certain Bridges Connecting East Boston and Chelsea.

SECTION 1. The care, control and maintenance of the Andrew P. McArdle bridge connecting Meridian street in East Boston with Pearl street in Chelsea and of the Chelsea Street bridge, so called, connecting Chelsea street in East Boston with Eastern avenue in Chelsea are hereby transferred to the state department of public works and shall hereafter be state highways; and the cost of the care, control and maintenance thereof shall hereafter be paid out of the Highway Fund.

SECTION 2. All persons employed in the operation of the draw of said bridges are hereby transferred to and made employees of the state department of public works without impairment of their civil service rights or their retirement, seniority, vacation, holiday or sick leave rights; and in no case shall the salary of any such person be reduced below the amount of his salary on the effective date of this act.

SECTION 3. This act shall take effect on July first in the current year.

COMMENT

Object of state highways is to promote inter-city travel. That is likewise the object of a bridge connecting one municipality with another. Boston is connected to Chelsea by two such bridges—the Chelsea Street Bridge and the relatively new Andrew P. McArdle Bridge. The instant measure would recognize their inter-city character and make them part of the state highway system.

PETITION OF COMMISSIONER OF TRAFFIC AND PARKING

Relative to the Rate of Speed of Motor Vehicles in Thickly Settled or Business Districts.

SECTION 1. The second sentence of section 17 of chapter 90 of the General Laws, as amended by chapter 474 of the acts of 1965, is hereby further amended by striking out, in line 9, the word “thirty” and inserting in place thereof the word:—twenty.

COMMENT

In opinion of Boston's Traffic and Parking Commission, it is unreasonable to operate a motor vehicle in a thickly settled or business district at a rate of speed in excess of twenty miles per hour. The above bill, therefore, seeks to reinstate the twenty-mile-per-hour limit in effect before St. 1964, c. 185, allowed a thirty-mile-per-hour limit.

PETITION OF COMMISSIONER OF TRAFFIC AND PARKING

Eliminating Certain Differences Between the Traffic and Parking Commission of the City of Boston and the Traffic Commissions and Traffic Directors of Certain Other Cities and Towns.

SECTION 1. The fifth paragraph of section 20C of chapter 90 of the General Laws, as appearing in section 6 of chapter 786 of the acts of 1962, is hereby amended by striking out the first three sentences and inserting in place thereof the following sentence:—The traffic and parking commission of the city of Boston, the traffic commission or traffic director of any other city or town having such a commission or director with authority to promulgate traffic rules, the city council of any other city, and the board of selectmen of any other town, shall, from time to time, establish by rule or regulation a schedule of fines for offenses subject to this section committed within such city or town; provided, however, that all such fines shall be uniform for the same offense committed in the same zone or district, if any; and provided, further, that any fine established under the provisions of this section shall not exceed fifteen dollars.

COMMENT

As its title imports, bill would eliminate certain differences between the Traffic and Parking Commission of Boston and the traffic commissions of other cities. In particular, it would not require the Commission's schedule of fines for traffic violations to be approved by the Mayor and City Council; and it would remove the $1 ceiling on the fine for all night parking.

PETITION OF COMMISSIONER OF TRAFFIC AND PARKING

Authorizing the Issuance of Permits To Park in Municipally-Owned Off-Street Parking Lots and the Use of Receipts Therefrom and Certain Other Receipts in Connection with Such Lots, and Repealing Existing Limita- tions on the Location of Such Lots.

SECTION 1. Chapter 40 of the General Laws is hereby amended by striking out section 22B, as most recently amended by chapter 122 of the acts of 1964, and inserting in place thereof the following section:—SECTION 22B. Any city or town having installed parking meters may acquire off-street parking areas and facilities by purchase, gift, eminent domain under chapter seventy-nine or chapter eighty A, by lease not to exceed five years, or otherwise, and may pay for such acquisition or lease, including the cost of policing, constructing or reconstructing, surfacing, operating and maintaining such areas and facilities, and including any debt, together with interest thereon, incurred for such acquisition, in whole or in part, from any receipts from said parking meters or from the issuance of permits to park in municipally-owned off-street parking lots or from leases of public off-street parking facilities, and may in each year transfer or pay into its general funds from said receipts a sum or sums in lieu of taxes for such year upon the average assessed valuation of said areas and facilities for the three years immediately prior to the date of acquisition, determined by multiplying each thousand dollars of such average valuation or fraction thereof by the tax rate set for the city or town for such year.

SECTION 2. Said chapter 40 is hereby further amended by striking out section 22C, as amended by chapter 449 of the acts of 1960, and inserting in place thereof the following section:—SECTION 22C. Any city or town, having installed parking meters under the provisions of section twenty-two A, may install parking meters in municipally-owned off-street parking lots or other devices for controlling such lots or may issue permits to park in such lots; and for the care and maintenance of off-street parking lots, for the purchase and construction of additional off-street parking lots, and in general for any traffic control or traffic safety purposes, including payment for public liability coverage in connection with the use of municipally-owned off-street parking lots, any such city or town may use any receipts from parking meters or other devices installed as aforesaid or from the issuance of permits to park or from leases of public off-street parking facilities.

COMMENT

Principal purposes of the above measure are to repeal certain restrictions on the location of municipally-owned off-street parking lots and to authorize the issuance of parking permits for the use of such lots instead of controlling such lots by parking meters and other devices. Under the bill, receipts from the issuance of such permits and from leases of public off-street parking facilities would be available for use for the care and maintenance of off-street parking lots, the purchase and construction of additional lots, and traffic control and traffic safety purposes in general just as receipts from parking meters in such lots currently are.

PETITION OF COMMISSIONER OF TRAFFIC AND PARKING

Making the Law Relative To Removing Certain Illegally Parked Vehicles from Certain Public Ways in the City of Boston Applicable Throughout Said City.

SECTION 1. The fifth paragraph of section 2 of chapter 263 of the acts of 1929, as appearing in chapter 387 of the acts of 1964, is hereby amended by striking out the words "in the downtown area of the city, or parked or standing in the area of the city bounded northerly by the northerly line of Cambridge street and said line extended to the Charles river, northwesterly by the Charles river, westerly by the easterly line of Boston University bridge and said line extended southerly to the right of way of the Boston and Albany Railroad, southerly by the northerly line of the right of way of the Boston and Albany Railroad to the westerly line of Massachusetts avenue, westerly again by the westerly line of Massachusetts avenue to the southerly line of the right of way of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, southeasterly and southerly by the southerly line of said right of way of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad to the downtown area of the city, and easterly, southerly and easterly again by said downtown area of the city to the northerly line of Cambridge street," and inserting in place thereof the words:—in such manner as to impede in any way the plowing or removal of snow or ice or.

SECTION 2. This act shall take effect upon its acceptance by the city of Boston.

COMMENT

G. L. c. 40, s. 22D, inserted by St. 1961, c. 322, contains the familiar words: "The provisions of this section shall not apply to the city of Boston"; and thus Boston is denied the home rule permitted every other city and town with respect to the towing of vehicles illegally parked upon public ways. The object of the foregoing measure is to rectify the situation by revising Boston's charter so as to make the authorization therein to tow such vehicles city-wide instead of restricted to the downtown and uptown areas.

PETITION OF COMMISSIONER OF PARKS AND RECREATION

Directing the Metropolitan District Commission To Dredge the Channel of the Muddy River in the City of Boston and Improve the Same and Lands Adjacent Thereto.

SECTION 1. To alleviate offensive odors emanating from the Muddy river in the Fenway district of the city of Boston and promote the use for recreational purposes of lands adjacent thereto, the metropolitan district commission is hereby authorized and directed, subject to an appropriation of money for the purpose, to dredge the channel of said river in said district and otherwise improve said channel and lands adjacent thereto.

COMMENT

Under St. 1959, c. 604, the Metropolitan District Commission has been improving the upper channel of the Muddy river. This bill would extend the work to include the dredging of that river in the Fens in an effort to alleviate the offensive odors that emanate therefrom in that area.

PETITION OF CHAIRMAN OF ZONING COMMISSION

Permitting Notice of Hearing on Proposed Amendment of Zoning Regulation in the City of Boston To Be Given Ten Days Prior to Such Hearing, and Making Corrective Changes in the Law Enabling Zoning in Said City.

SECTION 1. Section 3 of chapter 665 of the acts of 1956 is hereby amended by striking out, in lines 7 and 8, the words "city planning board of the city of Boston" and inserting in place thereof the words:—Boston Redevelopment Authority—, and by striking out, in line 154, the word "fourteen" and inserting in place thereof the word:—ten.

SECTION 2. Section 8 of said chapter 665 is hereby amended by striking out, in line 28, and also in line 53, the words "city planning board" and inserting in place thereof, in each instance, the words:—Boston Redevelopment Authority.

SECTION 3. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

COMMENT

Since St. 1956, c. 665, was passed establishing a Zoning Commission in the City of Boston and empowering it to regulate zoning in Boston, St. 1960, c. 652, s. 12, has abolished the City Planning Board and transferred its functions to the Boston Redevelopment Authority. The above bill would amend St. 1956, c. 665, to reflect this change. The bill would also reduce by four days time required to elapse between publication of notice of hearing on proposed zoning change and hearing thereon; and thus permit the Zoning Commission to act more expeditiously on petitions for zoning changes.

PETITION OF FIRE COMMISSIONER

Relative to the Protection from Fire Afforded by the Walls, Partitions, Ceilings and Corridors in Certain Buildings.

SECTION 1. Section 15 of chapter 143 of the General Laws, as amended, is hereby further amended by inserting after the third sentence, as appearing in chapter 539 of the acts of 1949, the following sentence:—Such building shall not be so erected or altered unless the walls, partitions, ceilings and corridors thereof are to be constructed of such material and in such manner as to be rated, when tested by a method recognized by such supervisor of plans as standard, to be able to resist fire for at least one hour, nor unless, when tested in accordance with National Fire Protection Association bulletin No. 255 of May 18, 1961, the flame-spread classification, the fuel contribution classification, and the smoke development classification of the exterior surface of such walls, partitions, ceilings and corridors are each between zero and twenty-five.

COMMENT

Object of this bill is to assure that in new public buildings, institutions, hotels and the like the walls, partitions, ceilings and corridors provide a one-hour fire protection, which will not be defeated by surface coverings with rapid flame spread, or substantial heat or smoke producing qualities.

PETITION OF FIRE COMMISSIONER

Concerning the Fire Alarm Systems in Hotels.

SECTION 1. Section 45 of chapter 143 of the General Laws, as amended by section 2 of chapter 690 of the acts of 1963, is hereby amended by striking out the second paragraph and inserting in place thereof the following paragraph:—

Every hotel and family hotel shall be equipped with an alarm system, which shall be subject to the approval of the head of the fire department as defined in section one of chapter one hundred and forty-eight, the activation of which shall be made from activation stations located throughout said hotel or family hotel, the number and location of such stations to be determined by the head of the fire department. Said alarm system shall be connected either with the fire alarm system of the city or town wherein said hotel or family hotel is located or with the central station of a supervisory service satisfactory to the head of the fire department, and shall be so installed and maintained that the activation thereof from any station shall cause the warning bells or gongs at that activating station and at all other stations to be sounded simultaneously.

COMMENT

A 1963 act required hotels to have internal fire alarm systems. The act failed to require a connection between such system and the municipal fire alarm system.

PETITION OF FIRE COMMISSIONER

Requiring That the Report of the Temporary Shutting Off or Disconnection or Partial Removal of a Sprinkler System, Water Main, Hydrant or Other Device Used for Fire Protection, Be in Writing.

SECTION 1. Section 27A of chapter 148 of the General Laws, as inserted by chapter 283 of the acts of 1932, is hereby amended by striking out, in line 18, the word "report" and inserting in place thereof the words:—written report.

COMMENT

Above bill seeks to assure that the reports now required by law when a sprinkler system, stand-pipe or the like is temporarily shut off shall be in writing.

PETITION OF FIRE COMMISSIONER

Authorizing the City of Boston To Contract To Provide Fire-Fighting Services in Said City for the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority.

SECTION 1. The city of Boston, acting by its fire commissioner with the approval of its mayor, and the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority are hereby respectively authorized to make contracts from time to time whereby for such annual fee said city and authority shall mutually agree the city will provide fire-fighting services in said city for said authority.

COMMENT

Enactment of the above bill would make it clear that the City of Boston and the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority are respectively authorized to enter into a contract whereby for a consideration the City would provide fire-fighting services for the Turnpike Authority's tax-exempt properties in Boston. The bill is modeled after St. 1963, c. 288, making a similar provision with respect to the Port Authority.

PETITION OF FIRE COMMISSIONER

Regulating Dead End Corridors in Certain Buildings.

SECTION 1. Section 21 of chapter 143 of the General Laws, as amended, is hereby further amended by inserting after the second sentence the following sentence:—If there is only one means of egress from a corridor or part of a corridor which is the sole means of egress from part of a building subject to this section, such corridor or part of a corridor shall be separated from all other corridors by fire resistive construction having at least a one-hour rating, with all openings in such construction fitted with a door or doors of like material.

COMMENT

Above bill, if enacted, would require fire doors at the entrance to dead end corridors so as to keep heat and smoke out until persons in that portion of the building can escape.

PETITION OF FIRE COMMISSIONER

Providing for the Licensing of Watchmen in Hotels and Lodging Houses.

SECTION 1. Section 44 of chapter 143 of the General Laws, as amended by section 1 of chapter 690 of the acts of 1963, is hereby further amended by inserting after the first paragraph the following paragraph:—

No person shall serve as a watchman under the preceding paragraph in any city or town unless he is licensed so to do by the head of the fire department as defined in section one of chapter one hundred and forty-eight, who shall determine by examination the competency of every applicant for a license under this paragraph and shall deny an application only if he finds the applicant incompetent to serve as such a watchman. A license granted under this paragraph shall, unless sooner revoked for incompetency, expire on such date in the then current, or next ensuing, calendar year as the head of the fire department shall specify thereon; and the fee for such a license shall be ten dollars, except that the fee for a renewal license for which the fee is paid on or before the expiration date of the license renewed shall be two dollars.

COMMENT

Current statutes require watchmen in hotels and lodging houses to guard against fire, but do not prescribe that such watchmen be licensed to assure their competency. The above bill would make provision for such licensing.

PETITION OF PUBLIC WORKS COMMISSIONER

Increasing the Rate of Interest on Betterment Assessments.

SECTION 1. Section 13 of chapter 80 of the General Laws is hereby amended by striking out the first sentence, as appearing in chapter 595 of the acts of 1941, and inserting in place thereof the following sentence:—Assessments made under this chapter shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from the thirtieth day after the assessments have been committed to the collector.

COMMENT

Interrelation between eminent domain takings and betterment assessments for public improvements has been recognized at least since 1921 when the General Laws put the provisions respecting the same in successive chapters. Yet when St. 1963, c. 793, increased to 6 per cent the interest rate on eminent domain damage awards, it failed to make a like increase in the interest rate on unpaid betterment assessments. Enactment of the instant bill would do so.

PETITION OF PUBLIC WORKS COMMISSIONER

Providing for the Non-Criminal Disposition of Violations of Certain Ordinances of the City of Boston.

SECTION 1. If a police officer takes cognizance of a violation of any provision of sections forty-one, forty-two, forty-three, forty-four, forty-five, forty-six, forty-nine A, or forty-nine B of chapter twenty-nine of the Revised Ordinances of the city of Boston of 1961, as amended, he shall forthwith give to the offender a written notice to appear before the clerk of the district court having jurisdiction, at any time during office hours, not later than twenty-one days after the time of such violation. Such notice shall be made in triplicate and shall contain the name and address of the offender, the time, place and nature of the violation, and the name of the police officer. Upon the completion of his tour of duty such police officer shall give his commanding officer two copies of such notice. Said commanding officer shall retain one such copy in his files and, not later than the next court day, deliver the other copy to the clerk of the court before whom the offender has been notified to appear. Said notice to appear shall be printed in such form as the chief justice of the municipal court of the city of Boston and the chief justice of the district courts may prescribe for such courts.

A police officer taking cognizance of any such violation may request the offender to state his name and address. Whoever, upon such request, refuses to state his name and address, or states a false name and address or a name and address which is not his name and address in ordinary use, shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty nor more than fifty dollars. Any such offender who refuses upon such request to state his name and address may be arrested without a warrant.

Any person notified to appear before the clerk of a district court as hereinbefore provided may appear before such clerk and confess the offense charged, either personally or through an agent duly authorized in writing or by mailing to such clerk, with the notice, the sum provided herein, such payment to be made only by postal note, money order or check. If it is the first, second or third offense subject to this section committed by such person within the jurisdiction of the court in the calendar year, payment to such clerk of the sum of one dollar shall operate as a final disposition of the case; if it is the fourth or subsequent such offense so committed in such calendar year payment to such clerk of the sum of two dollars shall operate as a final disposition of the case. Proceedings under this paragraph shall not be deemed criminal; and no person notified to appear before the clerk of a district court as provided herein shall be required to report to any probation officer, and no record of the case shall be entered in the probation records.

Should any person notified to appear before the clerk of the district court fail to appear or, having appeared desire not to avail himself of the procedure hereinbefore provided for the non-criminal disposition of the case, the clerk shall, as soon as may be, notify the officer concerned, who shall forthwith make a complaint and follow the procedure established for criminal cases. If any person fails to appear in accordance with the summons issued upon such complaint the clerk shall send such person by registered mail, return receipt requested, a notice that the complaint is pending and that if the person fails to appear within twenty-one days from the sending of such notice a warrant for his arrest will be issued. If any person fails to appear within twenty-one days from the sending of such notice, the court shall issue a warrant for his arrest.

COMMENT

Foregoing bill would make provision for the non-criminal disposition of violations by litterbugs of Boston's anti-litter ordinances, just as G. L. c. 90, s. 18A, provides for the non-criminal disposition of violations by jaywalkers of pedestrian control rules.

PETITION OF PUBLIC WORKS COMMISSIONER

Providing for the Transfer to the Metropolitan District Commission of Persons Employed by the City of Boston in the Operation of Such Parts of Its Main Drainage System as Become Part of the South Metropolitan Sewerage System.

SECTION 1. Section 2 of chapter 645 of the acts of 1951 is hereby amended by adding at the end the following paragraph:—

All persons employed by the City of Boston in the operation of such part or parts of its main drainage system as become part of the south metropolitan sewerage system under the preceding paragraph shall be transferred to and become employees of the commission without impairment of their civil service, retirement, seniority, vacation, holiday or sick leave rights. After determining the duties actually performed by such persons while in the employ of said city, the director of personnel and standardization shall arrange for their inclusion into the classified or labor service of the commonwealth in a position with like, or substantially like, duties, whether or not the title is the same as that held in the service of said city. Each such person shall be allocated in the general salary schedule in the step-in-range of the job group to which such allocated position is assigned which will give such transferred person a salary at least equal to the salary he was receiving at the time of transfer, irrespective of the years of service in the position held by him. If any person affected is already receiving a larger salary than that provided in the job group to which his position is allocated, then such person shall be allocated in the job group he would have been allocated, but at the maximum step-in-grade; provided, however, that his salary shall be the same as it was immediately prior to transfer.

COMMENT

Bill is to make provision for the transfer to the Metropolitan District Commission of persons employed on such parts of the Boston main drainage system as that Commission is about to take over.

PETITION OF PUBLIC WORKS COMMISSIONER

Providing a Penalty for Taking Parts from Motor Vehicles Abandoned on Public or Private Ways or on Certain Estates.

SECTION 1. Chapter 90 of the General Laws is hereby amended by inserting after section 22C, inserted by chapter 393 of the acts of 1965, the following section:—

SECTION 22D. Whoever takes from a motor vehicle apparently abandoned by its owner and standing upon a public or private way or upon any estate without the permission of the owner or lessee thereof any part or accessory of such motor vehicle shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars.

COMMENT

1963 Legislature (St. 1963, c. 525) recognized that abandoning motor vehicles on public and private ways and on another's property without permission has come to be an evil. The evil is magnified when the vehicle is afterwards stripped of its parts and accessories and thus immobilized. The bill set forth above endeavors to reach the problem by having stripping of vehicles made a crime.

PETITION OF PUBLIC WORKS COMMISSIONER

Relative to Interest on, and the Abatement of, Certain Water Rates and Charges.

SECTION 1. Section 42C of chapter 40 of the General Laws, as most recently amended by chapter 250 of the acts of 1965, is hereby further amended by adding at the end the following paragraph:—

Interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, unless it amounts to less than one dollar, shall be paid on every rate or charge for which a lien is in effect under section forty-two B remaining unpaid after the thirtieth day from its due date, computed from such thirtieth day. Whenever, pursuant to this section, the assessors add such a rate or charge to, or commit it as, a tax, they shall include interest thereon at the aforesaid rate from the thirtieth day after the due date thereof to the date when interest on taxes becomes due and payable, whether or not such interest amounts to less than one dollar.

SECTION 2. Section 42E of said chapter 40 is hereby amended by striking out the first sentence, as amended by section 5 of chapter 380 of the acts of 1941, and inserting in place thereof the following sentence:—An owner of real estate aggrieved by a rate or charge imposed thereon by section forty-two B, in addition to such remedy as he may have under section ten of chapter one hundred and sixty-five, may apply for an abatement thereof by filing a petition with the board or officer having control of the water department within three months after the due date of such rate or charge, and if such board or officer finds that such rate or charge is more than is properly due, a reasonable abatement shall be made; and except as otherwise provided herein, the provisions of chapter fifty-nine relative to the abatement of taxes by assessors shall apply, so far as applicable, to abatements hereunder.

SECTION 3. This act shall apply only to rates or charges becoming due after its effective date.

COMMENT

Currently, a water bill does not bear interest until it is added to, or committed as, a tax, and then only from the date such tax bears interest. The result is that there is no incentive to pay a water bill on its due date; and the collection of water bills is markedly slowed. If the first section of the foregoing bill becomes law, 6% interest, unless it amounts to less than $1 and the water bill has not been certified for addition to a tax bill, will be paid on any water bill remaining unpaid for more than 30 days after its due date, computed from such due date.

The second section of the bill would require applications for the abatement of water bills to be filed within three months after the due date of the bill, instead of within the time allowed by law for filing an application for abatement of the tax to which such bill is added.

PETITION OF PUBLIC WORKS COMMISSIONER

Providing for the Acquisition and Filling of an Additional Part of Fort Point Channel in the City of Boston, for Bridges Without a Draw Over Said Channel and for the Re- location of a Portion of Dorchester Avenue in Said City.

SECTION 1. The state department of public works, hereinafter called the department, is hereby authorized and directed to acquire in the name of the commonwealth, by purchase or otherwise, on such terms and conditions and in such manner as it may deem proper, or by exercise of the power of eminent domain in accordance with the provisions of chapter seventy-nine of the General Laws, insofar as such provisions may be applicable, or by revocation of any outstanding license in accordance with chapter ninety-one of the General Laws, such public or private lands or parts thereof or rights therein, including filled land, such public or private ways, and such rights to the tidewaters between the easterly side of the highway bridge over Fort Point channel at Dorchester avenue in the city of Boston and a line drawn by the department parallel to and within five hundred feet north-easterly from the northeasterly side of the highway bridge over said channel at Northern avenue in said city as may be necessary for relocating on the westerly side of said channel so much of Dorchester avenue as lies northeasterly of the highway bridge carrying Dorchester avenue over said channel, and for constructing the foundations and abutments for bridges without a draw over said channel at Northern avenue, Congress street and Summer street.

SECTION 2. Notwithstanding any contrary provision of general or special law, the city of Boston, acting by its mayor without further authority than that contained in this act, is hereby authorized and empowered to convey to the commonwealth, without consideration, all rights of said city in such land, ways, and tidewaters.

SECTION 3. The department is hereby authorized and directed to do, in the name and behalf of the commonwealth, any and all things necessary to obtain from the federal government such approval or other authorization as may be necessary to effectuate the purposes of this act.

SECTION 4. The department is hereby authorized and directed to reconstruct on the westerly side of Fort Point channel so much of Dorchester avenue as lies northeasterly of the highway bridge carrying Dorchester avenue over said channel and to do any and all things necessary to effectuate such reconstruction including, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the filling of land and the installation of foundations, retaining walls and rip rap. The department is also hereby authorized and directed to reconstruct without a draw the bridges over said channel at Northern avenue, Congress street and Summer street and upon the completion of such reconstruction to maintain said bridges as part of the state highway system.

SECTION 5. In anticipation of the issue of bonds authorized in section six, the state treasurer may borrow from time to time, on the credit of the commonwealth, such sums of money as may be necessary for the purpose and may issue and renew as hereinafter provided, notes of the commonwealth therefor, bearing interest payable at such times and at such rates as shall be fixed by the state treasurer.

Such notes shall be issued and may be renewed one or more times for such terms, not exceeding one year, as the governor may recommend to the general court in accordance with section 3 of Article LXII of the Amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth; but the final maturity of such notes, whether original or renewal, shall be not later than June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventy. Notwithstanding the provisions of this act such notes shall be general obligations of the commonwealth.

SECTION 6. To meet a portion of the expenditures necessary in carrying out the provisions of sections one, three and four of this act, or to refinance notes issued as provided in section five of this act, the state treasurer shall upon request of the governor, issue and sell at public or private sale bonds of the commonwealth, registered or with interest coupons attached, as he may deem best, to an amount to be specified by the governor from time to time, but not exceeding in the aggregate the sum of six million dollars. All bonds issued by the commonwealth as aforesaid shall be designated on their face, Highway Improvement Loan, Act of 1966, and shall be on the serial payment plan for such maximum term of years, not exceeding twenty years, as the governor may recommend to the general court pursuant to section 3 of Article LXII of the Amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth, the maturities thereof to be so arranged that the amounts payable in the several years of the period of amortization, other than the final year, shall be as nearly equal as in the opinion of the state treasurer it is practicable to make them. Said bonds shall bear interest semi-annually at such rate as the state treasurer, with the approval of the governor, shall fix. The initial maturities of such bonds shall be payable not later than one year from the date of issue thereof, and the entire issue not later than June thirtieth, nineteen hundred and ninety. All interest payments and payments on account of principal on such bonds shall be payable from the Highway Fund; provided, that notwithstanding the foregoing, such bonds shall be general obligations of the commonwealth.

SECTION 7. Chapter seven hundred and two of the acts of nineteen hundred and sixty-two is hereby repealed.

COMMENT

Under this bill, the State Department of Public Works would relocate on the westerly side of Fort Point Channel so much of Dorchester avenue as lies northeasterly of the highway bridge carrying Dorchester avenue over said channel, and the Northern Avenue, Congress Street, and Summer Street bridges over said channel would be reconstructed without a draw.

PETITION OF CHAIRMAN OF PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT COMMISSION

Relative to the Time Within Which Orders in Connection With Public Improvements in the City of Boston Must Be Approved by the Mayor To Be Effective.

SECTION 1. Section 2 of chapter 393 of the acts of 1906, as amended by section 2 of chapter 536 of the acts of 1913, is hereby further amended by striking out, in line 36, the word "three" and inserting in place thereof the word:—six.

Legislative Bills . . .

COMMENT

Measure set forth above would increase from the present three months to six months the time in Boston between the first published notice respecting a public improvement and final decision thereon. Changes in the general eminent domain law and practices necessitate making this request that Boston's special law governing public improvements provide more time to comply with the general law.

PETITION OF CORPORATION COUNSEL

Relative to Financial Responsibility for Certain Persons Having No Settlement Within the Commonwealth.

SECTION 1. Section 2 of chapter 545 of the acts of 1964 is hereby amended by inserting, in line 2, after the word "repealed" the following:—; provided, however, that all claims against the commonwealth for expenses incurred under the provisions of said sections prior to the effective date of this act shall be enforceable in accordance with the provisions of law in effect at the time when such expenses were incurred.

COMMENT

Bill is to make it clear that St. 1964, c. 545, did not absolve the Commonwealth of its obligation to reimburse for expenses incurred under certain provisions of law prior to their repeal by St. 1964, c. 545.

PETITION OF CORPORATION COUNSEL

Concerning the Time for Filing in the Land Court a Petition To Foreclose a Tax Title.

SECTION 1. Section 65 of chapter 60 of the General Laws, as most recently amended by chapter 305 of the acts of 1938, is hereby further amended by striking out the first sentence and inserting in place thereof the following sentence:—After one year from a sale or taking of land for taxes, except as provided in section sixty-two, whoever then holds the title thereby acquired may bring a petition in the land court for the foreclosure of all rights of redemption thereunder.

SECTION 2. Section 45 of said chapter 60, as most recently amended by section 1 of chapter 339 of the acts of 1938, is hereby further amended by striking out the last sentence and inserting in place thereof the following sentence:—No sale hereafter made shall give to the purchaser any right to possession of the land until the expiration of one year after the date of the sale.

SECTION 3. This act shall apply only to a sale or taking for nonpayment of taxes made after its effective date.

COMMENT

Generally speaking, a failure to make repairs is concomitant with a failure to pay taxes on improved real estate. The longer the tax delinquency continues, the greater is the deterioration in value from lack of repair, and the more likely is the spread of the blight. Currently, a municipality is required by law to wait two years before acting to foreclose a tax title. Enactment of the above bill would cut the waiting period to one year.

PETITION OF CORPORATION COUNSEL

Providing for Impleader in Civil Cases in the District Courts.

SECTION 1. Section 141 of chapter 231 of the General Laws is hereby amended by inserting after the letter "A", in line 1, as appearing in section 4 of chapter 616 of the acts of 1954, the following:—, four B.

COMMENT

Chapter 696 of the Acts of 1964 purported to permit impleader in all civil cases, but due to its failure to amend G. L. c. 231, s. 141, did not provide for impleader in the district courts. The above bill would supply what St. 1964, c. 696, omitted.

PETITION OF CORPORATION COUNSEL

Requiring State Departments, Agencies, Authorities and Other Bodies To Reimburse for Public Lands Taken or Used by Them.

SECTION 1. Section 1 of chapter 693 of the acts of 1955, as amended by chapter 657 of the acts of 1957, is hereby further amended by striking out the first sentence and inserting in place thereof the following sentence:—Notwithstanding any provision of law authorizing the taking by eminent domain or otherwise of public lands without the payment of damages therefor, whenever the state department of public works or the metropolitan district commission or any other department or agency of the commonwealth or any authority or other body politic and corporate existing in the state department of public works or otherwise shall acquire public lands, or the use thereof, by eminent domain or otherwise without the payment of damages therefor, such department, agency, authority or body shall pay the city, town or other political subdivision having title thereto or, in the case of land owned by the commonwealth, the department or agency having custody thereof, an amount to be mutually agreed upon.

SECTION 2. This act shall take effect as of the effective date of said chapter six hundred and ninety-three of the acts of nineteen hundred and fifty-five.

COMMENT

Bill is designed to insure that when the state or another public body takes land from the City, the City is reimbursed for it, which is, in many instances, not the case today under decisions of the Supreme Judicial Court.

Surgical Shock Deaths Can Be Reduced

Deaths attributed to surgical shock either associated with trauma with blood loss, metabolic derangements, fluid displacement or infections—reactions that sometimes may accompany emergency or elective surgery—can be prevented in many instances if physicians will consider shock as a “far-reaching biochemical disorder associated with the inadequate circulation of blood through the body.”

“This blood flow,” said Dr. George H. A. Clowes, Jr., Harvard Clinical Professor of Surgery at the Boston City Hospital, in a report presented on December 1 at the annual Clinical Convention of the American Medical Association in Philadelphia, “is important in terms of oxygen delivery to the tissues. Rather than depending upon arterial blood pressure, a late and inadequate measure of circulatory competence,” he suggested that the venous pressure be employed. This indicates the amount of blood returning to the heart to be pumped through the lungs and, now oxygenated, on to the body as a whole.

“The clinician,” said Dr. Clowes, “by relatively simple chemical determinations, can measure the degree of chemical injury caused by this oxygen lack in the tissues.”

Loss in blood volume accompanied by oxygen lack, metabolic derangements as imbalances in sodium and potassium which prevent the cells of the cardiovascular system from responding normally to the demands for circulation, fluid displacement (as edema, the abnormal accumulation of fluids in extra-cellular areas), and infections, Dr. Clowes pointed out, are factors that, unless they are checked, set into motion a vicious circle of events that can lead to death.

Reversal of the chain of events to save the life of the patient, Dr. Clowes noted, involves both time and the severity of the factor involved in shock.

Among the corrective measures that can be employed, Dr. Clowes listed whole blood transfusions to replace that lost in the badly bleeding patient (or blood volume substitutes as dextran or hydroxyethyl starch to be used until whole blood transfusion is available); fluid replacement through saline solutions; administration of antibiotics as well as the drainage and removal of infected areas; and the use of oxygen and/or respirators to improve respiratory function.

Prompt and correct employment of the necessary corrective measures, once shock is evident, said Dr. Clowes, coupled with a better understanding by surgeons of how to prevent the accident from occurring in the first place, “will result in a lowered mortality rate.”

Honor Retiring Officers

The retirement of two well-known Boston police detectives was marked by a dinner on December 8 in the hall of the new building of the Firefighters' Union at 55 Hallet street, Dorchester.

Friends honored Leo Devlin and Arthur O'Shea, retired from the Dudley Street police district. The pair worked on many celebrated criminal cases in various parts of the state as well as Boston.

Julius Goldstein of Roxbury Court headed the ticket committee which included:

Sergt. Howard Kelly, Detective Sidney Goodman and Detective Charles McManus.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

December 1.

Personnel Order No. 835.

Patrolman John H. MacDonald, District 4, is hereby commended for meritorious police duty and granted three days' additional vacation.

About 7 P.M., Thursday, October 28, 1965, Patrolman MacDonald in the 4-15 radio patrol car upon entering the alley in the rear of 353 Commonwealth avenue in response to a disturbance report, heard a man calling for help and observed this man being beaten. Upon the approach of the officer the assailant fled the scene.

The victim later identified as Robert Huesman, 40 years, of 20 Neptune avenue, Winthrop, informed the officer he had been robbed, further stating the person responsible was armed with a knife.

Patrolman MacDonald gave immediate pursuit. The officer momentarily lost sight of the fugitive, only to be confronted by this man in a darkened section of the alley. After a fierce struggle, Patrolman MacDonald disarmed the culprit and placed him under arrest for robbery.

At District 4 the prisoner was identified as Ciro Genauldo, 3d., 20 years, 6-1, 200 pounds, of 403 Chelsea street, East Boston. A search of his person disclosed a brown leather wallet containing $94 in U. S. currency and two endorsed checks amounting to $400 as well as personal property in the name of Robert Huesman. The victim identified his personal papers and the prisoner as the man who had assaulted and robbed him.

Ciro Genauldo, 3d., was arraigned before Judge Adlow in the Boston Municipal Court on Friday, October 29, 1965, where he was found guilty of robbery while armed and sentenced to the Concord Reformatory.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the action displayed by Patrolman MacDonald who with complete disregard for his own safety entered a darkened alley, to apprehend a felon, who was armed with a dangerous weapon.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 4, 1965.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen:

On June 30, 1965, Miss Mary Dorothea Devereaux retired after forty-six years of faithful service as a teacher and vice-principal in the Boston public schools. As a mark of her continuing interest in the schools and in the students who attend them, she has presented to the City of Boston the sum of five thousand dollars to establish the "Mary Dorothea Devereaux Fund."

I have this day filed with the City Clerk the written instrument signed by Miss Mary Dorothea Devereaux which formally gives the money to the city and sets forth in detail the terms and conditions of the gift. From this writing it is plain that it is the intent of the donor that the fund shall be held as a permanent fund with the income thereof to be used to award such number of United States Savings Bonds or comparable obligations of the Government of the United States as the income of the fund will permit.

The awards are to be presented to one boy and one girl in the graduating class or the class of the highest grade in Brighton High School, the William Howard Taft Junior High School, the Thomas A. Edison Junior High School, the Prince School, the James A. Garfield Elementary District, and the Bennett Elementary District who have shown the highest degree of improvement in the growth and development of character effected through the influence of teachers. Provision is also made for award committees to select the recipients.

Transmitted herewith for your early adoption is an order accepting this most generous, public-spirited gift.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of five thousand dollars given, assigned and transferred to the City of Boston by Miss Mary Dorothea Devereaux by the written instrument dated September 28, 1965, and filed with the City Clerk on October 4, 1965, which sum by action of Miss Mary Dorothea Devereaux is now on deposit in the Brighton Five Cents Savings Bank to the credit of the City of Boston—Mary Dorothea Devereaux Fund (Account No. SN36) be, and the same hereby is, accepted with gratitude upon the trust set forth in said instrument and further:

Ordered, That the sum of one hundred eight and 34-100 dollars ($108.34) also given, assigned and transferred to the City of Boston by said instrument, which sum is also now on deposit with the Brighton Five Cents Savings Bank as aforesaid, be, and the same hereby is, accepted with gratitude for the purpose stated in said instrument.

On motion of Councillor Langone, the rules were suspended and the order was passed.

October 14, 1965.

Hon. John F. Collins,
Mayor's Office.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request a supplementary budget allowance for the year of 1965 of two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000) in our Veterans' Relief Item 45.

Since the beginning of the year we have had strikes which have increased our case load. In addition we have had to pay increased hospital rates, medicine, drugs, etc; Blue Cross-Blue Shield, charges for budget allowances authorized by the State Veterans'

Services Department. There has also been an increase in the cost for visits of the visiting nurses.

Concurrence of your office is respectfully requested in the granting of this supplementary budget allowance for Item 45 since it is obvious that we cannot carry out the proper functions of the Veterans' Services Department without sufficient funds in this item.

Very truly yours,

EDMUND F. HOHMANN, Commissioner.

Ordered, That the sum of two hundred thousand (200,000) dollars be, and hereby is, appropriated for the purposes hereinafter specified, said sum to be appropriated from available funds in the City Treasury.

As of September 20, 1965, a total of $145,079.23 had been spent or encumbered leaving a balance of less than $10,000 for the remaining three months of the year. The funds are necessary to provide for ordinary and preventive maintenance which cannot be deferred.

The 1964 expenditures for Food were $821,900. The 1965 appropriation for this purpose was $780,000. An additional $40,000 will be required to provide food services in 1965. For the first eight months of 1964, total patient days were 203,159. For the comparable period of 1965, patient days were 206,596.

34. HOUSEHOLD, $40,000.

Total expenditures charged to budget Item 34, Household Supplies and Materials, for 1964 were $229,473. The budget allocation for 1965 was $200,000. An additional $40,000 is requested. As of September 14, 1965, a total of $231,284.16 has been spent or encumbered. Charged to this item are the multitude of items used in the ordinary maintenance of the hospital, such as sheets, blankets, pillows, pillow cases, towels, paper products, soap, detergents, bedspreads, face cloths, mops, brooms, dishes, kitchen utensils, etc. Estimated expenditures for 1965 of the major items based upon requirements already delivered or on order or requisition are as follows:

35. MEDICAL AND SURGICAL, $300,000.

In 1964 total expenditures for Medical and Surgical Supplies, were $1,625,283. The 1965 appropriation was $1,580,000. An additional $300,000 will be needed for 1965 requirements for the following purposes:

Drugs, pharmaceuticals, etc.	$175,000
Syringes, needles, catheters.	25,000
Intravenous solutions.	25,000
Sterile medical and surgical supplies and instruments.	35,000
Surgical dressings, gauze, bandages, etc.	40,000
Total	$300,000

In August, 1964, the purchase of supplies and materials of all kinds was sharply curtailed. By the end of the year 1964, inventories had been seriously depleted. The current fiscal year began without any supplies and materials of some kinds and very low supplies of others. There has been a steady increase in the cost of drugs and supplies of all kinds and disposable items have been introduced in areas in the hospital where safety in patient care, quality of control and improved efficiency were mandatory.

36. OFFICE, $45,000.

In 1964, expenditures for Office Supplies, Printing and Materials, were $94,142. The 1965 appropriation for this purpose was $80,000. An additional $45,000 will be required for 1965. As of September 20, 1965, expenditures and encumbrances for office supplies, printing and materials totaled $115,072. This appropriation is used almost in its entirety for the printing of the multitudinous forms required for the operation of the hospital. Postage and office supplies account for approximately $15,000 of the entire appropriation. With the exception of the printing of multipart precarboned forms and other printing which the Printing Department is not equipped to handle, all of the printing is done by the Printing Department.

39. MISCELLANEOUS SUPPLIES AND MATERIALS, $40,000.

Expenditures charged in 1964 to budget item 39, Miscellaneous Supplies and Materials, were $168,802. The 1965 budget allocation was $130,000. An additional $40,000 is requested. Charged to this item are articles of clothing furnished by the hospital to patients, nurses, doctors and hospital personnel; for example, bathrobes, hedgowns and slippers for patients, operating room caps and gowns for doctors and nurses, and uniforms for orderlies, porters, security guards, interns, residents and other hospital personnel; electrical, carpentry, plumbing and painting supplies used by hospital personnel; and other items not clearly classifiable in other budget items for supplies and materials. As of September 14, 1965, a total of $173,047.60 has been spent encumbered or on requisition for the following purposes:

Uniforms and clothing.	$77,075.
Rubber gloves.	28,325
Tubing, rubber and plastic.	14,200
Carpentry, electrical, plumbing and paint supplies.	54,300
Total	$173,900

49. MISCELLANEOUS CURRENT CHARGES AND OBLIGATIONS, $10,000.

The 1965 budget allocation was $40,000. An additional appropriation of $10,000 will be required for 1965 operations. In 1964 expenditures under this item were $38,690. The additional amount requested is needed to pay for the rental of data processing equipment, one accounting machine to handle the increased work load and two typewriter-card punches. The latter equipment produces punched cards as a by-product of writing requisitions for the purchasing department and eliminates a need for key-punch operators. Following is a breakdown of the purposes for which this appropriation is expended:

Rental of data processing equipment.	$33,761
Massachusetts Hospital Association dues.	4,070
Subscriptions to medical journals.	2,964
Rental of ice making machines.	1,715
Rental of xerox equipment.	4,600
Rental of radon and iridium.	1,000
Miscellaneous.	2,000
Total	$50,110

In this revised request, additional funds for personnel and equipment have been omitted and additional funds requested for budget items 26, 34, 35, and 39, have been reduced. Personnel requirements will be met by a policy of filling positions where there is the most need by using funds allocated for other positions and through savings brought about by reduced overtime expense and savings resulting from less than full weekly payments to employees due to absences. Necessary equipment requirements will be met by using equipment funds allocated to the Plant Department and unencumbered. Reductions have been made in other budget items after further review and the amount requested is urgently needed for the balance of the year.

Very truly yours,

JOSEPH P. LALLY,
Deputy Superintendent for Finance.

Ordered, That the respective sum of money specified for the Boston City Hospital be, and hereby is, appropriated for the purposes hereinafter specified, said sum to be appropriated from available funds in the City Treasury.

AMENDING EARLY LAND ACQUISITION LOAN FOR CASTLE SQUARE PROJECT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 18, 1965.
The Honorable City Council.

Gentlemen:

The Boston Redevelopment Authority has requested me to seek your acknowledgment of an amendment to the Early Land Acquisition Loan for the Castle Square portion of the South End Urban Renewal Area.

At the time the original Early Land Acquisition Loan was approved in the amount of $5,532,763, it was expected that the South End Urban Renewal Project would be in execution by this year and therefore covered costs only through the originally estimated time period. As you know, the South End has proven to be a most complex urban renewal rehabilitation effort and the project is only now going through the public approval process.

The Boston Redevelopment Authority has therefore found it necessary to request an amendment to the Castle Square Early Land Acquisition Loan, increasing the amount of loan from $5,532,763 to $6,579,807 to cover costs until the end of this year.

The major factors necessitating this increase are outlined below:

- (1) Increased administrative costs due to the time extension required before the project enters the Loan and Grant stage;
- (2) Increased real estate acquisition costs because it was originally thought that the Project would be in Loan and Grant prior to the need for these funds;
- (3) Increased relocation payments due to the Relocation Adjustment Program introduced in 1965;
- (4) Increased costs for the management of acquired property and payments-in-lieu-of-taxes made to the City of Boston.

This application for additional funds has been approved by the Housing and Home Finance Agency; however, the Federal Government has requested that the City Council acknowledge its awareness of the increase in this loan.

I am accordingly submitting herewith a proposed resolution, in the form suggested by the Federal Government, acknowledging City Council awareness of an increase of $947,044 in the Castle Square Land Acquisition Loan for your consideration.

I respectfully request approval of the attached resolution by the City Council so that this project may go forward without undue delay.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

RESOLUTION OF BOSTON CITY COUNCIL ACKNOWLEDGING AN AMENDMENT TO THE EARLY LAND ACQUISITION LOAN FOR PROJECT NO. MASS. R-156 (L) AND REAFFIRMING RESPONSIBILITY TO BEAR ANY LOSS ARISING AS A RESULT OF EARLY LAND ACQUISITION AND RELATED ACTIVITIES.

Whereas, The Boston Redevelopment Authority proposes to amend an Early Land Acquisition Loan Contract executed on December 5, 1962 (herein called the "Contract"), for financial assistance under Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (herein called "Title I") with the United States of America (herein called the "Government"), acting by and through the Housing and Home Finance Administrator, pursuant to which Federal funds were provided for early land acquisition and related activities in connection with an urban renewal project (herein called the "Project") known and referred to as the Castle Square portion of the South End Urban Renewal Area shown on the plan entitled "Boston Redevelopment Authority, South End Urban Renewal Area, Land Use Map", filed with the City Clerk; and

Whereas, It is now necessary to secure additional funds in the amount of $947,044, to carry out such activities; and

acquisition unless " . . . the governing body of the locality shall have assumed the responsibility to bear any loss that may arise as the result of such acquisition in the event that the property so acquired is not used for urban renewal purposes because the urban renewal plan for the project is not approved, or is amended to omit any of the acquired property, or is abandoned for any reason"; and

Whereas, The Boston City Council on October 1, 1962, approved such early land acquisition and related activities in the above-described area and authorized execution of an appropriate covenant assuming the responsibility to bear such loss, which covenant was executed on October 3, 1962; and

Whereas, The Government wishes the City Council to be aware of and to acknowledge said application by the BRA for such additional funds; now therefore be it

Resolved, By the Boston City Council as follows:

1. That it hereby acknowledges the proposed increase of $947,044 in the early land acquisition loan.

2. That it agrees to assume, and does hereby assume, the responsibility to bear any loss that may arise as a result of the acquisition of land and the undertaking of related activities with financial assistance provided under the amended contract in the event that the property so acquired is not used for urban renewal purposes because the urban renewal plan for the project is not approved, or is amended to omit any of the acquired property, or is abandoned for any reason.

Referred to the Committee on Urban Renewal.

RESOLUTION APPROVING URBAN RENEWAL PLAN FOR SOUTH END PROJECT AND ORDER FOR LOAN OF $4,260,000.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor.
Honorable City Council.

Gentlemen:

On September 23, 1965, the Boston Redevelopment Authority approved the South End Urban Renewal Plan. This approval, together with other findings and determinations required under Chapter 121 of the General Laws, was made by the Authority after consideration of statements, views and opinions expressed at a public hearing held by the Authority on August 23, 1965, in the Project Area to consider the Plan.

Under the provisions of Chapter 121 of the General Laws and Title I of the Federal Housing Act, the Authority must secure approval of the plan by the Mayor with the approval of the City Council. Federal requirements specify that such notice should be published at least once a week for two successive weeks, with the first notice to be published not less than ten days prior to the date of the hearing. The attached list indicates the documents which are hereby submitted for your consideration.

The plan appears to have broad support throughout the South End Project Area; and it is my belief that it serves the best interests of those citizens, as well as the best interests of the City of Boston. I fully recommend the South End Plan for your approval.

Respectfully,
JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

RESOLUTION OF BOSTON CITY COUNCIL APPROVING URBAN RENEWAL PLAN AND THE FEASIBILITY OF RELOCATION FOR THE SOUTH END URBAN RENEWAL PROJECT, NO. MASS. R-56.

Whereas, Under the provisions of Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, the Housing and Home Finance Agency (hereinafter called the "HHFA") is authorized to provide financial assistance to Local Public Agencies for undertaking and carrying out urban renewal projects;

Whereas, It is provided in such Act that contracts for financial aid thereunder shall require that the Urban Renewal Plan for the respective Project Area be approved by the governing body of the locality in which the Project is situated and that such approval include findings by the governing body that;

(1) the financial aid to be provided in the contract is necessary to enable the Project to be undertaken in accordance with the Urban Renewal Plan; (2) the Urban Renewal Plan will afford maximum opportunity, consistent with the sound needs of the locality as a whole, for the rehabilitation or redevelopment of the Urban Renewal Area by private enterprise; (3) the Urban Renewal Plan conforms to a general plan for the development of the locality as a whole; (4) the Urban Renewal Plan gives due consideration to the provision of adequate park and recreational areas and facilities, as may be desirable for neighborhood improvement, with special consideration for the health, safety, and welfare of children residing in the general vicinity of the site covered by the Plan; and (5) the objectives of the Urban Renewal Plan cannot be achieved through more extensive rehabilitation of the Project Area;

Whereas, The Boston Redevelopment Authority (hereinafter called the "Authority") has made application for financial assistance under such Act with the HHFA pursuant to which, upon approval, Federal funds will be provided for the Urban Renewal Project (hereinafter called the "Project") identified as "South End Urban Renewal Project—No. Mass. R-56" and encompassing the area (hereinafter called the "Project Area") described in Section 102, which is a part of the South End Urban Renewal Plan hereinafter referred to;

Whereas, The Authority has made detailed studies of the location, physical condition of the structures, land use, environmental influences, and social, cultural and economic conditions of the Project Area and has found and determined that the character and conditions of the Project Area as described in the Project Area Report submitted herewith do exist; that the Project Area is at present a decadent area in that it is an area which is detrimental to the safety, health, welfare and sound growth of the community because of the existence of buildings which are out of repair, physically deteriorated, unfit for human habitation, obsolete, in need of major maintenance or repair, because much of the real estate in recent years has been sold for nonpayment of taxes or upon foreclosure of mortgages, because buildings have been torn down and not replaced which, under existing conditions, probably will not be replaced, because of a substantial change in business and economic conditions, because of inadequate light, air and open space, because of excessive land coverage, and because diversity of ownership, irregular lot sizes, and obsolete street patterns make it improbable that the area will be redeveloped by the ordinary operations of private enterprise; and further, that the Project Area is at present a substandard area, wherein dwellings predominate, which, by reason of dilapidation, overcrowding, faulty arrangement or design, lack of ventilation, light or sanitation facilities, and a combination of these factors, are detrimental to the safety, health, welfare and sound growth of the community;

Whereas, There has been prepared and referred to the City Council for review and approval an Urban Renewal Plan for the Project Area, dated September 16, 1965, entitled "Boston Redevelopment Authority—Urban Renewal Plan—South End Urban Renewal Area—Project No. Mass. R-56," consisting of 39 pages of text and 5 maps, duly approved by the Authority on September 23, 1965, and submitted to the City Council by his Honor the Mayor;

Whereas, The Mayor has submitted to the City Council with the Urban Renewal Plan, but not as a part thereof, the following documentation:

(1) Resolution of the Authority authorizing submission of Urban Renewal Plan and supporting documentation to Mayor of the City of Boston, City Council and the State Division of Urban Renewal;

(2) A resolution of the Authority finding the Project Area to be an eligible urban renewal area;

(3) A resolution of the Authority approving the Urban Renewal Plan and approving the Relocation Program;

(4) Relocation Program;

(5) Proposed Cooperation Agreement between the City of Boston and the Authority, together with attached resolution authorizing execution of the Agreement by the Authority; and

(6) South End Urban Renewal Project Area Report.

Whereas, A general plan entitled "1965-1975 General Plan for the City of Boston and the Regional Core" (hereinafter called the "General Plan") has been prepared and was duly approved by the Authority on March 11, 1965, and is recognized and used as a guide for the general development of the City of Boston as a whole;

Whereas, The Authority, pursuant to Chapter 652 of the Acts of 1960, has been granted the powers and shall perform the duties conferred on planning boards of cities in Massachusetts by general laws applicable to Boston, including Section 70 of Chapter 41 of the Massachusetts General Laws, and has also been granted the powers and shall perform the duties conferred by statute or ordinance on the former City of Boston Planning Board, and in such capacity, has found that the Urban Renewal Plan conforms to the General Plan, and the City Council has duly considered said findings;

Whereas, The Urban Renewal Plan for the Project Area prescribes certain land uses for the Project Area and will require, among other things, changes in zoning, the vacating and removal of streets, alleys, and other public ways, the establishment of new street patterns, the location and relocation of sewer and water mains and other public facilities, and other public action;

Whereas, Under Section 104 of Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, the City must make local grants-in-aid, as defined in Section 110(d) of said Title I, equal at least to one-third of the actual net project cost for the Project Area as finally determined and approved by HHFA in accordance with said Title I, and the Loan and Grant Contract to be entered into between the Authority and HHFA;

Whereas, A proposed Cooperation Agreement between the Authority and the City has been presented to the City Council providing for the making of the local grants-in-aid by the City;

Whereas, The Authority has prepared and submitted a program for the relocation of individuals and families that may be displaced as a result of carrying out the Project in accordance with the Urban Renewal Plan (referred to as the Relocation Program and contained in the documentation submitted herewith);

Whereas, The members of the City Council have general knowledge of the conditions prevailing in the Project Area and of the availability of proper housing in the City for the relocation of individuals and families that may be displaced from the Project Area and, in the light of such knowledge of local housing conditions, have carefully considered and reviewed such proposals for relocation;

Whereas, It is necessary that the Boston City Council take appropriate official action respecting the Relocation Program and the Urban Renewal Plan for the Project;

Whereas, Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, and the regulations of HHFA effectuating that Title, provide that no person shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination in the undertaking and carrying out of urban renewal projects assisted under Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended;

Whereas, A public hearing on the Urban Renewal Plan was held, after due notice thereof, at which time the City Council received evidence and heard extensive opinions from residents of the Project Area and other persons with respect thereto, and all persons desiring to be heard on the Urban Renewal Plan were so heard; and

Whereas, The members of the City Council have carefully considered and reviewed the Urban Renewal Plan in the light of (1) the supporting documentation submitted herewith as aforesaid; (2) the proceedings at the aforesaid public hearing; and (3) the general knowledge of the City Councilors with respect to conditions prevailing in the Project Area and in the City of Boston as a whole; now, therefore, it is hereby

Resolved:

(1) That it is hereby found and determined that the Project Area is a decadent and substandard area and qualifies as an eligible Project Area under Chapter 121 of the Massachusetts General Laws, as amended;

(2) That the Urban Renewal Plan is hereby approved and the City Clerk is hereby directed to file a copy of the Urban Renewal Plan with the minutes of this meeting;

(3) That it is hereby found and determined that the financial aid provided and to be provided pursuant to the contracts for Federal financial assistance pertaining to the Project is necessary to enable the Project to be undertaken in accordance with the Urban Renewal Plan;

(4) That it is hereby found and determined that the Urban Renewal Plan will afford maximum opportunity, consistent with the sound needs of the City as a whole, for the urban renewal of the area by private enterprise;

(5) That it is hereby found and determined that the Urban Renewal Plan conforms to the General Plan of the City of Boston;

(6) That it is hereby found and determined that the Urban Renewal Plan gives due consideration to the provision of adequate park and recreational areas and facilities, as may be desirable for neighborhood improvement, with special consideration for the health, safety, and welfare of children residing in the Project Area;

(7) That it is hereby found and determined that the objectives of the Urban Renewal Plan cannot be achieved through more extensive rehabilitation of the Project Area;

(8) That it is hereby found and determined that the program for the proper relocation of the individuals and families displaced in carrying out the Project in decent, safe, and sanitary dwellings in conformity with acceptable standards is feasible and can be reasonably and timely effected to permit the proper prosecution and completion of the Project; and that such dwellings or dwelling units available or to be made available to such displaced individuals and families are at least equal in number to the number of displaced individual and families, are not generally less desirable in regard to public utilities and public and commercial facilities than the dwellings of the displaced individuals and families in the Project Area, are available at rents or prices within the financial means of the displaced individuals and families, and are reasonably accessible to their places of employment;

(9) That in order to implement and facilitate the effectuation of the Urban Renewal Plan hereby approved, it is found and determined that certain official action must be taken by the City Council with reference to said Plan, and accordingly, the City Council hereby (a) pledges its cooperation in helping to carry out the Urban Renewal Plan; (b) requests the various officials, departments, boards and agencies of the City having administrative responsibilities in the premises likewise to cooperate to such end and to exercise their respective functions and powers in a manner consistent with the Urban Renewal Plan; (c) stands ready to consider and take appropriate action upon proposals and measures designed to effectuate the Urban Renewal Plan; and (d) authorizes the Mayor of the City of Boston to execute and deliver in the name of and on behalf of the City, a Cooperation Agreement substantially in the form of the one presented to this meeting;

(10) That the United States of America and the Housing and Home Finance Administrator be, and they hereby are, assured of full compliance by the City Council with regulations of HHFA effectuating Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Ordered, That under the provisions of Section 26CC of Chapter 121 of the General Laws, as amended, the sum of four million two hundred sixty thousand dollars ($4,260,000) be, and the same hereby is, appropriated, to be expended in aid of and with the approval of the Boston Redevelopment Authority and in accordance with said Urban Renewal Plan for the South End Urban Renewal Area and said Cooperation Agreement by and between the City of Boston and the Boston Redevelopment Authority for defraying such items of the development costs of said Urban Renewal Project, to which the Federal Government, pursuant to Federal legislation, shall have rendered or agreed to render financial assistance, as will not be met by loans, contributions, or grants from the Federal Government or otherwise, and that to meet said appropriation the Collector-Treasurer be, and he hereby is, authorized to issue, from time to time, on request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City to said amount.

RESOLUTION APPROVING SURVEY AND PLANNING APPLICATION AND EARLY LAND ACQUISITION FOR CENTRAL BUSINESS DISTRICT URBAN RENEWAL AREA.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 18, 1965.
The Honorable City Council.
Gentlemen:

I am enclosing herewith for the consideration of the City Council the Early Land Acquisition Program for the Central Business District Urban Renewal Project Area as approved by the Boston Redevelopment Authority after public hearing.

This is a very sound program and one which will significantly help the revitalization of the downtown area. In particular the development of the South Station will provide a major opportunity for new investment and economic growth. The Early Acquisition Program has received the strong support and endorsement of the Committee for the Central Business District, representing the civic and business interests of the downtown area.

There are enclosed a proposed resolution and a proposed covenant together with other materials and documents submitted to this office by the Authority. I urge prompt and favorable action by the Council on this matter.

Sincerely,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

RESOLUTION OF BOSTON CITY COUNCIL APPROVING THE FILING OF A REVISED SURVEY AND PLANNING APPLICATION EFFECTING A BOUNDARY CHANGE FOR THE CENTRAL BUSINESS DISTRICT URBAN RENEWAL AREA, APPROVING EARLY LAND ACQUISITION AND DISPOSITION AND RELATED ACTIVITIES IN THAT AREA, AND APPROVING A COVENANT AGREEING TO BEAR IN CERTAIN EVENTS LOSS WHICH MIGHT ARISE AS A RESULT OF SUCH EARLY LAND ACQUISITION.

Whereas, Under Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (herein referred to as "Title I"), the Housing and Home Finance Administrator (herein referred to as the "Administrator") is authorized to extend financial assistance to local public agencies in the elimination and prevention of the spread of their slums and urban blight through the planning and undertaking of urban renewal projects;

Whereas, It is desirable and in the public interest that the Boston Redevelopment Authority (herein referred to as the "Authority"), make surveys and prepare plans, and the Authority is preparing an urban renewal plan in order to undertake and carry out an urban renewal project of the character contemplated by Section 110(c) of Title I, to wit, the urban renewal project known as the "Central Business District Urban Renewal Project," Mass. R-82 (herein referred to as the "Project"), within an area of this City of Boston described in the attached Exhibit "A" (herein referred to as the "Project Area");

Whereas, The Project Area is larger than the Central Business District Area with respect to which this City Council on October 1, 1962, approved the filing of a Survey and Planning Application for federal financial aid because, among other things, such surveys and plans and other studies have demonstrated that it is necessary in order to accomplish proper planning objectives to add to the area specified in said Application an additional portion of the City of Boston which is closely related to the said area so specified;

Whereas, It is therefore necessary to file a Revised Survey and Planning Application which covers the Project Area as described in said Exhibit "A";

Whereas, The Authority proposes to enter into an Early Land Acquisition or Temporary Loan Contract (herein referred to as the "Contract") for financial assistance under Title I with the United States of America (herein referred to as the "Government") acting by and through the Administrator, pursuant to which federal funds would be provided for early land acquisition and related activities in connection with the Project;

Whereas, Under such Contract the Government would provide financial assistance for early land acquisition and related activities, and the applicable provisions of Title I provide that "No loan for such purpose shall be made unless . . . the governing body of the locality . . . shall have approved by resolution or ordinance the acquisition of real property in the urban renewal area";

Whereas, Title I also provides that "the Administrator may . . . permit any structure so acquired to be demolished and removed, and may include in any loan . . . the cost of such demolition and removal, together with administrative, relocation, and other related costs and payments, if the approval of the local governing body extends to such demolition and removal", and further that such real property may be disposed of if "the local governing body of the locality involved shall have . . . consented to the disposal of such real property";

Whereas, Title I further prohibits any loans from being made for the purposes of early land acquisition unless:

"either (A) the Administrator shall have determined that such loan is reasonably secured by a first mortgage or other prior lien upon such real property or is otherwise reasonably secured, or (B) the governing body of the locality shall have assumed the responsibility to bear any loss that may arise as the result of such acquisition in the event that the property so acquired is not used for urban renewal purposes because the urban renewal plan for the project is not approved, or is amended to omit any of the acquired property, or is abandoned for any reason";

Whereas, Pursuant to Chapter 121 of the General Laws (Ter. Ed.), as amended, the Authority, with the consent of the Mayor and with authorization from the City Council, may acquire by eminent domain or otherwise and hold, clear, repair, operate and dispose of land constituting any part or parts of any area which it has found to be decadent and for which it is preparing an urban renewal plan;

Whereas, The Authority has found the Project Area to be decadent and is preparing an urban renewal plan therefor and deems it necessary, advisable and in the public interest to acquire and clear, operate and/or dispose of the parts of the Project Area shown on the map attached hereto as Exhibit "B", and the Authority has approved for Parcels 1, 2, and 3 shown on the map attached hereto as Exhibit "C" the "Land Use and Building Requirements" set forth in Exhibit "D" attached hereto;

Whereas, A general plan entitled "1965-1975 General Plan for the City of Boston and the Regional Core" (herein referred to as the "General Plan") has been prepared and approved by the Authority and is recognized and used as a guide for the general development of the City of Boston as a whole;

Whereas, The Authority has prepared a program for the relocation of businesses that may be displaced as a result of carrying out such early land acquisition which is referred to as the "Relocation Program" and has been attached hereto as Exhibit "E"; and

Whereas, Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, and the regulations of the Administrator effectuating that Title, provide that no person shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination in the undertaking and carrying out of urban renewal projects assisted under Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended; now therefore be it

Resolved as follows:

1. That the Project Area is a slum, blighted, deteriorated, or deteriorating area appropriate for an urban renewal project and that the undertaking by the Authority of surveys and plans for an urban renewal project of the character contemplated by Section 110(c) of Title I in the Project Area is hereby approved.

2. That the financial assistance available under Title I is needed to enable the Authority to finance the planning and undertaking of the proposed Project.

3. That this Council is cognizant of the conditions that are imposed in the undertaking and carrying out of urban renewal projects with Federal financial assistance under Title I, including those relating to (a) the relocation of site occupants, (b) the provision of local grants-in-aid, (c) the prohibition of discrimination because of race, color, creed, or national origin, and (d) the requirement that the locality present to the Administrator, as a prerequisite to approval of the application described below, a workable program for community improvement, as set forth in Section 101(c) of Title I, for utilizing appropriate public and private resources to eliminate and prevent the development or spread of slums and urban blight.

4. That (a) this Council approves the conditions under which relocation assistance will be provided, and relocation payments made, to occupants displaced on account of the early land acquisition proposed by the Authority as set forth in said "Relocation Program," and (b) it is the sense of this Council (i) that a feasible method for the relocation of individuals and families displaced from the Project Area, in conformity with Title I, can be prepared, and (ii) that the local grants-in-aid can and will be provided in an amount which will be not less than one third of the Net Project Cost of the Project and which, together with the Federal capital grant, will be generally equal to the difference between Gross Project Cost and the proceeds or value of project land sold, leased, or retained for use in accordance with the urban renewal plan.

5. That the filing of a Revised Survey and Planning Application by the Authority to enable it to continue preparing surveys and plans for an urban renewal project in the Project Area is hereby approved.

6. That the "Land Use and Building Requirements" set forth in Exhibit "D" hereto, which requirements are to be included in the urban renewal plan for the Urban Renewal Area which is under preparation by the Authority, are hereby approved.

7. That such requirements conform to the general plan for the locality as a whole and will afford maximum opportunity, consistent with the sound needs of the locality as a whole for redevelopment of the Urban Renewal Area by private enterprise; and that the redevelopment of said Parcels 1, 2, and 3, and each of them, in accordance with the aforesaid requirements and in advance of the approval of the urban renewal plan for the Urban Renewal Area will promote the public welfare and is necessary for the proper development of the community.

8. That there are also hereby approved the acquisition of real property in the Project Area as shown on the map attached hereto as Exhibit "B", the demolition and removal of any structure acquired with financial assistance provided under the Contract, and the inclusion in the early land acquisition loan of funds sufficient to cover the cost of any such acquisition demolition or removal, together with administrative, relocation, and other related costs and payments.

9. That the disposition of the Parcels 1, 2 and 3, and each of them, shown on the map attached hereto as Exhibit "C", in accordance with the "Land Use and Building Requirements" set forth in Exhibit "D" be and hereby is approved.

10. That the City of Boston agrees to assume, and does hereby assume, the responsibility to bear any loss that may arise as a result of the acquisition of such land and the undertaking of related activities with financial assistance provided under the Contract in the event that the property so acquired is not used for urban renewal purposes because the urban renewal plan for the project is not approved, or is amended to omit any of the acquired property, or is abandoned for any reason.

11. That the Mayor be, and he hereby is, authorized and empowered in the name of and in behalf of the City, (a) to consent to the acquisition by eminent domain or purchase or otherwise of land described in Exhibit "A" hereto, (b) to consent to the holding, clearance, repair, and/or operation of such land, (c) to consent to the disposition of said Parcels 1, 2, and 3, and each of them, in accordance with said "Land Use and Building Requirements," and (d) to execute and deliver a covenant in the form attached hereto as Exhibit "F."

12. That the United States of America and the Housing and Home Finance Administrator be, and they hereby are, assured of full compliance by the City Council with regulations of HHFA by effectuating Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

The documents referred to in the foregoing communication are annexed hereto.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILLOR WILLIAM J. FOLEY.

Upon receiving unanimous consent to make a statement, Councillor Foley stated that a letter being sent out in South Boston was prompted by Edward J. Logue, the letter stated that Councillor Foley in 1960 was against holding public hearings but the truth was the City Council felt that the new Mayor at that time should be given the right to make plans. He further stated that Mr. Logue's policy is to represent anyone opposed to him as an extremist and against all federal aid. Councillor Foley further stated that the letter was a gross misrepresentation and is dirty politics.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILLOR KERRIGAN.

Upon receiving unanimous consent to make a statement, Councillor Kerrigan stated that an urban renewal study has been made but there is nothing of an official nature before the Body. Councillor Kerrigan further stated that there is nothing wrong in making a neighborhood study, it was the responsibility of the City Council and that is the way he stands on this matter.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILLOR CRAVEN.

Upon receiving unanimous consent to make a statement, Councillor Craven stated that she had been the victim of a vicious letter circulated throughout the housing projects but the postal inspectors some day would uncover the author. She further stated she would leave the final decision to the people.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILLOR G. F. FOLEY.

Upon receiving unanimous consent to make a statement, Councillor G. F. Foley stated that a technique was being used to excite the people of South Boston as regards urban renewal in that area. He further stated when he had an opportunity to read the letter in question he would be in a better position to comment on it.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILLOR W. J. FOLEY, JR.

Upon receiving unanimous consent to make a statement, Councillor Foley stated that the GNRP concept was originally introduced as an excuse to obtain planning funds. He further stated that in 1967 there will be a vote in the City Council on a project for South Boston. Councillor Foley further stated and presented photographs of maps showing proposed takings, this he stated is responsible for the consternation in South Boston. Councillor Foley invited anyone present to examine the photographs he referred to.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILLOR KERRIGAN.

Upon receiving unanimous consent to make a statement, Councillor Kerrigan stated that if the City Council had not voted for GNRP in 1960 the Redevelopment Authority could not go into any section of the city. He further stated that presently there is nothing before the Body and if there are maps everybody should be allowed to see them.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILLOR G. F. FOLEY.

Upon receiving unanimous consent to make a statement, Councillor G. F. Foley stated the date the photographs and the prospective BRA maps were in existence should be put on the record. He also agreed that they were poor photographs.

He also stated that the Prudential legislation made the BRA the planning agency for the city and it can go any place in the city. He further stated he had shown the photographs to the newspaper men in the pressroom some time ago. Councillor Foley stated the photographs were the best he had, and the existence of the maps was not denied.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILLOR CRAVEN.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILLOR KERRIGAN.

Upon receiving unanimous consent to make a statement, Councillor Kerrigan stated that no money has been voted for plans or surveys for various areas so therefore he did not know what there is to vote against.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILLOR W. J. FOLEY.

Upon receiving unanimous consent to make a statement, Councillor Foley stated that the project was one to end all projects, one on which Edward Logue spent $186,000.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILLOR KERRIGAN.

Upon receiving unanimous consent to make a statement, Councillor Kerrigan stated that the $186,000 was an outright grant by the federal government for the study.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILLOR TIERNEY.

Upon receiving unanimous consent to make a statement, Councillor Tierney stated that the maps referred to were made by a private group and were totally unacceptable to the BRA. He also stated he was born and raised in South Boston and recognized the fact that there is blight and decay in the area which people want cleared up. Councillor Tierney also stated there would be differences of opinion in certain areas but no vote favoring one would be cast unless it benefitted the local area and also the entire city. He further stated he regretted the stirring up of the people of South Boston, and would not vote to tear out any neighborhood.

STATEMENT BY COUNCILLOR CRAVEN.

Upon receiving unanimous consent to make a statement, Councillor Craven stated that this would not have happened if Mr. Logue kept out of politics and kept his hand out of what is not his concern.

RESOLUTION APPROVING LOW-RENT HOUSING IN PRIVATE ACCOMMODATIONS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 25, 1965.
To the City Council,
Gentlemen:

At present, the Boston Housing Authority is administering a subsidized program of public housing for persons of low income in projects which, by the acquisition of land and the construction of buildings, it has developed over a period of thirty years, with special emphasis in recent times on such housing for the elderly, the handicapped, the persons displaced by other public projects. By the Federal Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965 (Public Law 89-117) the current session of the Congress of the United States has provided for supplementing the public housing program just mentioned through the use by the Boston Housing Authority of dwelling units in existing privately-owned structures leased by the Boston Housing Authority from the private owners. Under this program, the Boston Housing Authority will pay the private owners an economic rent for such accommodations; but the tenant will pay the Boston Housing Authority only the rent he would pay if he lived in one of the Authority's low-income public housing projects. The difference will be defrayed by federal grants to the Boston Housing Authority.

This new program entails no grant or subsidy on the part of the city. Because it uses existing structures, it also requires no supporting municipal projects or facilities such as new streets and the like. In addition, the properties used will continue subject to local real estate taxes. In short, the Boston Housing Authority may embark upon this new program without imposing financial burdens upon the city.

Transmitted herewith is a letter sent me by the Boston Housing Authority setting forth further details regarding this new program. As that letter points out, the governing federal statute will not become operative in Boston until the application of its provisions to Boston are approved by your Honorable Body. To that end, I not only recommend but urge your early adoption of the accompanying resolution.

Respectfully,

JOHN F. COLLINS, Mayor.

Boston Housing Authority,

October 19, 1965.

Hon. John F. Collins,
Mayor of Boston.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

As you are aware, the Housing Act of 1965 (Public Law 89-117) has made provision for low-rent housing in private accommodations. This establishes a new form of low-rent housing, authorizing existing privately owned housing to supplement the units provided in low-rent public housing projects under the conventional program. The act provides that these provisions will not apply in any locality unless the local governing body, in this case the Mayor and Boston City Council, approve their application by a resolution. A form of resolution which has been approved by Public Housing Administration is enclosed.

When the provisions of the Housing Act of 1965 are made applicable by the Mayor and City Council, this authority will conduct a continuing survey and listing of the available privately owned units in the City of Boston which provide decent, safe and sanitary dwelling accommodations and are (or may be made) suitable for use as low-rent housing in private accommodations under the new program.

The act further provides that the public will be notified from time to time of the anticipated need for dwelling units to be used under the new program and owners of housing listed will be invited to make one or more of their units available for this purpose. Not more than 10 percent of the units in any single structure can be used in the program except in the case of buildings with small numbers of units or in other cases determined by the Housing Authority. If the Authority then finds that units offered in response to the invitation are or can be made suitable to the new program and that the rentals to be charged are within its financial range, it may approve the units as low-rent housing in private accommodations.

The Authority may enter into a contract for a term of from one to three years which may be renewable with the owners of the approved housing for use in its program. Each contract will make the selection of tenants for the units involved a function of the owner of the property subject to the contract between the local Authority and Public Housing Administration; will provide for the negotiation of the rentals by the Housing Authority and the owner, will give the Housing Authority the sole right to give a notice to vacate and will contain other appropriate terms and conditions.

Payments under the new program to housing owners will be made from funds authorized for annual contributions to low-rent public housing. In any case such payments will be limited to the amount of the fixed annual contributions payable for a newly constructed project offering comparable accommodations in the City of Boston.

As in the case of the conventional program, there could also be payable the additional subsidy of up to $120 per year for units occupied by elderly, handicapped or displaced persons or families.

The requirement of tax exemption of the leased accommodations, of a local Cooperation Agreement and workable program, which would otherwise be applicable to low-rent public housing constructed by the Authority, are waived under this section of the law.

The Authority feels that the advantages of the new program should be made available to the City of Boston as expeditiously as possible. It is respectfully requested that you submit the enclosed order to the City Council for approval by that body.

Very truly yours,

JACOB I. BRIER, Chairman.

Whereas, Under the provisions of section 23 of the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended, the Public Housing Administration of the United States is authorized to provide financial assistance to local public housing agencies in providing low-rent housing by leasing dwelling units in existing privately-owned structures; and

Whereas, Said section 23 provides that the provisions thereof shall not apply to any locality unless the governing body of the locality has, by resolution, approved application of such provisions to such locality; now therefore be it

Resolved, By the City Council of the City of Boston that the application of the provisions of section 23 of the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended, to the City of Boston be, and the same hereby is, approved.

Referred to the Committee on Public Housing.

WORKABLE PROGRAM FOR COMMUNITY IMPROVEMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, October 25, 1965.
Hon. Boston City Council,
Gentlemen:

I am pleased to transmit herewith the report on the progress under the Workable Program for Community Improvement in the City of Boston.

The Workable Program is a requirement of the federal government by which a city endeavors to show that it is doing its full share in the effort to prevent the spread of blight.

I commend this document to you for your review and consideration. I believe that our city has made substantial progress in our efforts to rebuild and renew Boston so that it can become a better and finer place to live.

The material in the Workable Program is divided into seven areas. These include Codes and Ordinances, Comprehensive Planning, Neighborhood Analysis, Administrative Organization, Financing, Housing for Displaced Families, and Citizen Participation.

In all these areas Boston has achieved a record of which we can all be proud. As Mayor I wish to congratulate the many hundreds of men and women who have given so freely of their time and energies in the common cause of preserving and renewing our city. The details of our record of progress are set forth in the document itself. I urge your favorable consideration so that the Workable Program may be recertified for the coming year.

Sincerely,

JOHN F. COLLINS,
Mayor of Boston.

Order approving "Workable Program":

Whereas, The City of Boston has undertaken a comprehensive program of urban renewal designed to eliminate slums and blight from the city; and

Whereas, The National Housing Act of 1954, as amended, requires that a community seeking urban renewal funds demonstrate through a "Workable Program" that the city is doing its part to prevent the spread of slums and blight; and

Whereas, The City of Boston recognizes its responsibilities and has in operation a "Workable Program" of urban renewal which was approved by the Administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency for the previous year; and

Whereas, An annual restatement of the "Workable Program" is a requirement of the National Housing Act; and

Whereas, The "Workable Program" contains a statement of the city's progress in seven areas, as follows:

- (1) Codes and Ordinances
- (2) Comprehensive Community Plan
- (3) Neighborhood Analysis
- (4) Administrative Organization
- (5) Financing
- (6) Housing for Displaced Families
- (7) Citizen Participation; and

Whereas, The "Workable Program" has been carefully studied and reviewed by the City Council after public hearing; now therefore be it

Resolved, By the City Council of the City of Boston that:

The "Review of Progress under the Program for Community Improvement (Workable Program)," herein incorporated by reference, be, and it hereby is, approved; therefore it is Ordered, That the Mayor of the City of Boston be, and be hereby is, authorized to notify the Administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency of such approval; it is further Ordered, That the Mayor of the City of Boston be, and be hereby is, authorized to supply such additional information or make such modification in the "Review of Progress under the Program for Community Improvement (Workable Program)," as may be necessary to serve the approval of the Housing and Home Finance Administrator, provided such modification shall not substantially change any of the provisions thereof.

INTERIM REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CLAIMS.

Coun. HINES, for the Committee on Claims, submitted the following interim report:

Mr. President, I wish to make an interim report relative to a claim and not in the hands of the Clerk, prior to the Clerk reading the claims that I have approved as Chairman of your Committee on Claims.

As you know, Mr. President, these claims are processed through the Law Department in the first instance. The chief responsibility of your chairman is to review them and I think I can honestly say for your committee that we have done everything to expedite the thousands of claims that are in process through this Body in the past year.

But one claim has come to me today concerning the claim of a gentleman from a town known as Laurelton, New York, to be reimbursed for damage to his car, and while the amount involved is not large, $25.25, I wish the record to show, and I want the Assistant Corporation Counsel to take note, and I am going to ask the Corporation Counsel to take the envelope and recommit it to the Law Department for review.

Mr. President, the claim seems to be, on examination if approved by your Honorable Body it could conceivably set a precedent. What happened was, the man's car was illegally parked and was towed to the underground Common garage. He claims in his correspondence with the Boston Police Department, the Law Department, and the City Clerk it was damaged, and it is clear from the file of the captain of the division, Daniel J. Moynihan, that he emphatically denies the Boston Police Department could be in any way responsible for this damage.

If I may read to you this communication from Capt. Daniel J. Moynihan, Traffic Division, to the Police Commissioner.

"Attached communication from the office of the City Clerk, in relation to a claim of Barry Gerston, Cohn, Hall-Marx Company, 99 Chauncy street, Boston, for damage to his car, a Chevrolet sedan, New York Registration 646-KD which allegedly resulted from its being towed by the Police Department on April 22, 1965, from in front of 87 Essex street Boston where it had been parked in violation of regulations.

"The subject vehicle was towed to the Boston Common Garage on order of Sgt. George F. Delaney, Traffic Division.

"The records of this division show that the vehicle was not damaged in the process of towing. Examination of the vehicle by Sergeant Delaney at the time of towing disclosed prior damage to it as follows: Left front fender and front end.

"The operator of the tow truck, Albert A. Nalbandian, of 20 Creighton street, Jamaica Plain, reports that the subject vehicle was in no way damaged during the towing operation.

"I respectfully recommend that the office of the City Clerk be so informed.

"DANIEL J. MOYNIHAN, Captain, Commanding Traffic Division."

Based on the captain's statement, it would seem to me foolhardy and possibly the basis of thousands of claims against the City of Boston to approve this claim although it involves only $25.25.

I might further say it seems to me this type of case is entirely in point with the case of Mrs. Fancy's car. Here, again, is a case where it would seem the underground Common Garage Authority is accepting the vehicles towed to it, and I assume collecting parking charges against the operator of vehicle, and yet there seems to be not the faintest indication, in the file of the Law Department that liability might attach to the Underground Common Garage Authority, the Massachusetts Parking Authority, to be technical, rather than the City of Boston.

Based on these facts at the minute, your chairman as a matter of interim report will not approve the claim of one Barry Gerston of Laurelton New York, vs. the City of Boston, and I am going to ask Assistant Clerk Masuret if he will recommit it to the Assistant Corporation Counsel to recommit it to the Law Department, with perhaps two questions:

1. Why the City of Boston should accept the claim where it is conceivable the car was damaged while in the custody of the Under Common Garage Authority; and 2, why should the statement of Capt. Daniel J. Moynihan who says that no one connected with this incident of the City of Boston was negligent, be overridden, especially where the traffic sergeant who ordered it towed said in his report to the captain the car was in a damaged condition before it was towed.

For the Committee,
PETER F. HINES, Chairman.

The interim report was accepted.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CLAIMS.

Coun. HINES, for the Committee on Claims, submitted the following:

Report on petition of Edward J. Sweeney (referred October 4) to be reimbursed as the result of an execution issued against him on account of his acts as an employee of the Fire Department—recommending passage of the accompanying order:

Ordered, That the sum of one hundred twenty dollars ($120) be allowed and paid to Edward J. Sweeney in reimbursement for amount of execution issued against him on account of his acts as an employee of the Fire Department, assigned to Engine Company 17, said sum to be charged to the appropriation for executions of Court, Damage and Reimbursements.

The report was accepted, and the order was passed.

THANKS TO MARY DOROTHEA DEVEREAUX.

Coun. KERRIGAN for all the Councillors:

Whereas, On October 18, 1965, the Boston City Council unanimously passed an order accepting the generous gift of $5,000 establishing the Mary Dorothea Devereaux Fund; and

Whereas, This gift is intended to reward the efforts and achievements of students in the growth and development of character effected through the influence of teachers; and

Whereas, Such an act of kindness and thoughtfulness reflects the character of the dedicated men and women who are entrusted with the teaching of the children of this great city, these noble men and women who give freely of their time and talents to mould the future citizens of America; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the City Council of Boston, in meeting assembled, expresses its sincere thanks to Mary Dorothea Devereaux on behalf of all the people of Boston for making possible the establishment of this fund and wishes for her God's choicest blessings in the years that lie ahead.

Boston Boys in Vietnam; Wounded at Chelsea Naval Hospital Remembered

Immediately after 373 Christmas boxes were sent to Hanscom Field, Bedford, to be transferred by the Air Force to Vietnam for Boston men on duty there, Mayor John F. Collins requested his Christmas Festival Committee to arrange for Christmas boxes for the 45 wounded Vietnam heroes at the Chelsea Naval Hospital, the only local institution caring for the Far East wounded.

The Mayor's request will be carried out says Festival Director Paul Hines. Already, he says, the contents of the proposed gift boxes are being selected by the hospital nurses, who best know what will please these wounded men. The boxes will be delivered to the institution before Christmas.

In each of the boxes shipped overseas is a Christmas greeting card. It reads "Christmas Greetings" and says, "From the Grateful People of Boston." It is signed by Mayor Collins and the Christmas Festival Committee.

"I am happy," said Mayor Collins, "that the people of Boston think enough of their war heroes to remember them with gift boxes at Christmas. All former servicemen can testify to the thrill receiving a Christmas box from home brings with it. The feelings are impossible to describe."

"Persons wishing to contribute toward the payment of the boxes may do so by sending checks to Festival Treasurer Prescott C. Crafts, First National Bank, 67 Milk street, or to me at my office. Checks should be made payable to the Vietnam Christmas Fund."

PHA Pay Hike

Chairman Jacob I. Brier of the Boston Housing Authority, recently announced an increase in the wages of all maintenance workers employed in the federally aided and state-aided public housing developments in the City of Boston.

The wage rate increase, determined by the Public Housing Administration after a survey of prevailing rates for comparable work as provided under federal law, is retroactive to March 31, 1965.

Some 473 hourly wage employees in 16 maintenance classifications are affected by the determination.

The average dollar amount of the increase is $224 a year per employee—an average of four percent.

This percentage increase is consistent with the movement of wages generally in the Boston labor market in the two-year period since the last wage increase in March, 1963.

The total wage increase will amount to approximately $106,000 yearly on the basis of 473 employees working a 40-hour week and a 52-week year.

Payment of the new scale to all maintenance employees continues the Authority's traditional single-wage schedule policy of providing the same compensation for all employees in the same classification of work, whether working exclusively on federally aided or state-aided developments or performing work in connection with both.

Mayor Deplores Army Base Closing Order

(Following is the statement of Mayor John F. Collins regarding official announcement of the closing of the Boston Army Base):

"The closing of the Boston Army Base, which has meant so much to the Port of Boston and the City of Boston strikes another blow to the economy of this area. The million dollar payroll and annual contributions of this facility to Boston's economy will be sorely missed.

"Massachusetts does not obviously lack for attention from Defense Secretary McNamara, when one considers the Springfield Armory, the Watertown Arsenal, and now the Boston Army Base.

"With the closing of federal facilities throughout Massachusetts, perhaps we may now expect that Greater Boston, and Haverhill in particular, may now be considered as the prime location for the proposed atomic research installation."

10 Years Short Time If We're To Get '75 World Fair Chamber Head Points Out

(This is the address delivered by President Abram T. Collier of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce at the opening of the recent Boston Municipal Employees Conferama. Subsequent issues of the "City Record" will carry other Conferama addresses and panel discussions.)

It is both a privilege and pleasure to be asked to participate in these meetings. They have become, I understand, in a relatively few years a very fine tradition. Perhaps some of you remember what Fibber Magee said about traditions. He said traditions last longer than laws and the reason is this: (a) we don't dare bust traditions for if we do, they will be made into laws; (b) laws can be repealed, but traditions can't, ergo (c) traditions last longer than laws.

This particular tradition is, I suppose, a form of education. In my opinion one of the most important developments of the last 20 years has been the discovery that in the business world it pays to educate the management. This may not sound revolutionary now, but years ago it was plain that management assumed it had all the answers; at least it never dared to admit that it didn't. Nowadays managers are quick to concede they are not doing their jobs as well as they can be done. By studying the techniques of administration, they know what can and should be done and feel a professional commitment to reach that goal.

A commitment is difficult and there are also reasonable doubts about what management education can do. The skeptics are apt to say that education is what you need if you don't have any brains; or that brains are what you need if you don't have an education. Obviously training alone will not accomplish great things. Still I suspect that management education and training will be with us for some time. And, in any event, it may be reasonable to hope that traditions such as these meetings will continue.

Our subject today—the Government Center—is one on which everyone is more expert than I am. Nevertheless, anyone can see the Government Center rising and rising with a power, a beauty and an assurance of which we may have been dimly aware before, but which is now clearly apparent. That it is here is due to the efforts of our city officials and countless others who have overcome seemingly insurmountable obstacles. It is, above all, a demonstration of what can be done when the many diverse elements in the community submerge their differences and build on their common interests.

I have been asked to comment briefly on the role business has played and will play in the redevelopment of the city. In the Government Center itself, the central job has, of course, been done by the representatives of the federal, state, and local governments. Private initiative, however, as you will hear in detail, has not been absent:

In One Center Plaza, where the private semi-circular building between the new Center and the Hill is an integral part of the overall plan.

In Parcel Eight, where even before its construction has started, most of its space has been spoken for by private interests.

In the West End, where the major part of the private construction program has been completed.

Rehabilitation, Too

What is not yet clearly evident, but will surely come before long, is the rehabilitation of many older buildings in surrounding areas. Some has started and when the owners of other properties then see the Government Center in operation and feel the many demands which it will create, they will doubtless make new investments in older buildings which until now have had only the poorest prospects.

It is to the east, however, beyond Faneuil Hall, that the business community has made its greatest effort. Here in the market district and on the waterfront, the redevelopment plan was put together by a corporation set up several years ago by the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce. Sometimes I think we forget that we have around our harbor one of the most beautiful views of any city in the world, but once the waterfront work gets under way, we will not be likely to forget it again. One major rehabilitation project has already started, and the planning for two new apartments, plus a hotel, designed by I. M. Pei, is nearly finished. Ground for the new aquarium has been broken, as you know. And, hopefully, before long the markets will be reestablished in South Boston and Everett and work in that area can go forward in earnest.

One of the major functions of the Chamber is to sell Boston as a place to visit and as a place to live in and work in. Before the New Boston came into view this was not an easy thing to do. Now, and increasingly as centers such as the one in which we now sit are completed, we are beginning to see much greater results from these efforts.

Ahead—The Fair?

What we are talking about, was started five to ten years ago. Now the question arises: What is being planned now that will come to fruition 10 years hence? Let me mention one project in which the Chamber is interested and of which you will hear more and more as time goes on. I speak of the World's Freedom '75 Fair.

Ten years seems a long time looking ahead, but only a short time looking back. Even though we might prefer to wait until the misfortunes of New York were fully forgotten, we do not have much time to spare. For if Boston wants to have a World's Fair in 1975, it must win a competition with Philadelphia. Both may have expositions, but only one can, by international treaty, be designated as a true World's Fair, and only one will receive the sponsorship of the federal government.

Should we want the Fair? I think we should:

1. The development of a fair site near Thompson's Island, in the harbor across from South Boston and Columbia Point, will give us, at a reasonable cost, the land and public buildings for a new, utterly modern, section of the city that will contain possibly 30 to 40 thousand people. Also created between this new neighborhood and the city will be a Neponset River Basin to rival the Charles River Basin which we have built into one of the city's brightest attractions.

2. By bringing millions of visitors to this region, the Fair will provide not only a direct benefit for many businesses but will have aftereffects for many years in increased numbers of tourists, and in the selection of Boston and New England as a most desirable place to locate new businesses.

3. Boston was the real birthplace of American freedom, and it deserves a celebration worthy of the magnitude of its heritage.

4. Planning the Fair, making it into a unique event, will require the energies of all parts of this region, and out of it should come a further unification of the community.

There are many reasons given why a fair should not be held. It is said to be difficult; but everything worthwhile is. It is said to be risky; but so is living. It is said television has dulled our interest by bringing every new marvel into all our homes; but increased millions, it seems, are still crowding our highways and jamming our airlines in an eager rush to see the real thing. No, there is no reason why we cannot put on an outstanding fair and gain all its benefits if we want it and want it enough.

Ford Grant . . .

to ABCD during a three-year period.

"On behalf of the Foundation may I extend every good wish for the success of this program," Secretary Joseph M. McDaniel, Jr., wrote in notifying President Gartland of the grant.

"I am pleased to advise you that the Ford Foundation has approved a grant of $245,000 to Action for Boston Community Development, Inc.," said Mr. McDaniel. "Of this amount $170,000 is for central administration of a program of community improvement and development from October 1, 1965, through June 30, 1966, and $75,000 is for the operation of two multi-service centers in the Roxbury and Charlestown neighborhoods of Boston from January 1, 1966 through June 30."

The funds will help already established multi-service centers in carrying on their many-faceted programs designed to aid poverty victims in their areas in need of counseling services in the matter of employment, legal, health, housing, neighborhood and family problems.

The Charlestown center is known as the John F. Kennedy Center and is located at 27 Winthrop street. It was dedicated March 7 last year. The Roxbury Center was dedicated October 3 and is located at 317 Blue Hill avenue.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

December 3.

Personnel Order No. 837.

Patrolman Francis J. Hines, District 1, is hereby commended for meritorious police duty and is granted three days' additional vacation.

About 1240 A.M., Saturday, October 9, 1965, Patrolman Hines while performing his duty in a business area of District 1 had his attention drawn to metallic soundings emanating from the Providence Packing Company, 143-145 Fulton street, Boston. Approaching the building entrance he observed the glass in the front door had been broken, the door partially open, and he heard voices coming from within. Sensing burglars were at work inside the building he proceeded across Fulton street to a nearby signal box to summons assistance, all the while keeping the premises under surveillance.

Upon returning to the location Patrolman Hines observed a venetian blind in a window of the second floor move, the window open, and an unknown person look up and down the street. The person upon seeing Patrolman Hines immediately shut the window and disappeared into the shadows.

Patrolman Hines now aware that his presence was known, fearing escape of those within, drew his service revolver and entered the building. As he entered footsteps were heard descending a stairway in the rear. Patrolman Hines proceeded to this location and at gunpoint arrested three culprits as they attempted to flee through a rear door.

The prisoners were identified as Albert Freitas, 21 years, 339 North street, a known criminal with a long record; Frank A. Toscano, 21 years, 381 Hanover street, presently on a three-year suspended sentence for a prior break, and Peter R. Piso, 22 years, 7 Stillman street, awaiting sentence for a previous break.

Further investigation determined that filing cabinets on the first and second floor of the buildings had been opened and their contents strewn about the floors. It was also noted that a safe on the first floor had been knocked over and an attempt made at opening.

In subsequent court action all three defendants were indicted by the grand jury and are presently awaiting court action.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the diligence, unquestioned valor and sound judgment used by Patrolman Hines in his apprehension of these felons.

Mayor Announces $6 Pay Raises for 7,500 City and County Employees

Mayor John F. Collins on December 9 announced a $6-per-week salary increase for 7,500 city and county employees.

The across-the-board pay hikes will cost the city $2.5 million annually. The raises are retroactive to December 1 and affect all persons in grades R1 through R12 in the city's salary schedule.

Chief beneficiaries are city and county workers in the lower pay range. For example, clerk-typists just entering city service now receive $55 per week. Under the new schedule, entering clerk-typists will receive $61 per week.

Another example is hospital house and kitchen workers who now start at $61 per week. They will receive $67 under the new plan. Laborers who receive a starting salary of $70.50 per week will now start at $76.50 per week.

Mayor Collins said "the pay raises are designed to help those who need help the most—employees in the lower pay grades. At the same time the new salary schedules will make the city more competitive with the state in recruiting new employees."

Just two weeks ago the Mayor announced the city would enter into collective bargaining negotiations with its employees. Boston, thus, became the first city in the Commonwealth to announce compliance with the new state law which becomes effective February 15, 1966.

The announced raises were described by the Mayor as "interim," pending completion of arrangements for collective bargaining.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

December 9.

Personnel Order No. 844.

Detective Second Grade Frederick J. Friel, Criminal Investigation Division, detailed to District 10, is hereby commended for meritorious police duty and is granted three days' additional vacation.

About 5 P.M., Friday, November 5, 1965, Detective Friel, assigned to special duty on Washington street, Roxbury, from Camden street to Guild Row, and when in the area of Ball street, observed three men, acting in a suspicious manner. Detective Friel kept these men under surveillance and observed them enter the premises at 2043 Washington street. He proceeded to the front of the store, looked in and observed an elderly woman lying on the floor with a coat wrapped about her head, a pair of broken eyeglasses beside her, and she was calling for help and pleading, "stop beating me."

Drawing his service revolver, Detective Friel entered the store and surprised the three holdup men in the act of committing an assault and unarmed robbery as they were rifling the store desk which contained envelopes in which there was U. S. currency. Still unaided, he held the three men at gunpoint, summoned aid from a passerby and when assistance arrived, had the victim conveyed to the Boston City Hospital for medical aid.

The three men, all with criminal records and all parolees from correctional institutions, were arraigned in the Roxbury Court, held in bail of $10,000 each and their cases were continued.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the courage and devotion to duty displayed by Detective Friel, who, by his alertness and keen observation was able to bring about the arrest of these three dangerous felons and prevented further serious injury to the victim.

State Street Briefs

(The following, described as a progress report "to neighbors, friends, building buffs, and people just hanging around" is produced by Hunneman & Co., Inc., agent for Boston British Properties, Inc., owners of the State Street Bank Building. Because of its interest to all concerned with the New Boston it is reproduced in the City Record with their permission):

QUESTION: Why are State Street Bank Building construction workers all smiles? Answer: Because with winter just around the corner and all outside work (except some landscaping) completed, this year while the winds blow and the snows fall, the construction crews can work inside. The main force of the crew will spend the winter tackling the individual requirements of the 33 (so far) tenants. These include special plumbing, mechanical and electrical jobs, door installations, partitions, light fixtures and painting. "By early spring," predicts Richard F. Martin, project manager, "the work in the building will be completed."

THE SECOND-LARGEST TENANTS of the State Street Bank Building are its first completely settled occupants. After four days of moving into eight floors and part of the second subbasement, the Boston headquarters of Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation, Stone & Webster Securities Corporation, and Stone & Webster Service Corporation officially opened for business at 225 Franklin Street on November 15. S & W Securities Corporation and S & W Service Corporation are occupying portions of the 22d and 25th floors where staffers can enjoy a view of Boston Harbor. The S & W move brings 1,300 of its Boston personnel together under the roof of Boston's newest skyscraper.

THE CASE OF THE PETULANT PIGEONS. Sooner or later it had to happen—the two pigeons allowed to occupy a small space in the building during the summer were regretfully evicted, but each morning they make a determined effort to move back in. So far, attempts to interest them in similar spaces nearby have met with no success. Obviously intelligent birds—they know a good building when they see one.

FIVE NEWLY ANNOUNCED TENANTS, bringing the total to 33 and making the building 90 percent rented, are: Fairfield & Ellis (insurance); Wood, Struthers & Winthrop (brokerage firm); John H. Linsley (law office); John Nuveen & Co., Inc. (investment banking); and Blyth & Co., Inc. (investment banking).

A RENTAL AGENT must be prepared to field all sorts of inquiries, Hunneman & Co., found when a prospective tenant asked how much the State Street Bank Building weighed. Replied Hunneman coolly, "Three hundred and sixty million pounds—unoccupied. Fully occupied we'll have an additional 1.2 million pounds of people, clothed. Furnishings and equipment will add 10 million more pounds. At a cost of $30 million, the price of the building comes to a little more than 8 cents a pound or less than the price of a pound of apples—and the building will keep better, too." Other construction facts at Hunneman's fingertips: the State Street Bank Building contains 12,000 tons of steel; 25 elevators which run at a speed of 1,000 feet per minute or about 11½ mph; 7,000 precast concrete units (5,000 with windows); 18,600 lighting units; 50,000 cubic yards of concrete weighing 100,000 tons; 2,500,000 feet or approximately 500 miles of wiring; 816,000 square feet of rentable space; and 1,090,000 square feet total space.

TO THE RESCUE of people trapped in stalled elevators during the Big Blackout came the crew of elevator mechanics working in the building. They joined the Boston Building Commissioner, his chief elevator inspector and crew in patrolling downtown buildings to free those caught in elevators when the city went dark.

A FESTOON of Christmas lights encircles the top of the State Street Bank Building as all concerned with the project join in the celebration of Boston's 16th annual Christmas Festival. And a Very Merry Christmas to you!

Hill Top Center

The ribbon-cutting ceremony for the Hill Top Center was held on Sunday, December 5, in the new facility at 344-348 Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury, with Rev. Gilbert Caldwell, as the guest speaker.

Hill Top Center is a Community Action Program coordinated by Action for Boston Community Development and sponsored by the New England Development Corporation (NECDC) of Roxbury.

A small group of Boston professional and academic men organized the New England Development Corporation three years ago to facilitate the development of service programs in the area. In this way, NECDC hoped to lend support to the initiative and leadership of the local residents in their efforts to better their community.

Directors include: Clifford Wiley, president of Wiley Real Estate; Assistant Professor Richard Carle, Boston University; Dr. Kiyo Morimoto, Harvard University; Harvey Pressman, program director, Lincoln-Filene Center, Tufts University, and Dr. Burton White, director of Pre-School Research, Harvard University.

Hill Top Center Project is an outgrowth of NECDC's principle of working with families of the area developing the kind of program local residents feel is needed.

A center for families with young children, Hill Top conducted a day-camp type program this past summer in which 50 to 75 children were actively involved. Morning and afternoon outdoor nursery school classes were conducted in the rear of the building on Blue Hill avenue.

The ongoing program has started with limited registration until the Pre-School and Child Care Center can operate to its maximum capacity.

Director Louise Corbin maintains a staff of 20 aides.

The Nursery School program has two schedules. A morning group from 8.45 to 11.45 A.M. with an afternoon group from 1 P.M. to 4 P.M.

There is a child-care program in operation at Hill Top, also, from 8.30 A.M. until 4.30 P.M., five days a week. Prospective age range for participants is from six weeks to six years with the total number per half day not to exceed 20 children.

Mrs. Corbin said that soon facilities will be available to take care of 60 to 70 children in the new headquarters.

Gift for Every Hub GI In Vietnam Urged By JFC

Mayor John F. Collins has appealed to all residents of Boston to go all out in their support of the Christmas Festival's effort to provide all Boston men at Vietnam with Christmas boxes. They will be sent in the name of "The Grateful People of Boston."

"Already," he said, "the Festival Committee has received the names and military addresses of more than 300 Boston men fighting at Vietnam, but I believe that there are at least a couple of hundred other Bostonians out there whose names have not yet been sent in. I urge the families of those men to send them in immediately.

"Sending Christmas boxes to our brave men at Vietnam is the least we can do to show them that the nation is behind them and will support them to the highest degree.

"These men are courageously offering their lives and suffering great hardships in their effort to implement our national policy to protect a small peace-loving nation against the ruthless tyranny of bestial and Godless communists.

"I wholeheartedly endorse their patriotism and heroism.

"The names and military addresses should be sent to the Christmas Festival Headquarters at Room 28, Quincy Hall Market Building, or to my office at City Hall.

"Thanks to the cooperation of Speaker John W. McCormack arrangements have been made with the Air Force to carry the boxes to Vietnam in time for Christmas delivery. They will be transformed from the S. S. Pierce store on next Saturday to Hanscom Field, Bedford, and from there shipped by air to Stewart Field, New York, where they will be picked up by the Air Force, National Guard, for the long haul to Vietnam.

"Each package will contain boxes of candy, imported biscuits, olives, mints, nuts, and an assortment of other delicacies certain to please the palates of all servicemen. The contents were selected by Vietnam wounded at the Chelsea Naval

Prosperous 1966 Forecast for Greater Boston; Earnings, Employment Up

The projected national and local economic activity for 1966 will reach the desired real growth rate of 4 percent with Greater Boston reaching a slightly higher level in the new year.

This forecast was recently presented by President Abram T. Collier of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce at the Chamber's annual Year End Business Conference conducted in the Sheraton-Boston Hotel.

The Greater Boston employment outlook for 1966, according to Mr. Collier, can be described as a most healthy predicament in which the local demand will continue to stretch the available labor force supply to its limits.

Manufacturing employment gains will match the current twelve months experience. Additions will come primarily from the durable goods sector and specifically from transportation equipment category and to a lesser extent from electrical machinery, including electronics and the general machinery classifications.

Only slight employment gains in the nondurable goods sector are expected from the textile, apparel, and leather goods classifications. More efficient equipment is expected to hold new employment needs to a minimal level.

Capital expenditures for plant and equipment in 1966 are expected to show another large increase of 14 percent for Massachusetts. The Greater Boston level of expenditures for plant and equipment will parallel the Massachusetts' prediction.

Construction expenditures in Greater Boston have generally exceeded the recent national experience and will continue to support the 1965 level to date throughout 1966. The outlook beyond 1966 is considerably brighter.

The best survey evidence suggests that consumers are anxious to continue their primary role in the economic expansion since 1961. The likelihood of growing local consumer support will be enhanced by a 5 to 5½ percent gain in personal incomes for 1966.

The Retail and Wholesale market in Greater Boston has been growing at an annual rate of 3.4 percent which will raise the total market value to $13.5 billion in 1966 and will add some 5,000 new jobs to the employment rolls.

The implications of a continued expansion in employment and using personal incomes suggest that Boston's business and services industries will benefit by these additions to the local economic base.

The conclusion that Greater Boston will experience a slightly higher rate of business activity than the U. S. as a whole is based on the fact that this area does not share the same magnitude of problems prevailing nationally.

Another Chamber forecaster, Gerald W. Blakeley, Jr., president of Cabot, Cabot & Forbes Company, told the 500 assembled guests at the Year End Business Conference that, "There have been few times in the history of Massachusetts when the livelihood and general prosperity of the State have depended so directly on the decisions of the State Legislature."

His forecast for industrial and commercial activity for 1966 in Greater Boston and the State will be directly affected by the tax legislation which is pending.

Central Makes Way

Demolition of Central Wharf, the site of the New England Aquarium, marks the beginning of Boston's revitalization of its waterfront. The $4.3 million complex, privately owned, will fill a void in the educational and recreational facilities in the city.

Among the displays featured in this aquatic museum will be: a giant ocean tank inhabited by sharks, sea turtles, porpoises, and other animals, visible at both surface and submarine levels; a tropical rain forest showing crocodiles and tropical birds; an antarctic exhibit with living penguins in their natural environment; a children's aquarium; salt water aquarium tanks, one with a special setup for displaying octopus; and a Jewel Room containing fresh water tropical fishes.

A research laboratory will be an integral and essential function of the Aquarium. It will be staffed by qualified scientists who will cooperate with biological and medical scientists throughout the world.

The Aquarium will be self-sustaining through admissions, retail sales, memberships, and research grants.

Boston's New City Hall Will Hold Focus of Entire Government Center Project, Architect Points Out

(Nelson W. Aldrich, new City Hall architect, gave the following description of the building during the recent 10th annual Boston Municipal Employees Conferama at the War Memorial Auditorium):

By Nelson W. Aldrich

The context of the new City Hall for Boston is the master-planned Government Center Urban Renewal Project, replacing the blighted Scollay Square area in downtown Boston. Both visually and symbolically the new City Hall is the focus of the project. It will stand within a monumental urban plaza, an outdoor room of noble and civic proportions, which inevitably will become the true center of downtown Boston.

The design of the new City Hall and its team of designers were selected by means of an open architectural competition, the first in this country for a major public structure since 1909. The purpose of such a competition is to select an architect for a specific and carefully outlined building program by the merit of a design achieved rather than by patronage or the reputation of a firm. The success of any such competition depends in large measure on the excellence of the jury and on the manner in which the competition is conducted; in both instances the City Hall competition was exemplary. But its primary achievement was the selection of a building, designed by new young talent within the profession, which even before construction has received extensive acclaim both here and abroad.

Winning Firm

The winning firm of Kallmann, McKinnell and Knowles, upon the decision by the Government Center Commission of the City of Boston to carry out the winning design, associated in joint venture with two Boston firms: Campbell and Aldrich, architects, and LeMessurier Associates, consulting (structural) engineers. Together these firms constitute the architects and engineers for the Boston City Hall, which from its offices at 711 Boylston street, Boston, is presently supervising the construction of the building.

General Description

The building, while organized within a simple and classical block, is in fact highly sculptural, with many voids and interpenetrations. A closer look reveals three distinct parts, each articulated from the other in a clear fashion: the lower structure or "mound" containing large public lobbies serving those departments which receive the heaviest public traffic; the upper office structure or "crown," in the shape of a rectangular donut, supported entirely free of the mound by massive columns and girders; and suspended from the crown, the areas of ceremonial importance, containing the Mayor's Department, Council Chamber and offices, and a municipal library. A glazed entrance lobby, furnished with monumental stairs and elevators, and skylit through tall shafts from the roof connects all three parts of the building.

Since the upper "crown" is completely free of the lower "mound" there exists on the roof of the mound a series of covered open-air terraces, accessible from the plaza and from the enclosed entrance lobby. This "inner court" area can truly be said to be the city's core, and will serve as a gathering place for visitors and the building's employees. The openness of the building's design deliberately encourages a sense of free access and participation by the general public in their government.

Materials

The new City Hall is constructed almost entirely of concrete, brick and glass, with the concrete left exposed and unfinished, exactly as it leaves the formwork. Throughout, the method of construction is made apparent: joints are strongly shown; the few veneers are distinctly separated from the structure; supporting elements are bold and strong-looking; shade-giving "hood" elements cast deep shadows onto the windows of the ceremonial level; the stepped "fins" between the windows of the upper "crown" express their use as feeders for the mechanical system; and the air-conditioning ductwork is left exposed.

The inside and outside walls of the mound structure are faced with the same material as the plaza surface, red brick. This continuity of material relates the mound structure to the ground, and further distinguishes it from the upper parts of the building, which are entirely of concrete and glass.

Encouraging signs for the year ahead are present in the figures for building permits issued during October, 1965, valued at $94.5 million, an increase of 58 percent on the activity for September and an increase of 59 percent on the October, 1964, volume.

Mr. Blakeley said that, "All the indications show greater consumer spending and greater spending for plant and equipment." Coupled with this general climate, our greatest single resource, our educational complex is stimulating the local economy to an accelerated pace.

The prevailing tax problem, according to Mr. Blakeley, can impede or encourage industrial and commercial growth in 1966.

Mr. Blakeley stated that, "On top of an already expanding industrial economy, major high-rise office buildings which have been artificially held back in Boston because of tax and political problems since World War II could surge ahead in an effort to catch up with other major cities of the nation if tax relief could be granted."

Mr. Blakeley observed that, "The City of Boston itself lags behind all of the major cities in the U. S. in apartment house construction and although many projects have been started and are now on the drawing boards, if the tax base were broadened and real estate taxes relieved there would be a tremendous surge in this sector for construction."

"The Massachusetts fiscal crisis," said Mr. Blakeley, "cannot be ignored in the construction picture—so much depends on it. The picture looks good, but it could worsen if the sales tax is dead. It could be affected even more adversely if a tax bill with a good distribution formula is not passed, but it will definitely be affected by what happens on Beacon Hill."

The general level of prosperity of the entire state is at the crossroads for 1966. Mr. Blakeley called for a concerted effort today by the conference attendees to change this picture by calling their State Senators and Representatives on the tax issue.

Dr. James Killian, Chairman, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, presented his views on the 1966 Outlook for Science and Technology in Greater Boston at the Chamber's 1965 Year End Business Conference.

In describing this area's science-based industry, he noted its exceptional growth rate potential. The computer industry has been growing at a rate of 30 percent a year. The communications industry has been growing at the rate of 7 percent per year. This tendency of science-based industry to grow faster than other industry is one of the notably favorable factors in the outlook for this region.

Dr. Killian said that, "It is not now clear whether the factors favoring a growing seedbed of research and development will outweigh the unfavorable factors."

The favorable factors include: the acquisition by an academic institution of important new resources in science, engineering, and other fields. The new science center at Brandeis opened. Important new centers at M.I.T., including materials science and engineering, life science and earth sciences. These centers are likely to have industrial spin-offs.

Metropolitan Boston has become perhaps the world's leading center generating innovations in teaching and broadly in the education process.

All the new academic resources will have a national impact and will also contribute to the cultural, spiritual, and economic strength of the Boston metropolitan area.

Federal actions that may have a favorable impact include: the High-Speed Ground Transportation Bill which could be a stimulus for New England developing into a major center of research and development bearing on transportation. The State Technical Services Act for the creation centers for economic planning and industrial innovation can also be a strong influence.

The unfavorable factors include the developing policy in Washington to distribute research and development funds more widely over the country. These new centers are needed, but without weakening the great centers of excellence in research and development it already has. Metropolitan Boston is such a center of excellence.

This area's strategy should be the maintenance of an unmatched excellence and creativity that commands and justifies a continued concentration of effort in this area.

More immediate areas of science and technology that hold local significance are: the life sciences, astronomy, and chemistry. In this area we have centers of great distinction in all these fields. Our present strength in oceanography gives us a strong position to benefit from a national drive to advance oceanography. We are also a natural center for laser technology, according to Dr. Killian. Special attention should also be given to advanced computer technology which holds immense economic potential for this area. We should be bold in exploiting this opportunity.

It is most important to advance the quality of our educational system and the Legislature has enacted into law the principal recommendations of the Willis Commission. We have therefore the opportunity to strengthen our system. It is terribly important not to temporize on the passage of a tax bill, or the best-laid plans will be futile.

Carl N. Schmalz, President, R. H. Stearns Company, Boston, said: "In 1966, the retail merchants of Greater Boston should be optimistic, but they will be well advised, also, to hedge their optimism with an attitude of alertness for trouble."

Over the past few years, the retail portion of our economy has enjoyed the benefits of two underlying and highly favorable trends: One toward increasing disposable income and purchasing power in the hands of consumers, and one toward increasing leisure time. These two trends have made possible and have encouraged a rising standard of Window mullions are of painted steel or anodized aluminum; important doors are glazed, with bronze frames. The lower floors are surfaced with quarry tile, the upper corridors with polyester terrazzo, and office floors resilient tile, with some carpet in important offices and conference rooms. The plaza brick continues into the building to become the floor of the main entrance lobby. Partitions are drywall on the upper floors, drywall and block or brick on the lower, while important ceremonial spaces are enriched with bronze or wood wall panelling. Exterior brick walls are capped with brownstone.

Structure

In all areas except portions of the lower floors a strong alternating modular structure is left visible as the ceiling of interior and exterior spaces. Pairs of 11-foot 8-inch long precast concrete vierendeel trusses 5 feet deep run in both directions, joined together by 2-foot 8-inch square cast-in-place concrete columns, or, where no column occurs at the joint, by a "plug" the same size as the column, but only as deep as the trusses. On the half-module, the bottom portion of the trusses is repeated by the intermediate "crosses," precast concrete members which complete the 4-foot 6-inch by 2-foot 8-inch alternating module.

Recessed between the trusses and between the parallel bars of the crosses are the standard building light fixtures. Through holes in the trusses and above the crosses run the air-conditioning ducts, plumbing lines and electrical conduits, all accessible but either hidden from view or visually related to the ceiling grid. The underside of the slab above is sprayed with acoustic material to absorb sound. Speakers, fire gongs and other accessories find their place within this remarkable ceiling "organism." Finally, the underside of the truss-cross grid provides the ceiling support for a modular system of office partitioning.

The vertical structure consists of 2-foot 8-inch square concrete columns, which are joined together in pairs on the perimeter of the building forming monumental slabs 17 feet wide, providing both visual and structural support for the stepped-out crown of the building. The massive cantilevered window hoods on the ceremonial level, like the columns, are poured in place and have a board-formed texture with strongly marked pour joints, contrasting with the smooth surface of the precast trusses, crosses, spandrels and fin units. In both precast and poured-in-place work the cement and sand is chosen to yield a concrete with a light tannish cast.

Heating—Air Conditioning

The basic cooling and heating is derived from Edison steam through a turbine and steam absorption units, with two cooling towers located in the highest roof penthouse. In the crown and ceremonial parts of the building there are separate interior and perimeter air-conditioning systems. The perimeter system, fed from roof penthouses, is a three-pipe high velocity induction system, with feeders running vertically through the exterior concrete fin units to induction units in the crash-bars across each window. Each bay has an individual thermostat, for fine control of the highly variable environment along the exterior walls of the building. The interior system, a one-duct high-velocity variable volume distribution system, is fed from the large first-floor mechanical space through vertical shafts in the cores to the main supplies running above the corridors which ring the interior perimeter of the hole in the crown. From these main feeders, each 14-foot 4-inch bay is supplied by a low-velocity branch through automatic air-valves and sound attenuators, each bay with its individual thermostat. The return system for both perimeter and interior systems runs parallel to the interior supply.

On the lower floors, which are generally skylit or below grade, only an interior system is used, supplemented by hot-water radiation on the exterior walls. A master control panel in the superintendent's office provides console control, monitoring and recording for all portions of the system.

Electrical

The 13.8 KV feeder from Boston Edison runs to a central transformer vault containing four 1500 KVA transformers, one acting as a spare in case of failure or for future loading. The adjacent switchboard room, beside distributing the electrical power to the various risers, provides for automatic switchover to a diesel motor-generator unit, to power emergency lighting or elevator service in case of incoming power loss, and to provide service to the civil defense Emergency Command Center.

The prime utilization voltage is 277/480 3-phase, with 277-volt fluorescent lighting. Four hundred eighty-volt power is provided for air-conditioning and elevator loads. One hundred twenty volts will be obtained at points of demand by means of dry-type transformers located in electrical closets and subcabinets. An underfloor duct system is provided for distribution throughout the office spaces.

Numerous miscellaneous systems beside the basic power and lighting distribution are provided as is customary in today's modern office buildings:

Telephone underfloor raceway system, furnishing centrex telephone service throughout the building.

Master clock system.

Fire alarm system.

Zoned audio system for building announcements and communication.

Special audio system for the Council Chamber.

TV origination from several parts of the building.

TV reception conduits for future use.

Lightning protection and grounding systems.

Radio antennae for small units in the Emergency Command Center.

General office lighting is fluorescent, installed in the grid ceiling.

New City Hall . . .

In lobbies and special areas incandescent, or incandescent mixed with fluorescent is used. The Council Chamber and other special areas are equipped with dimmers. Outdoor lighting is furnished by incandescent fixtures of special design which can be lowered by remote control for relamping.

A master electrical console is located in the superintendent's office.

Plumbing and Sprinklers

The plumbing system is very simple, providing for toilets only at cores except for special areas on the ceremonial level. The water for drinking fountains is centrally chilled. Certain areas on the first floor are sprinkled, and a standpipe system is included in each core stairway. Fire hoses and extinguishers are provided as required.

Council Chamber

This space is hung below the upper crown, directly over the main building entrance, and with its large hooded windows and brick escape stair tower forms a prominent and important element in the building's composition. Gallery seating, special furniture, carpeted floors and a complete audio system will make the space visually and acoustically outstanding. Wood acoustically reflecting panels are placed on the lower ceiling above the councillors, while the ceiling of the spaces which soar up over the galleries will be treated with sound-absorbing material. Aside from these surfaces, the carpet and the furniture, the chamber will be entirely exposed concrete, with the same ceiling structure as the remainder of the building. Lighting is mixed fluorescent and incandescent, with various combinations of dimming.

Data Processing Center

A large centralized data processing facility is provided on the lowest floor, with two large computers on raised floor systems, as well as numerous business machines.

Emergency Command Center

Fifty men can work, eat, and sleep in this center for two weeks, with complete protection from fallout. The focus of the center is a large operations room and radio transmitting center, which can be used separately from the living facilities for snow removal and disaster operations.

There is an underground service drive leading to a large loading dock on the second floor. On the first floor a service garage for 25 municipal vehicles is provided.

The elevators in the two main banks are gearless, with electronic control, and are fully automatic. Escalators connect the floors of heaviest public traffic in the mound lobby.

(Vice Chairman Frank W. Crimp of the Government Center Commission, serving as chairman of the new City Hall panel at the recent Conferama, made the following remarks):

It was my privilege to participate in the Fifth Conferama held in 1960, at which time I reported to you on preliminary planning for the new City Hall. This unusual building, as you know, is now actually under construction. With me on this panel is Mr. Nelson Aldrich of the firm of Campbell & Aldrich, architects, under whose supervision the structure is being designed and erected, and he will give you a description of the building.

The third member of our panel is Mr. John Myer, also a Boston architect, and he will speak to you about the over-all planning of the Government Center and its relation to the proposed Waterfront Project.

Before introducing my fellow panelists, however, I would like to review very briefly what the Government Center Commission for the new City Hall has accomplished since it was organized in November, 1958.

Determination of space required and the allocation of space to departments and the relationship of one department to another, and also the relationship of departments to the public, was the first consideration.

In June, 1959, the Commission awarded a contract to Becker & Becker Associates for a complete, detailed space utilization study, which became the basis of the building planning program. The study showed that the city needed 350,000 square feet of net space, which in terms of building area meant about 500,000 square feet.

At the Conferama in 1960, Mr. Morgan, Chairman of the Commission, reported to you that at that time the city and federal governments were in complete agreement as to the site.

Design Competition

With the site and building program settled, the next consideration was the selection of an architect, and it was decided to hold a national competition under the auspices of the American Institute of Architects. Mr. Lawrence B. Anderson, now dean of the Department of Architecture at MIT, was chosen as Professional Adviser and he did a magnificent job. It was a two-stage competition and 256 entries were submitted, from which eight finalists were chosen. The jury was composed of five nationally prominent architects and three laymen. The laymen were Mr. Harold D. Hodgkinson, Chairman of the Board, Wm. Filene's Sons; Mr. O. Kelley Anderson, President, New England Mutual Life Insurance Company; and Mr. Sidney R. Rabb, Chairman of the Board of Stop and Shop. The competition was judged in May, 1962.

I think that the most remarkable thing about the competition was that the winner was selected by a unanimous vote of the jury on the first ballot. The winning design was submitted by three young architects, Messrs. Kallman, McKinnell and Knowles, then at Columbia University. They associated with Mr. Aldrich, as Mr. Aldrich will tell you later. The award was announced by his Honor, Mayor Collins, at an affair held in the Museum of Fine Arts, sponsored by the Boston Society of Architects.

New City Hall . . .

The building will have an unusual sculptural quality that will make it a focal point in the Government Center complex. Surrounded by a magnificent plaza, it will be a building that not only Bostonians, but visitors from all over the country and the world, will enjoy for ages to come.

Work started on the building contract drawings and specifications, and on April 30, 1964, bids for construction were received by the Commission. In the meantime, a contract had been awarded for site preparation, which included subway demolition, pile driving, and concrete foundation work. This contract was awarded to a local firm, Wes-Julian Construction Corporation, in September, 1963.

The building construction contract was awarded to the low bidder, J. W. Bateson Company, Inc., of Dallas, Texas. The Bateson Company already had the contract for the construction of the Federal Office Building, which adjoins the City Hall Plaza.

So now here we are with the building about 35 percent completed and the plaza plan approved, but much remains to be done.

A contract has to be awarded for construction of the plaza and equipment for the building has to be purchased.

IMPROVEMENTS VOTED

The Mayor and Public Improvement Commission have approved the following:

That this commission, having passed the order of notice relating to the public improvement hereinafter described, and having caused a copy of said order to be published September 18 and September 20, 1965, in the Boston American and the Boston Herald, two daily newspapers published in the City of Boston, and having given the public hearing, notice of which was given in said order, and being of the opinion that public necessity and convenience require, does hereby order that specific repairs be made in North Bennet street, Boston Proper district, consisting of increasing the curb radii at the northerly corner of Hanover street, and at the northeasterly corner of Wiggen street, and shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Public Works Department, Engineering Division, North Bennet Street, Boston Proper, November 8, 1965, Frederick L. Garvin, Division Engineer," and on file in the office of said department.

CLAIMS APPROVED

The Mayor, on recommendation of the Corporation Counsel, has approved the following votes of the City Council Committee on Claims:

Mary Ellen Hayes, minor, by mother Mrs. Joseph M. Hayes, Sr., 21 Bradwood street, Roslindale, for personal injuries sustained as the result of the petitioner falling on a defective sidewalk located in front of 316 Belgrade avenue, Roslindale, on June 12, 1963, by payment of $475.

living which has been reflected in the quantity, the quality, and the good taste of the merchandise and services demanded. There seems to be no reason to suspect that these trends will not continue into 1966.

It is expected that the citizens of Greater Boston will be able and willing to maintain and to increase their purchases at retail in 1966. Sales may be expected to increase for 1966, perhaps by 4 or 5 percent. Prices currently are firm, and if they change, they may be expected to rise. Expenses are rising, but they may well lag a bit behind the rising sales and prices. On balance, profits next year should be as good as they were in 1965, or better. The momentum with which we seem to be entering the Christmas season should carry us well into the new year, and could carry us entirely through it.

For the present, conditions, if not fundamentally as sound as could be desired, seem to be safe. As of today, 1966 promises to be an excellent year for Greater Boston retailers.

Lots of People

Spectacular surges in population and employment, among other economic changes, are projected for New England by the Year 2020, the Army Engineers have revealed.

A population increase of two and a half times—to 25.2 million, and 10.4 million jobs are indicated.

These and other findings are contained in the "Projective Economic Studies of New England," completed in two years for the New England Division, Corps of Engineers, by Arthur D. Little, Inc.

December days are the shortest of the year which means much more driving is done during hours of dusk and darkness. Check your vehicle lights. Use your sun visors in late afternoon. Cut your speed after dark. Help minimize traffic dangers. This advice comes from the Registry of Motor Vehicles.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS

December 4.

Personnel Order No. 838.

Detectives Laurence J. Connelly and Thomas F. Roche, Criminal Investigation Division, detailed to District 10, are hereby commended for meritorious police duty and each granted three days' additional vacation.

About 1.15 A.M., Tuesday, November 9, 1965, Detectives Connelly and Roche, while in the vicinity of Roxbury Crossing, observed a man later identified as Thomas J. Dwyer, 26 years, of 26 Montpelier road, Dorchester, acting in a suspicious manner.

While keeping this man under surveillance he was seen to remove a firearm from his person and point it at a man who had alighted from a parked vehicle. Detectives Connelly and Roche immediately ran toward the scene. The culprit becoming aware of their approach fled down Tremont street. As he neared Linden Park street he turned and pointed his firearm at the pursuing officers. Detective Connelly reacted by discharging one round from his service revolver over the fleeing suspect's head. The suspect continued on his flight over a chain link fence leading to the rear of 125 Linden Park street. He again turned and pointed his firearm at the officers. Detective Connelly again responded in the manner previously described. At this point the culprit took refuge behind a tree at this location. As the officers commanded him to drop his weapon and surrender the suspect complied.

A fully loaded .380 Hungarian, MD 37-M, semi-automatic, with one round in the chamber and five in a clip, was found behind the tree.

Investigation disclosed the prisoner to have a long criminal record and a recent parolee from Massachusetts Correctional Institution at Walpole.

He was arraigned in the Roxbury District Court on November 20, 1965, being charged with assault with intent to rob while armed and carrying a firearm without a license to do so. His case was continued and bail was set in $20,000 double sureties.

The Police Commissioner is pleased to recognize the keen observation and courage displayed by these officers in effecting the arrest of this dangerous criminal.

Personnel Order No. 839.

A Board of Merit, consisting of Superintendent Herbert F. Mulloney, William J. Taylor, John T. Howland, and Deputy Superintendent William A. Bradley, convened for the purpose of selecting officers who have distinguished themselves in the performance of duty so as to merit the award of the Walter Scott Medal for Valor and the Department Medal of Honor.

The Board of Merit, after due deliberation, selected each of the following officers who, in the judgment of the members of the Board, are entitled to the awards designated.

THE WALTER SCOTT MEDAL FOR VALOR, A DEPARTMENT MEDAL OF HONOR, AND THE THOMAS F. SULLIVAN AWARD TO DETECTIVE JOHN J. DENNEHY, OF DETECTIVE BUREAU, AND DETAILED TO DISTRICT 2.

On Wednesday, July 7, 1965, an ADT holdup alarm was sounded from the Warren Institution for Savings branch office located on the concourse of the South Station Terminal.

Detective Dennehy, assigned to "bank patrol" duty and in the area at the time, observed a group of persons who appeared to be pursuing an unidentified man in the direction of Kneeland street. He immediately joined in the pursuit to Hudson street where the man suddenly stopped, fired one shot in the direction of his pursuers and then ran into Hudson street with Detective Dennehy in close pursuit. Detective Dennehy drew his service revolver and approached within 10 feet of the holdup man, announced his office, displayed his badge and ordered him to halt. When the man failed to do so, Detective Dennehy fired a warning shot into the air. The subject came to an abrupt stop and attempted to withdraw what appeared to be a nickel-plated revolver from his trouser pocket. Detective Dennehy grappled with the man, successfully gained possession of the revolver and restrained the prisoner until the arrival of other officers.

The criminal was arraigned in Boston Municipal Court before Judge Elijah Adlow the following morning for armed robbery, assault by means of a dangerous weapon, unlawful possession of a firearm, and was held for the grand jury. Judge Adlow, in court, commended Detective Dennehy for his courageous and decisive action in bringing about the apprehension of this individual.

DEPARTMENT MEDALS OF HONOR AND THOMAS F. SULLIVAN AWARDS.

Patrolman Daniel M. Boyle and Patrolman Joseph Pazzanese of District 2 are hereby awarded a Department Medal of Honor for meritorious police duty performed on March 8, 1965.

Patrolmen Boyle and Pazzanese, while engaged in establishing and maintaining fire lines at a fire at 11 Revere street, Boston, observed two persons gesturing with flashlights from the fourth floor rear of 57 Myrtle street, which faced the scene of the fire. In order to determine what information these persons were attempting to convey, they both responded to 57 Myrtle street, a five-story brick dwelling house. Upon entering the front door, they found the inner hallway and stairs leading to the upper floors on fire and burning fiercely. There was no sign of any of the occupants.

Patrolman Pazzanese, unable to arouse the occupants of the first floor apartment, broke the apartment door and searching through smoke filled rooms found and led to safety a woman and child. In the meantime, Patrolman Boyle alerted the Fire Department, returned to the building and aroused other occupants of the building leading several women down the stairway to safety.

As a result of their exertion and exposure, Patrolmen Boyle and Pazzanese collapsed and were removed to the Massachusetts General Hospital where, upon examination, they were found to be suffering from smoke inhalation.

Patrolman John V. Keough and Patrolman John P. Mullan of District 4 are hereby awarded a Department Medal of Honor for meritorious police duty performed on October 26, 1964.

Patrolmen Keough and Mullan, assigned to radio patrol car duty, observed a woman fall out of a station wagon on Washington street, with the station wagon continuing along Washington street at a high rate of speed narrowly missing pedestrians.

The officers took up pursuit of the car, overtook it at West and Tremont streets and as they approached the vehicle, the operator menaced the officers with drawn revolver. After a brief struggle, the officers were able to disarm the operator.

Investigation revealed that the culprit had entered a car on Beach street in which two women were sitting. He stole a handbag from one and forced the other into his car. As they drove along Beach street and about to make a turn into Washington street, the woman observed the police car and suddenly leaped from the car.

Patrolman Joseph C. McCarthy, Jr., District 11, is hereby awarded a Department Medal of Honor for meritorious police duty performed on July 22, 1965.

Patrolman McCarthy, while in uniform and en route via MBTA for a tour of duty and while in the lower level of the Park Street Station, heard some unknown woman scream and observed a man lying in the center of the train pit with an approaching train about 200 feet distant.

Patrolman McCarthy immediately jumped into the train pit and assisted the man to the platform. After caring for the man and assured that he was not injured, Officer McCarthy continued on to District 11 for duty.

It wasn't until a later date, and only through letters received from local citizenry, that the department became aware of the heroic act performed by Patrolman McCarthy.

Sergt. John V. Dow, Patrolman Matthew J. Cotugno, and Patrolman James M. Pitts, District 6, are hereby awarded a Department Medal of Honor for meritorious police duty performed on January 16, 1965.

About 2.20 p.m., Saturday, January 16, 1965, a liquor store located at 226 West Broadway, South Boston, was held up by an unknown male. Sergeant Dow and Patrolmen Cotugno and Pitts were assigned to the case and after a thorough investigation ascertained the perpetrator. They visited many of the known hangouts in the area and finally observed him enter the Colonial Lounge at 45A West Broadway, South Boston. Entering the premises they observed the culprit standing at the end of the bar. As they approached him, he removed a .32 caliber revolver and wielded the gun towards the officers. The officers struggled with the robber and finally subdued him and placed him under arrest.

About 10 p.m., that same date, a U.S. Postal Mail Collector visited District 6 and reported that two unknown males had approached his mail truck, pointed a .45 caliber revolver at his head and ordered him to turn over the money and keys to the mail truck. The Postal Collector struggled with them and managed to slam shut the sliding door of the truck. The culprits immediately fled on foot.

Sergeant Dow and Patrolmen Cotugno and Pitts informed of the attempted holdup observed two males acting suspiciously in the area. They were taken into custody and were later identified by the Postal Collector as the two males who had attempted to rob him. At the time of the arrest, one of the culprits had a .45 caliber automatic pistol in his possession which had been stolen in a previous holdup on that district.

Patrolman Walter F. Warren and Patrolman Vincent J. O'Neil of District 9 are hereby awarded a Department Medal of Honor for meritorious police duty performed on April 14, 1965.

While patrolling in their district, Patrolmen Warren and O'Neil observed smoke and flames leaping from the basement of a three-story brick apartment house at 109 Elm Hill avenue. The officers immediately notified the Police Department dispatcher, then entered the building arousing the occupants and led thirty persons to the safety of the street.

One of the occupants of the third-floor apartment, a 65-year-old blind woman, was carried to the street by Patrolman Warren and assisted by Patrolman O'Neil. On reaching the street and making certain the woman was being cared for, Patrolman Warren collapsed. He was taken to the hospital, treated for smoke inhalation and was held for treatment.
